

THE PERRY'S were trying to sell all Republicans who entered their drug store after election day a special remedy for nervousness and upset stomach. Its name? Kennedy's Mixture.

BOTH POLITICAL parties are smiling over the outcome of the general election on the local front. This, naturally, is unusual because most of the time they crawl back into their shell and pout for a couple of months.

THAT RUMOR about a bowling alley in East Franklin was true. Look for something to materialize soon.

ANOTHER Main Street store front has had a face-lifting. They've spruced up Crisp's Camera Shop with some Kodak yellow. Who's next?

A TRUCK belonging to J. H. Duncan, Phillips 66 distributor here, was involved in a head-on collision in Georgia Monday of last week and its driver, of Murphy, was killed. The company had a truck burn in this county several months ago.

ALTHOUGH Monday and Tuesday suggested it, Spring hasn't arrived. The "woolly worms" are crawling and the old timers tell us that means a bad winter in ahead.

DON'T THROW away your old books and magazines. The Jaycees are now planning "Operation Library" for early December and they'll want 'em to boost the local library.

DEER HUNTERS! Don't forget to bring your kills by THE PRESS office and let us take a picture.

A NEW "face" is now going on at The Children's Shop. Won't be long before Franklin will have the most colorful Main Street in the U.S.A.

KEEP YOUR fingers crossed while the rural judges are here today. It would be a nice feather in our cap for Cowee to be a winner in the area rural contest.

BOTH SIDES are to be congratulated on the orderliness of the general election. Winners and losers both came out smiling and with most of their friends intact.

PLEASE, PLEASE get your United Fund contributions in. It would be a pity if this worthy drive flopped.

ARE YOU ready for the basketball season? It won't be long now for the balls have been bouncing in practice at the high schools for some time now.

GET THE rakes out friends. Fall has done its dirty work and we must now get to work. But, wasn't the colors pretty while they lasted?

What's doing?

Paving of the 2.935-mile job is set for next spring. Workmen are shown pouring concrete in the big four-barrel culvert on the Rabbit Creek point of the lake near where the old bridge crossed the stream. (Staff Photo)

Should Buck Knob be chosen, Ranger Nothstein said the facility, because of the terrain, would not mar the beauty of Wayah Bald.

Reporter Reece 'Borrowed' By His Uncle Sam

Uncle Sam has "borrowed" PRESS reporter, Todd Reece for six months.

Mr. Reece, who joined the newspaper last February, is leaving the 27th for a six-month tour of duty in the U.S. Army at Fort Jackson, S. C., as part of his service obligation as a member of the National Guard.

He went on leave of absence from the newspaper last week to put his affairs in order before leaving for Fort Jackson.

Mr. Reece, a native of Andrews, plans to return to Franklin when his tour of duty ends.

A going-away party for the reporter was held last Thursday night at Frank B. Duncan's home, with some 35 of his friends attending.

CAB DRIVER BAGS BIG BEAR

A smiling Franklin cab-driver, Ralph Cunningham (front, left), says he waited more than 40 years for this big black bear to come along and get in his sights. Violations Charged By Cox

William A. (Bill) Cox, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the state House of Representatives in the November 8 general election, charges violations of election laws.

In a letter handed Monday to J. Lee Barnard, chairman of the county elections board, M. Cox charged that violations were committed against him in favor of his Republican opponent, Mrs. W. N. "Nellie" Cook.

Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Cox said he was preparing specific charges, but would not have them ready for publication this week. He declined to pinpoint the violations.

In his letter to Mr. Barnard, the defeated candidate said "My attorney will file an appeal naming more specific the violations of elections laws in regard to the November 8, 1960 election. These violations were committed against me (William A. Cox), candidate for the N. C. House of Representatives, and in favor of Mrs. W. N. Cook, the Republican candidate for the House of Representatives."

Voting Results Change Little

An official tally Thursday by the county elections board didn't alter any races in the November 8 general election.

Save for a vote or two one way or another, the unofficial results reported last week stand.

A table of the official vote in Macon County, by precincts, may be found on the front page of the second section of this issue.

FOR PLANT CONSTRUCTION — Corporation Authorizes Bonds For Peak-Line

A new industrial organization, Macon County Business Development Corporation, has been organized and already has authorized the sale of bonds totaling $72,500 for construction of a plant for a local furniture factory.

President of the organization is W. W. Reeves, Franklin hardware merchant; vice-president, Ervin Patton; secretary-treasurer, Verlon Swafford; and R. D. Carson and Bob S. Sloan, directors.

The $72,500 in bonds being issued by the corporation are to finance a building for Peak-Line Furniture, a growing local industry that has outgrown its quarters in a large two-story chicken house on Iotla. The building is now under construction on a six-acre site in the Bonny Crest section of Franklin.

Needing more space because of increased production, officials of Peak-Line recently sent out feelers to a number of Western North Carolina and North Georgia towns, indicating an interest in moving if a building could be provided.

Franklin Chamber of Commerce, of which Mr. Sloan is chairman, decided to take steps to keep the furniture factory and its payroll in Macon County and the industrial corporation was organized to finance the building.

Peak-Line now grows more than a half million a year and employs about 40 men. The general manager, Howard S. Hathcock, recently said the company expects to be working about 60 to 70 men with the next year and to reach a gross of about three-quarters of a million.

CAR HITS WALL, DRIVER UNHURT

The driver of this automobile, Adolph "Red" Bradley, of the Cartoogchaye section, was unhurt, save for a scratch or two, about 4 o'clock Friday morning when it went through the railing and over the wall just below Angel Clinic on Town Hill, crossed a field, and smashed into a retaining wall on Riverview Street. The driver, who has been charged with reckless driving, told Police Chief C. D. Baird he fell asleep. The car was entering Main Street from Derby just below the clinic. (Staff Photo)
