

Bigger Budget for So. Pines Library

Popularity of Library Increases Expenses.—Many New Books Received

The Board of Trustees of the Southern Pines Library association at its meeting Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce voted to recommend a budget of $2,000 for this year. This increase over preceding budgets is caused by increased expenses of operation, but as was pointed out at the meeting, the library is gaining in popularity all the time and serving more and more people.

In one day this week, 51 persons visited the library, and sixty-eight books were taken out. The Southern Pines library ranks first in the state in circulation per capita of population. Many new books have been received by the association during the past few weeks, a large number of which are gifts from Mrs. James Boyd and others. Mrs. Park Fisher, librarian, has also announced the list of new books for February, recently ordered, which includes many volumes of biography and recent fiction. Struthers Burt is the new president of the board.

CARTHAGE

Circle No. 1 Meets with Mrs. J. L. Currie

Circle No. 1 of the Presbyterian Church met at the delightful home of Mrs. J. L. Currie Monday afternoon at three o'clock, with nine members present, and one visitor, Mrs. Golden.

Mrs. Graves, the chairman, not being present, Mrs. Walton Sugg presided, and as an impromptu program, it was very interesting indeed. Several readings were given by different members. Mrs. Wilbur Currie read an interesting letter from Mr. and Mrs. Worth, which had been received by Mr. and Mrs. Currie.

The collection amounted to about $9.00. At the conclusion of the program and business meeting, the hostess, assisted by her sister Mrs. Thom, served a delicious fruit salad course, with hot coffee and cream.

Hon. H. F. Seawell, is in the Charlotte sanatorium for treatment. Friends will be pleased to know that he is getting along nicely, but will remain for several weeks in the sanatorium.

Miss Meade Seawell, who is teaching at Juanita College, Huntingdon, Penn., arrived in Carthage Monday night, to be with her father while he is ill. Mrs. Seawell and Miss Seawell left Tuesday morning for Charlotte, where Mrs. Seawell will remain for several days to be near Mr. Seawell.

Book Reviewers Meet with Miss Mary Currie

Miss Mary Currie was charming hostess to the Book Club, Saturday evening. The usual program was not carried out, there being so many members unable to attend.

Mrs. Welch and Miss Sinclair rendered a lovely piano duet and Mrs. L. R. Sugg a solo. This being the last meeting of the year it was more of a party, games being indulged in, and a contest also was enjoyed.

The guests of the club for the evening were Misses Margaret McLeod, Margaret Blair, Annie Howell, Louise Williams, Meta Liles, Mesdames L. R. Sugg and W. S. Golden.

The hostess assisted by Misses Redding and McLeod served a delicious salad course with coffee.

Sunday School Convention by Baptist

L. L. Morgan and Miss Gladys Beck, are in Carthage for the entire week, and are conducting a teachers course for Sunday School teachers, at the Baptist church. Sunday School teachers of all denominations are invited to attend the classes which meet at night. The course of study is very helpful to those engaged in the work of the Sunday school.

Basket Ball Interesting

The basket ball played by the teams of the Carthage High School this year, has been interesting and encouraging. The teams have lost very few games. The eighth and ninth grades played the ninth and tenth grade Monday, with the eighth and ninth winning, which pleased the eighth and ninth very much. There is to be a tournament played in Moore County within the next few days, 20, 21 and 22 of February, to be exact. Every team in Moore county will take part in this tournament. Names of each team will be drawn by a teacher and the name drawn will be played by the team drawing it. This tournament will be played in Pinehurst at the Pinehurst gymnasium.

Miss Caddell Give Up Cafe

The Central Cafe, which has been managed and run for sometime by Miss Kate Caddell has been sold to June Harrington and Mr. Lambert.

After rearranging and getting things ready for the new regime they opened for business Saturday night. We wish them much success in their new business.

An Over Sight

In this column of last week we had an interesting account of the work that is being done by the Teacher Training Class here, but we failed to mention the names of the most efficient instructor of the class of young women, who is Miss Meta Liles, one of the best Teacher Training instructors in the state. It is a great privilege that this department has the opportunity of being in charge of Miss Liles, for she has done such wonderful work all over the state.

Mrs. Spence Honored

Mrs. Union L. Spence has been chosen vice-chairman of the Sir Walter Cabinet, which is an interesting organization, composed of the wives of the members of the General Assembly, who make their home at the Sir Walter Hotel during the winter.

Mrs. Spence and daughter are spending the winter in Raleigh with Mr. Spence who is a member of the General Assembly. Mrs. Spence is quite popular at the Capitol, having many friends there.

Mrs. Pleasants Home for Week-End

Friends were so delighted to have with them for the week-end Mrs. Reid Pleasants, who is connected with the Oxford Orphanage. She delighted the congregation at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, with one of her beautiful solos. Mrs. Pleasants will start on tour of the state within the next four weeks, and as usual will visit Carthage.

Dr. Smith's Lecture Course

It is too bad that every one interested in Bible study could not have taken the course of lectures that Dr. Smith of Greensboro, has been giving in the high school building for the past several months.

Thursday will complete this course of lectures, and will finish up the book of Esther, which has been one of the most interesting stories that many have been privileged to listen too. Of course it is mostly due to the interpretation that Dr. Smith gives to the book and the graphic way he has of placing any subject before his class. It has been a great pleasure and privilege to have Dr. Smith interpret the Bible as a book of literature, in his beautiful way he has made the bible a more interesting book.

Eureka Goes to Church

Sunday morning at Sunday School, Dr. Golden told an interesting fact regarding Sunday school and church, that might be well to pass on to others, and then give Eureka church their due.

Dr. Golden preaches at Eureka on a Sunday afternoon, at which time they also have Sunday school. Dr. Golden went on to say that after Sunday school was dismissed, there was not a single person who left the church, everyone remaining for the sermon. Dr. Golden further said, that he had never before seen an incident like this.

I am sure Eureka feels very proud of their young people, as they rightly should.

Epworth League Meeting

The meeting of the Epworth League Sunday evening was interesting. There was a good attendance. The subject for the evening was, "Applying the Golden Rule." Song, "Let the Lower Lights be Burning." The scripture reading was given by Bill Buffalo. The song "Help Somebody Today," was also sung. Readings were given by Janie Gibbs, "What is Courtesy," Charles Sinclair, Jr., "The Price of Service," Louise Yow, "Others First." After these readings the collection was taken, closing with the song, "More, More, About Jesus," and the League benediction.

Dr. Jackson Preaches Sunday Evening

Dr. Jackson filled his regular appointment here at the Baptist church Sunday evening. There was a good attendance, notwithstanding the prevalence of colds among the members.

Dr. Jackson's sermons are always enjoyed and looked forward to with much expectation and pleasure.

Joe Hough spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hough.

S. F. Cole has just returned from Atlanta, where he went to attend a convention of the salesmen for the Frigidaire. Mr. Camp and Mr. Cole also spent several days in Greensboro recently.

Friends of Frank Cole will be interested to know that he is now in Charlotte and holds a position with the new Ford plant there.

Mr. Hoyle, of Sanford, was in Carthage on business Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. I. McKeithen of Aberdeen, were visitors to Mr. and Mrs. N. A. McKeithen Saturday.

Mrs. R. L. Phillips and daughters,

Promising Local Market for Rye Straw Develops

Archery Firm Uses Large Quantities for Targets which Require Special Material

The Archers Company on Midlands Road, between Pinehurst and Southern Pines, are in the market for a quantity of rye straw for making targets. To be best suited for this work, the straw should still be in the sheaf, unthreshed. The quality should be first class and the straw as long as possible. The usual method of preparing such straw is to cut the heads off and run them through the thresher, saving the unthreshed straw in the sheaf for the target maker. Similar procedure is used in making horse collars, which are usually made of rye straw.

Mr. Rounseville says that he would be glad to communicate with any farmer that would quote him on his needs. He also says that he expects his company will use between two and three carloads this year, and possibly more.

At present this straw is being ordered from the North. It seems a shame to spend all of this money outside of Moore County, for something that we could raise here equally well, and keep the money at home.

Recleaning and treating of tobacco seed is a common practice throughout the bright belt area of eastern Carolina this winter.

Misses Eliza and Elizabeth Green, spent the week-end in Carthage.

Mrs. John Tyson, of Vass, spent last week in Carthage with her daughter, Mrs. L. C. Wallace.

George D. Carter and Dan Carter have returned to their home from the tobacco market in Tennessee.

Senator Wood spent the week-end in Carthage with his daughter, Mrs. O. B. Welch.

John Currie, of Rockingham, spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. J. L. Currie.

Mrs. Ward, of Rocky Mount is visiting her mother, Mrs. Addie Shaw.

Murdoch Johnson, of Aberdeen, was in Carthage Monday.

Claud Woltz has returned to Winston Salem after spending the week-end in Carthage.

Mrs. L. R. Sugg and Mrs. J. L. Barrett spent Monday in Asheboro.

Robert Tyson, of State College, spent the week-end in Carthage with his mother, Mrs. T. B. Tyson.

Harold McKeithen, of Winston-Salem was in Carthage Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Wallace, Mrs. L. C. Wallace and Miss Francis McKeithen spent Tuesday in Charlotte.

Mrs. T. B. Tyson visited relatives in Henderson a few days last week.

Ed Fuller, of Siler City, stopped in Carthage Saturday, enroute to Raeford.

Dickery, dickery, dap; the mouse ran into the trap
The trap, it sprung; the mouse got stung
Now, wasn't that mouse a yap?

The writer of this column was recently tolled up to a trap, but it sprung before he got into it. For about three weeks he had been the recipient of a "daily market letter" from a concern in New York (not members of the Exchange), when one fine day along came a lengthy telegram urging him to buy an unheard-of stock at once, if not sooner, apparently because the firm handling it had taken a deep interest in his welfare and had suddenly been seized with an irresistible desire to make him rich. Confidentially, they imparted the information that this stock would double in value in a few days.

But the sucker did n't suck, and so, three days later he was called up on the telephone from Brooklyn and treated to one of the most impressive examples of high-pressure salesmanship he ever listened to.

Having previously many times successfully resisted efforts on the part of others to make him a millionaire, he again turned his back on Dame Fortune, and went out and got trusted for a Coca Cola.

As he sipped his libation and reflected on the guillibility of humankind, he gradually became imbued with the feeling that this sort of thing was a menace to society, so on his return he bundled up the telegram and some of the letters, wrote a brief resume of the telephone conversation, and mailed the whole to the Attorney General of the United States.

"Thus endeth the first lesson."
