"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it Holy. Exodus, 20:8.

The Rev. Silas P. Cook, Home Missionary, of Massachusetts, died recently at his home in Pittsfield, Mass.

For many consecutive years Dr. Cook called at Pinebluff in the spring of the year, en route from Florida, north, to visit his relatives, the Misses Harriet and Alice MacNeill. Occasionally preaching here, or taking some part in services at the churches. Many will remember him.

Mr. Hermon MacNeill and family who are visiting Miss Alice MacNeill in Pinebluff at Christmas, are already in France, having sailed on the "Arabie," June 9. Their travels, both for business and pleasure, will carry them through England, France, Holland and Belgium. They return in October.

J. R. Copeland, representing Petterboro nurseries was in town last week soliciting orders for trees and shrubs.

The ten days of Miss Alice MacNeill's vacation, April 6 to 16, were happily spent at Pinebluff Inn, a lovely place to stay for awhile. The management of the hotel were most kind, doing everything to benefit and please. The best of wishes to Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Smith in their work there.

IN MEMORY OF MY BROTHER WHO DIED MONDAY, JUNE 7, 1926

"Over The River" Over the river they beckon to me Loved ones who've crossed to the other side.

Gleams of their sunny robes I see, But their voices are lost in the dashing tide.

There's one with ringlets of sunny gold, And eyes the reflection of Heaven's own.

Here he crossed in twilight gray and cold And the pale mist hid him from mortal view.

We saw not the Angel who met him there— The Gates of the City we could not see,

Over the River, Over the River, My brother stands waiting to welcome me.

We know he is safe on the farther side

Where all the ransomed and angels be Over the River, the Mystic River, My childhood idol stands waiting for me.

For never to return from those quiet shores

Who crosses with the boatman cold and pale,

And hear the dip of the golden oars

And catch a gleam of the sunny sail And lo he has passed from yearn-hearts.

He crossed the stream and is gone for aye,

We may not asunder the evil part, That hides from our vision the Gates of Day,

We only know that his bark no more may sail

With us o'er life's stormy sea— Yet somewhere I know on the unseen Shore

He watches and beckons and waits for me.

And I sit and think when the sunset gold

Is flecking river and hill and shore I shall one day stand by the water cold

And list for the sound of the Boatman's oar—

I shall watch for a gleam of the flecking sail,

I shall hear the boat as it gains the strand,

I shall pass from sight with the Boatman pale

To the better Shore of the Spirit land.

I shall know the loved ones who have gone before,

And joyfully sweet will our meeting be

When over the River, the peaceful River,

The Angels of Death shall carry me.

SANDHILLS GIVE CONCERT

The Sandhills Sixteen are coming into recognition as singers in Moore county and the adjoining ones they have visited. "The Sixteen," a group of local men who want to sing have gathered together from time to time under the direction of Mr. Ellsworth Giles, a former Pittsburgh man who has been located in Southern Pines for the winter with his wife, also a musician, and have developed into an able outfit of singers. Mr. Giles found among the citizens of the community men who could sing. With training in capable hands and ability such as Mr. Giles showed he brought the boys into prominence as Sandhill singers. They have given a number of concerts in the different neighboring towns and always accorded an enthusiastic welcome by the audience. Friday night the Sixteen gave their final concert for the season to a full house at the Carolina theatre in Southern Pines.

The program held variety in music, ranging through the classical numbers the folk songs, negro melodies and other popular airs, with the chorus and solo work.

Robert N. Page in thanking Mr. Giles for what he had done for the boys accredited him as a genius in teaching them to sing, and bringing to Moore county folks the enjoyment of hearing them from time to time when they appeared in the concerts held.

HAVING ENGAGED in other business requiring my entire time, I will not be in position to supply Tobacco Flues this season.
