JACKSON SPRINGS

Dr. Craig, of Hickory, closed a very successful revival here on Sunday night at the Presbyterian church.
There was a large number of confessions and several joined the Presbyterian church.

Misses Annie Campbell and Jennie Brewer were Carthage visitors on Saturday. Miss Campbell completes her high school work here this year.
Miss Brewer is a seventh grade student and competed in the spelling contest to see who would go to Raleigh for the spelling contest on November 23, to decide the champion speller of North Carolina. This will mean lots to any Moore county girl or boy to be the champion speller of the old North State, and the one chosen should prepare well for this very important contest.

Miss Helen Thomas left last week for High Point, where she has accepted a position with a mercantile establishment.

D. S. Poole, editor of the Hoke County Journal, spent Sunday with relatives and friends here, and attended services at the Presbyterian church where he was once a member.

Mrs. Henry Johnson who was carried to Highsmith's Hospital several days ago for an operation, has improved so much that the operation is not necessary.

Cyrus Dowd has accepted a position with the Sandhill Drug Store.

Professors A. C. Harrington and W. C. McColl went to Charlotte on Friday, returning Saturday afternoon.
William Jackson, of West End, and Ted Thomas, of the eighth grade of the high school, were given a trip to Charlotte by Prof. McColl for the excellent record they had made in school.

Miss McQueen will have a large crowd here for the moving pictures on Thursday night, if people are not too tired after Fair day. The pictures shown here at both shows have been enjoyed by large crowds

N. A. Graham and family, with Mr. and Mrs. Eason, of Cameron, spent the week-end with Mrs. Laura J. Graham. On Sunday all of Mrs. Graham's family, including her eighteen grandchildren, with the exception of a son-in-law who came later in the day, and a son in college, took dinner with her.
