of 4,000 brass screws and eight nails holding her together. The eight nails are in a brace under the cabin. In addition, she is glued in all joints for more strength. The Crawfords confess the boat might be a bit heavier than called for in the plans because they beefed her up in spots. They're confident, however, that she'll stay together. To give the boat a low center of gravity, they constructed the bottom of the frames from oak and the tops from lighter fir. The inside keel also is of oak.

The "Sea Witch" has sleeping accommodations for two, is equipped with running lights for night cruising, and the Crawfords are now working on a portable and compact kitchen that can be carried on and off the boat.

Mr. Crawford and Gary may have had their problems during the building of the boat, but they figure one other person suffered a bit more than they. That's Mrs. Crawford, who had

TO STUDY WORK — Nepal Student Here

A visiting student from the country of Nepal spent several days in Macon County last week studying community organizations.

Pratap Singh Basnyat, who is an assistant director of the Village Development Program in Nepal, visited here in connection with his studies for a master's degree in extension and rural sociology at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

He is studying in this country under the International Cooperation Administration, a federal agency which works toward student exchange programs, and will also visit community organizations in Haywood, Transylvania, and Buncombe counties.

While in Macon County, Mr. Basnyat, along with County Agent T. H. Fagg, visited Holly Springs, Patton, Carson, Iotla, and Cartoogechay communities. He attended a Cartoogechay community meeting and talked with officers and club members. He also visited several dairy farms around the county to study their operations and methods of farming.

The program under which Mr. Basnyat is studying in this country is a joint operation between the U. S. and Nepal. The program was started in 1952. In Nepal, all sections of the country are divided into community organizations by the government and have officers much like our communities, according to the visitor. Nepal's community development work is much like our extension program and their work is channeled through the development organizations there.

"I am interested in learning new ideas primarily," the visitor said, "rather than trying to copy exactly your system."

Mr. Basnyat said he believed the most valuable asset he gained from his visit to this county was "new ideas on how to work with people."

While he is in the Southern part of the country he hopes he has a chance to vacation in Florida for several days; "I have heard so much about it," he explained.

ROBBINSVILLE IS NEXT — Franklin Team Loses Game, But Still Leads League

Franklin's baseball team lost a 10-inning battle 4 to 3 to Blairsville, Ga., Sunday afternoon but stayed in the top spot of the Tri-County League.

Sunday, the team will go to Robbinsville for a double-header. If Franklin can win both games, this will give the local team the league championship for the second straight year.

In Sunday's game with Blairsville, Franklin had to come from behind to tie the game at 3 to 3 in the top of the ninth. In the third inning, Bill Vanhook hit a perfect bunt to score Jerry Sutton for the first score in the game. Blairsville jumped into a 3 to 1 lead in the third on a throwing error by pitcher Grady Corbin and the game went scoreless until the ninth when Norman Seay led off with a single, followed by Roger Seay with a stand-up double. Dan Gibson's Texas Leaguer scored Norman from third and one pitch later Roger scored on a passed ball. This tied the game.

HELPFUL HINTS

Food research specialists tell us one of the most important nutrients responsible for good bone structure is the vitamin C of the diet. It has long been known that during the rapid growing period the parts of a child's body most severely damaged by the deficiency are the bones and their cartilaginous coverings; the legs, arms, ribs — particularly the legs. Mothers with growing children should see that vitamin C is provided in daily menus.

A great number of nutrients are required for bone formation and they must all be available. Parents and teen-agers should be advised that vitamin C combined as it is in foods (with a large number of other nutrients useful for bone growth) must be given special consideration during the fast growing periods of children.
