Club Speakers

At the regular meeting of the Franklin High Future Business Leaders of America Wednesday last week, Jack Angel, business administrator of Angel Hospital, and Bob Carpenter, assistant cashier of the Bank of Franklin, spoke about their respective fields of work.

Mr. Angel explained the various jobs in the business administrative department of the hospital. He also showed samples of blank forms and business papers which are used in keeping money records.

Mr. Carpenter explained the duties performed in each department of the bank and presented a number of statistics concerning banking.

In addition to these two guests, two students from Swain High School were present. They were Doris Wiggins and Lois Green. Swain High business students are organizing a F.B.L.A. chapter in their
