The following dainty invitations sealed with the shamrock, were received last week:

Miss Annie McFadyen at home

Monday afternoon, March the 17th, 4:30 to 6:30, Faculty of Cameron Graded School.

Monday afternoon of St. Patrick's Day, Miss Annie McFayden delightfully entertained the faculty of which she, herself, is a member, together with other guests. The rooms were elaborately decorated in green and white with the Shamrock trefoil predominating. On the center table was a large basket filled with ferns and grasses, and green carnations. There were three contests. First the Pig contest, the prize, a small green pig, was won by Miss Effie Gilchrist, one of the school faculty, for making the best pig. The second contest was "A trip to Ireland." Find your stations. On the tables and mantels were placed the stations; first stop, Cork; second stop, Killarney, a rose; third stop, Belfast, a bell tied to a candlestick; fourth stop, Dublin, double N; sixth stop, Kingstree, a king card; 7th stop, Tipperary, music. The prize, a bottle of wild Irish Rose perfume, was won by Miss Minerva Thompson, a member of the faculty. The booby, a small traveling bag filled with green mints, was won by Miss Laurie Phillips. The third was a vanity contest. First, a variety of plum "Green Gage." Second, a raw youth, "Greenhorn." Third, death to insects, "Paris Green." Fourth, Almost always fatal, "Gangrene." Fifth, a country, "Greenland." Sixth, mountains in New England, "Green Mountains." Seventh, a synonym for always and green, "Evergreen." Eighth, green and a dwelling, "Greenhouse." Ninth, a kind of shrub, "Greenbriar Greenery." Tenth, a sweet smelling herb, "Wintergreen." Eleventh, green and a portion of a house, "Green room." Twelfth, green and a portion of the human anatomy, "Greenback." The prize in this contest was a bottle of Shamrock perfume and was won by Miss Kate Arnold, another member of the high school faculty. The hostess, assisted by her sister, Miss Maggie McFayden, and little niece, Jessie Margaret McFayden, served, in the first course, chicken salad on lettuce leaves, olives, pickles, saltines, bread sticks, cheese, and pineapple sandwiches cut in the form of the shamrock. Second course, white block cream with a shamrock center, green and white layer cake, whipped cream, coffee and loaf sugar. The favors were tiny green baskets with shamrock decorations that were filled with white and green mints. Those present: the school faculty, Miss Mamie Arnold, Miss Kate Arnold, Miss Minerva Thompson, Miss Kate Matthews, Miss Louise Alldridge, Miss Minnie Muse, Miss Effie Gilchrist, Miss Elizabeth Ray and the hostess, Miss Annie McFayden.
