No. 1 bie Rogers, in flapper dresses, danced the Charleston, bringing back memories for many in the audience.

A high wire act, filled with suspense, was staged by Holly Springs' Dewey Corbin. On a platform some 40 feet above the field, he had everyone thinking he planned to ride a bicycle down a steel cable. In the end, however, he slid down the cable without the bicycle, triggering a patriotic display.

"Beats anything I've ever seen," one spectator said breathlessly. Mr. Corbin worked a week erecting the display.
