CONVASSERS NAMED —

Symphony Membership Drive Opening Today

Today (Thursday) the Macon County Chapter of the North Carolina Symphony Society begins its annual membership drive. This spring, two concerts will be given by the symphony in Franklin. The evening concert will be open to all members of the North Carolina Symphony Society. A free educational matinee designed for school children will be presented in the afternoon. Membership in the symphony society also entitles the subscriber to attend any of approximately 40 other membership concerts to be given during the coming season throughout the state.

Last year locally purchased memberships helped bring the orchestra to more than 2,500 Macon County children in addition to 111,000 others throughout North Carolina. This intensive program of music for youth has made this state symphony unique in America. For 15 years this group has played more free concerts for more school children than any other orchestra in the United States.

Membership canvassers for the various neighborhoods and clubs were announced during the drive kick-off meeting Tuesday night at the First Methodist Church. Persons desiring to subscribe are invited to get in touch with one of the following: Mrs. William L. Nothstein and Mrs. Dan E. Stewart, northwest Franklin; Mrs. W. W. Sloan, Jr., southeast Franklin; Mrs. Lloyd W. Swift, Bonnycrest; Mrs. J. Roane

Bradley, Hillcrest Circle; Mrs. Tom Jenkins, Golf View Drive; Mrs. W. J. Darnell, Palmer Drive and Forest Hills; and Mrs. J. H. Fisher, East Franklin.

Group contacts will be arranged by Mrs. Frank Tucker, P.T.A.'s; Frank Martin and the Rev. A. Rufus Morgan, business; Miss Esta Childers and Mrs. Harold Corbin, women's clubs; and Melvin (Pete) Penland, men's clubs.
