

LAKEVIEW

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McQueen, Mrs. N. L. Gibbon, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McNeil motored to Raleigh, Monday.

We are sorry to state that Mrs. R. A. Holland has been on the sick list for the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Perkins, of Bennettsville, S. C., spent last week-end with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Spears.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Richardson and little daughter, Edna Earl, motored to Rockingham Sunday.

Mr. Arthur Newcomb, of Pinehurst, is now occupying the Newcomb home here while his wife, Mrs. A. S. Newcomb, is touring California.

Mr. T. J. Coore attended the unveiling of the monument of Andrew Johnson at Carthage, Monday.

We have lost one of our best friends and neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. John Caviness who have moved to Aberdeen. Mr. Covington and family are occupying their attractive little bungalow.

Mr. and Mrs. Horne, of Fayetteville, were visiting relatives here Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Charles Clarke was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. Richardson Sunday evening for supper.

Mrs. H. G. Poole has returned from McConnell Hospital.

Mrs. Guy and Mrs. Nichols and Raymond Johnson, of Pinehurst, were the distinguished guests of Misses Elsie Coffey and Helene Dougherty, Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Dougal McDougal Monroe of Tennessee, preached an unusually interesting sermon here Sunday evening upon this subject: "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter, fear God and keep his commandments." Quite a crowd was out to hear him and we welcomed some of our near neighbors of Vass. Come right over just any time; we are alright.

I don't believe that Sundays are made more perfect than last Sunday. There was such a bracing breath in the air and the sun was shining, and indeed everything was wholly a rare piece of handiwork by the Creator. Horseback riding seemed just the thing to do, so we did it. We took in some of the familiar places near by, but we were not satisfied at that. Our conscience was our guide and it guided us towards the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Aiken. From there we cut across the peach orchards to find Mr. and Mrs. Holland's log bungalow that is fast nearing completion. All about us were rows and rows of newly cut peach trees, the ground was soft and it had a tinge of green and indeed it seemed that it would be impossible for one to think that right here in our own Sandhills we did not have the best of nature's own paintings. We saw above us on a high hill the little log bungalow. To reach it we must cross a little stream and do a little climbing. We succeeded in getting our horses across the stream and on. At last we reached the summit and just in time to see the sun sink in all its winter splendor down behind the hills. And there, silhouetted against the sky was all that a dreamer of dreams could dream. Of course it wasn't finished, but one could shut their eyes and use the imagination far better than carpenters can use their hammers and saws. There was the log house, with a low roof, a spacious living room, a little veranda, and best of all a great wide fireplace. Now that wasn't all there was to the house, but that's enough for anyone to know what the rest would be. It is situated on the elevated knoll about a quarter of a mile from Mr. Holland's peach orchard. Undoubtedly they have a magnificent view of the Sandhills. It is one to be envied by people that love nature and God's country as do Mr. and Mrs. Holland. We hope them speedy success in completing their new home.

Last Friday evening Misses Loula and Johnnie Eastwood had the honor of having Mr. Claude Matthews and Ruth McNeill, of Duke University and Mr. F. M. Dwight, for the evening. Hot chocolate and sandwiches were served.

The Lakeview Boy Scouts took the second class Scout test last Saturday afternoon which is walking twenty-five steps and running twenty-five steps alternately for one mile. Five of the boys took it and only three passed. They were Mack Parson, Wayland Blue and Frank Coore. They cooked their supper over open fire after their test was over and all of them reported it a very enthusiastic affair.

Mr. Geeslin, the executive Scout Master of four adjoining counties to Moore, reports that the Scouts here sent in the best papers of any in his field. That is the second class scout. Mr. Dwight is a very efficient Scoutmaster and with his personal interest in each scout it is no wonder that they are so interested.

You ladies please don't forget that Miss Bryan is going to give a demonstration at Miss Alice Littlefield's home Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. You don't want to miss it.

The G. A. Sunshine Class met at the home of Miss Margaret A. Kittell last Sunday afternoon and rendered a very pleasing program. One new member was added to the class.

Mr. Reid A. Page has added a beautiful flock of White Leghorn fowls to his possession.

Miss Blanch Keaveney, of Wilmington, Del., is the guest of Miss Mattie Rose and Miss Pauline Little at their cottage "Over the Way."

Miss Nannie Whipple, of Littleton, N. H., writes that January 24, the mercury stood 32 below zero.

"I have not written unto you because ye know not the truth, but because ye know it and that no lie is of the truth.

"Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is anti-Christ, that denieth the Father and the son.

Whoso denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father; but he that acknowledgeth the Son hath the Father also."—1 John 2:21-24.

Another Car of Flour in,

And we want to emphasize this fact. Flour has been steadily climbing all winter, and is evidently headed farther up in that same direction. We buy our contracts as far ahead as the millers will sell, but they can only sell as far as they can secure contracts for wheat. The unsettled condition of the wheat situation makes it impossible for millers to buy very far ahead, and they will sell flour on a guaranteed price only as far ahead as they can arrange for their wheat supply.

So we govern prices only to a limited period ahead. But the householder can buy his flour far enough ahead to be safe, for he does not require a great amount.

This is emphatically the time to provide for the future. And this is true also of grain and grain feeds, for grains are climbing along with wheat. Until another crop is harvested the signs point to a continued advance in all grains and grain feeds, and the man who buys now is the fortunate fellow. The man who bought flour ahead three months ago when we first commenced to tell of the situation knows what a wise step he took.

We are in the market for wheat and corn of merchantable quality. Farmers are asked to see us if they have any grain to sell. We want to help the farmer market everything he has that is salable.

Bring in Your Eggs

The egg market has been one of the best this winter that this country has ever known. We are moving eggs literally by the bushel, and prices are still holding up good. Yet so far we have been cleaning up practically every night. We are fortunate in a good outlet for eggs, and our sales of eggs have brought money to the farms. Bring them in while the prices are up, and profit at this season. If your hens are not laying as they should remember our
