

JACKSON SPRINGS NEWS

Prohibition agents, Moore and Lemonds, with A. G. McDuffie, informer, and the co-operation of citizens the biggest raid ever known in this section took place last week, and the only regret was their time was too short. Jumping from one county to another, several stills were captured in Moore, Richmond and Montgomery counties. About 4000 gallons of beer and several gallons of peach brandy were destroyed. On Wednesday three stills were captured in Montgomery county, and they wound up their raid on Friday near Eagle Springs by capturing a 100 gallon outfit and destroying about 1000 gallons of beer, and seizing a mule and wagon and load of sugar. The officers, although unsuccessful in some of their searches, never came in here without a still, and are to be congratulated for their excellent work. There is sufficient evidence to convict four men and others may be hailed before Federal Court for sentiment is strong against the whiskey man, and people are demanding relief from the whiskey man and any lawlessness; and will never offer any more encouragement to the cast-offs from other sections. More stills were captured last week and brought here than ever before. Yet, there is less drinking in this section than in the days of the government distilleries and open bar rooms when peaches brought as low as ten cents a bushel. Drunkards and even some who had delerium tremens are making us good citizens now, and they do not want their sons to follow in their footsteps. Is there need for an order league in the county? It is hoped that the recent raid will stop some of the flow of whiskey coming in here on dance nights, and a few more trips in this section will break up the blockading group.

The largest crowd that was ever known attended the dance here on Saturday night. Quiet prevailed in the crowded dance hall, and the greatest excitement was two young men who used their light artillery freely where they thought they would not be seen, and John Barley Corn may get some into trouble.

R. A. Derby will ship nearly 100 carloads of peaches from here before the season ends this week. He is the largest shipper from this point. There will have to be some changes made in the Norfolk and Southern Railroad here to handle the large peach crop next year. The Manice orchards will have 300 acres of peaches coming in next year. The route of the railroad will have to be changed and we hope there may be a suitable location found for a depot site on high elevation where good switching facilities can be found. There are two routes the railroad can go and not be very far from the old line.

People rallied strong and went to register on Saturday for the election to call for an issue of $75,000.00 in bonds to build school buildings in Mineral Springs township with each district getting its proportionate part of the money according to taxable property.

The post office fight is on now among the Republicans. Among the crowd that stood the recent examination: Col. W. C. Jones and Miss Lola Thomas were placed on the eligible list. Miss Jennie Clark the only Democrat to stand in the examination was placed on the eligible list from the first examination; and although she possesses all the qualifications for a good postmaster and has had a long business experience she will probably let the Republicans fight it out among themselves. Miss Thomas, since her graduation in the local high school, taught school and has made a good record and attends summer school for teachers every summer. She is very popular and will get the endorsement of nearly every patron and it would be good policy for the Republicans to give her the $1200.00 job. But Col. Jones is a Spanish-American war veteran and may have some influence in Washington. But it is thought he will drop out of the race for business very often calls him away.

Messrs. G. R. Ross, J. A. and D. M. Campbell are erecting a cotton gin here, and it is hoped it will be completed by the first of September when the cotton will be open. The cotton crop around here is better this year than ever before. The presence of boll weevil some time ago caused some fright, but there is no sign of them now.

Mrs. Arthur Stewart was hurt very badly on Sunday afternoon when the Ford car she was riding in turned over. The car was driven by Kennie Stewart, her brother-in-law who was carrying his brother and wife home to the Manice orchards. She is a bride of several months. None of the five in the party knew the cause of the accident which happened so suddenly.

The local community club picnicked at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Patterson, Saturday evening.

Rev. W. L. Boggs, of Charlotte, who is circulation manager of the Presbyterian Standard, preached here on Sunday morning.

Rev. R. G. Matheson is conducting a revival near Durham.

Willie Thomas, who broke a bone in his right arm several days ago was able to go to work at the peach orchards on Monday morning of last week, and only lost one day at his work.

Young girls declare that porch swings are great money savers. A swing will go 40,000 miles on one can of grease.
