

PINEHURST POULTRY SHOW

An eye opener to all and decidedly the best one ever held there. Breeders brought their birds out in force and swamped the fair association so that more coops had to be built on short notice.

Quality of birds very strong in many classes. In numbers Barred Rocks had 2 cocks, 4 hens, 11 cockerels, 15 pullets and 9 breeding pens.

White Wyandottes had 2 hens, 10 cockerels, 15 pullets, 5 breeding pens.

S. C. Rhode Island Reds had 2 cocks, 2 hens, 6 cockerels, 4 pullets, 6 breeding pens. Many other good strong classes and the show of Bronze and White Holland Turkeys was a corker.

Miss Lena Morrison, club girl, of Eagle Springs, showed some corking fine White Wyandottes in the open class winning first and second hens and second pullets; her sister, Flora Morrison had the winning cock and hen in White Wyandottes in the club class. These two birds won two specials for best birds shown by club members, the cock bird winning second and the hen third.

One of the features of the show was the fine exhibit of the Boys' and Girls' Poultry Clubs from Stanly county with Mr. Phillips, the county agent, in charge. This exhibit should be an example to Moore county boys and girls to get busy for more and better poultry.

Miss Deleta Bost, of Albemarle Route 5, a Stanly county club girl, showed a S. C. R. I. Red cockerel and pullet in the open class, winning both first prizes on some and special on both cockerel and pullet for best birds in show other than White Wyandottes. This shows the quality of birds the club members breed and have where they follow instructions of the county agents (both men and women) and the office of poultry clubs at West Raleigh. Miss Bost won in club classes first and second on both cockerel and pullet, Miss Pauline Ingram of Albemarle, another club girl from Stanly county, won first and second on both cockerel and pullet in White Wyandottes in the club classes and special for best bird shown by club members. The cockerel and pullet that won first here won both firsts at the State Fair at Raleigh.

Many other fine birds were shown by club members and great credit is due them from the fact that this is their first year in the work and shows what can be done if they mean business. It also shows that by getting their eggs through these county agents that they get good stock for a foundation, and this is most essential.

The club show was very fine and many sales of male birds were made by Mr. Phillips and many more will follow. It was one cracking good business proposition and the very best way to advertise.

Show the public what you have to offer by bringing it out in competition and not say "Why I have got better than that at home." That saying has gone by long ago, and while in some instances it may be true nevertheless you have got to show people and prospective buyers these days to take care of the "Doubting Thomases."

Space will not permit giving mention of all the awards.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

By W. Biddle Gilman

The steel market is quite dull, contracts being fewer and individual orders smaller; activity however is anticipated and production has somewhat increased.

Holiday shopping is affording some stimulus to the retail trade, though complaint is being made that the margin between wholesale and retail prices is too wide to suit the major number of buyers.

Bank clearings less than last week and somewhat smaller than for several preceding weeks.

Commodity prices are more stable, with a few more advances than declines.

Cotton prices have advanced, tho the dry goods markets are dull, which is not unusual at this season.

Wheat is firmer on stronger demand for home consumption; export demand no greater.

Merchants in all lines seem disposed to close the year with light stocks and few contracts.

Hides are considerably stronger than a week ago, with low priced shoe manufacturers busy and high priced shoes doing nothing.

Wool has stiffened still more.

Beef held firm. Hogs, sheep and lards higher, seemingly on a speculative basis.
