FARM LIFE OPENS FALL SESSION

County Action Makes the Outlook Better Than Ever.

The Sandhill Farm Life School begins its twelfth session on Wednesday, September 8, with brighter prospects than it has had for a number of years.

Many friends of the school throughout Moore County have expressed their pleasure that it now seems possible for the school to go forward with its work, under more favorable conditions.

From the time the school was established, the main objective has been to furnish instruction of a vocational nature.

The success of the training in agriculture and home economics can only be measured in the daily application of this training in the lives of a large number of Farm Life graduates in the surrounding country.

The teacher training department established three years ago, has rendered two distinct services to Moore County. First, it has enabled the County Superintendent of Schools to fill his rural schools with better trained teachers.

While the Moore County Commercial school has been in existence only two years, many boys and girls have taken advantage of the training of-

BUILDING LAKE AND FOUNDED FISHING CLUB.

J. N. Powell, Dr. Mudgett, Dr. Milliken, Dr. Hart, Mrs. Wiley, and one or two others have bought the land connected with the old Ray mill property below Dr. Dickey's, and are building a dam which will create a pond of considerable size which will provide a fishing and swimming pond, and be the site for a club house for a fishing and social club for a number of the folks of Southern Pines and vicinity.

RECORDS FROM LOCAL SINGERS

Sandhills Sixteen Now Heard On the Phonograph at Home.

Beyond peradventure the event of the Kiwanis dinner Wednesday at Aberdeen was the presentation of half a dozen phonograph records that were made by the Sandhills Sixteen at their recent visit to Camden, New Jersey, to the home of the Victor Talking Machine Company.

The proper amount of hilarity went with the event, which Dr. Dickey announced by saying that anybody who had seen Frank Buchan since Saturday knew that the first arrival of the records had been received, and Frank looked as joyous as a boy with his first pair of redtop boots when Doc made the statement.

But it is not necessary to go further with this story. Hayes has the records, and Moore county will be saturated with Sandhill Sixteen songs on the phonograph in the next few days, and as Bob Page, in his classical rhapsody about the man who was born ten thousand years ago, says, "I'll kill the man who says it is n't so." (N. B.—Young Bob not old Bob.)

All the world loves to laugh with or at a lover.

There is one thing about dying—you never have to do it again.

Troubles must come to all men, but those who are always looking for them will have the largest share.

Nothing makes a bride so angry as to be told that she might have done better.

PROSPECTS FOR THE SANDHILLS

All Conditions Point to Decided Progress and Prosperity.

It is doubtful if as much confidence in the immediate future of the Sandhills has been manifest in a long time as at the present.

Pinehurst is characterized by still more expensive house building, and the widening of the boundaries of the village as the houses encroach farther on the outlying territory.

Southern Pines has extended in all directions. Out the Aberdeen road a new community has fixed itself as a conspicuous member of the village, and building is so persistent there that it looks like a new house every time you drift out in that direction.

Pine Needles has set the woods afire with optimism. The solid type of construction and the fine effect of that big new hotel there on the hill tops has aroused a confidence in the outlook that is putting all of the Sandhills on their toes.

The excellent condition of the golf courses at Pinehurst and at Mid-Pines and Pine Needles suggests that more attention can be paid in the whole Sandhill belt to improving the lawns.

FORMER VASS MAN GOES TO ASHEVILLE.

C. W. Bazemore, newspaper man of Chapel Hill, will leave for Asheville September 1, to assume his duties with the school system of that city.

He is a native of Windsor, N. C., and is known to Vass people through his connection with The Pilot for two summer vacation periods.

ENTHUSIASM IN MARKET OUTLOOK

Approach of Tobacco Opening Interesting Every One.

With the opening of the tobacco season in a couple of weeks the market men are preparing for the biggest business this section has ever known.

Curing has been going on rapidly, and the big end of the crop is now getting ready for the warehouse floors. As the co-operative markets have dropped out of the race the auction markets will handle all the leaf this fall, and the demand for tobacco will call out good offerings from the start.

Weather and conditions have been favorable to a good cure of tobacco this summer, and the farmers have better results from the work at the barns than ordinarily.

HOUSE PARTY.

Those enjoying a very delightful house party at Lake Waccamaw last week were: Misses Myrtle Frye, of Carthage; Ruth MacNeill, of Vass; Lou and Johnsy Eastwood and Selma Smith, Alma McInnis and Grace Gardner, of Lakeview; Messrs. Herbert and Hiram McInnis, of Lakeview; Fred Taylor, of Vass; Norman Day and Clifton Johnson, of Southern Pines; Lacy Miller, of Ft. Bragg; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Gregory, Mrs. Jack Yates and Buddie Milan, of Southern Pines.

Miss Gardner swam the lake in one hour and 46 minutes on Sunday morning, and in all probability she will try the English channel next year.

LUMBERTON LADY WRITES ON MONEY

Thinks Solomon Slipped a Bit When he said, "Money Answereth all Things."

There is a verse somewhere in Holy Writ that says: "Money answereth all things."

We would like for some one to explain the meaning of that verse, for when we think of the many things that money cannot buy we are inclined to doubt even Solomon.

Money would not answer me if I should ask it to purchase for me a real friend—one whose soul would respond to every desire or emotion of my own.

If I had a billion dollars I could not purchase the wonderful care-free spirit of youth. Money cannot be exchanged for character, nor honor, nor wisdom.

We might mention many other things of inestimable worth that money cannot buy, but even these that we have mentioned make us wonder what the author meant when he said, "Money answereth all things."

Money is useful and we admire people who try to get a comfortable share. But the best things in life are not purchasable nor transferable.

CAMERON SCHOOL OPENS SEPTEMBER 5.

Cameron Graded School will begin another school year on Tuesday, September 5. The faculty is as follows: J. Clyde Kelly, superintendent high school; Mrs. J. L. McGraw, history and French; Miss Katherine Arnold, science, English; Miss Louise Johnston, Mathematics.

All indications are that the school will have a most successful year. Patrons are cordially invited to visit the school at any time and inspect its work.

PROF. J. CLYDE KELLY, Superintendent.

FINE HOME GROWN APPLES.

L. L. Johnson, at his fruit emporium on the road between Aberdeen and Southern Pines is showing something of the apple possibilities of the Sandhills. He has had on sale a lot of gilt-edged fruit grown by Reed Page on his orchard near Aberdeen, and at every point that fruit is ready to meet all the requirements of inspection.
