

McKeithen and Page Argue Hancock School Bill Before Kiwanis

Will Reduce Number of Teachers But Put Less Responsibility on Counties

WISCONSIN MAN TALKS

The Hancock school bill before the legislature at Raleigh brought out a little discussion before the Kiwanis Club at the Wednesday dinner in the Southern Pines Congregational church in which Ed McKeithen and Bob Page were the chief speakers.

Mr. McKeithen pointed out some of the objections to the bill, one being the likelihood of cutting down the number of teachers so that the classes would be too big to handle successfully. Mr. Page touched upon this feature, but also said that the whole consideration from many sides. The matter was so big that it needed constitution makes the states responsible for a school system, but too much has been put on the counties, and especially the matter of taxing and financing the schools. Mr. Page thought the bill good in some ways, especially as it is a start in the right direction of putting greater responsibility on the state for financing the schools and caring for them.

The speaker of the day was Paul B. Jenkins of Wisconsin, who talked of the remarkable solidarity of America. He said friends in Illinois and New York had said to him in Wisconsin to meet them this week in North Carolina. This country is big, but so little that the three of them could gather at any point in it in a few days at an hour's notice. Hoover's inaugural address on Monday was heard by more people over a wider area than anything ever spoken before by man. From the Byrd expedition in the Antarctic to the Philippines, Alaska and all over the earth the new president was heard by people everywhere. We are a nation from sea to sea and from lakes to gulf. The Ford car, the radio, the good roads and similar agencies have united our 125,000,000 people, and there are no longer marked frontiers in different sections. We all talk the same language, have the same aims, and work for the same purposes.

The speaker cites the great progress foreigners have made in becoming part of this nation and the good effect. He compared this country with the old world, with its different languages and dialects, and noted our great accomplishments through our united efforts. He was well received.

Star Attractions Coming to Theatres

Colleen Moore in her latest and best comedy, "Why Be Good," which is coming to the Carolina Theatres, Friday and Saturday, maintains that if a girl stays out after midnight, she's a runaway—if she doesn't she's the loser. If she attempts wild parties, she won't get the right kind of a husband and if she doesn't she won't get any at all. If she walks home from the last auto ride, and tells about it, she'll never be asked on another. If she smokes, she's wild and if she doesn't she's a prude. How she gets around all these things is best told in "Why Be Good," which is considered Colleen's best comedy in some time.

In "Desert Sands" which is the attraction for Monday and Tuesday, John Gilbert steps out on the desert and does some real tramping and he is most ably assisted by the Sandhills' favorite character actor, Ernest Torrence and the generous blonde leading lady, Mary Nolan, who is rapidly coming to the front as a rival of the famous Greta Garbo. There is no doubt about the excellence of the entertainment offered in "Desert Sands."

On Wednesday and Thursday, an all star cast including such sterling stars as Renee Adoree, George Fawcett, Fred Kohler, George Duryea and William Collier, Jr., will be seen in the picturization of the well known Peter B. Kyne story of the California Gold Rush, "Tide of Empire." A fine story and a great cast assures a splendid picture.

Whoopee Minstrels Tonight at So. Pines

Tonight is the night of the big minstrel Show, the "Whoopee Minstrels" at the Carolina Theatre in Southern Pines. The Alpha Lodge No. 182, I. O. O. F. of Southern Pines are putting on the show, a real old time minstrel with all the trimmings, including a male quartet, olio, vaudeville numbers, concert violinist, xylophonist, etc. The curtain rises at 8:20 o'clock, and there are a few seats left if you haven't procured yours.

SKETCH SHOWING FRONT VIEW OF NEW COUNTY HOSPITAL

Work is progressing rapidly on the new Moore County Hospital at Pinehurst, which Dr. Rankin, head of the Duke Foundation says will be the finest in North and South Carolina. A benefit concert for the hospital building fund is to be held in the Carolina Theatre in Pinehurst next Thursday evening, March 14th, when famous radio stars of the National Broadcasting Company will appear in person. Forty thousand dollars is the amount still needed for the completion and equipment of the hospital.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION MEETS IN CARTHAGE SUNDAY

There will be a meeting of the Moore County Sunday School Association, at the Methodist Church in Carthage, Sunday, March 10th, at 3:00 o'clock.

There will be an interesting program, also the Sunday School work in the county will be discussed. We especially request the County, and Township Officers, Sunday School Superintendents and officers, teachers, and any others interested in Sunday School work to make a special effort to attend the meeting.

F. M. DWIGHT, President.
W. C. WICKER, Secretary.

TO ASK SEABOARD TO ELIMINATE SWITCHES

Further discussion of planting problems and of elimination of freight car switches in Southern Pines were the principal topics of the members of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Southern Pines at their weekly meeting Tuesday noon in Jack's Grill. Struthers Burt and Frank Buchan were appointed a committee to take up with the Seaboard the question of having one instead of three freight switches in the town.

Secretary Burns reported a satisfactory condition of the treasury, with many contributions coming in as a result of the membership drive now being held.

SOUND MOVIES START AT CAROLINA THEATRE

The first sound movie at the Carolina Theatre in Southern Pines was given last evening when a full house saw and heard Douglas Fairbanks in "The Iron Mask." Mr. Picquet worked feverishly for two days to assemble his new DeForest Phonofilm projector in time for the Fairbanks production, and the presentation was voted a great success by those present. Sound and talking pictures will be a regular feature there from now

MISS JONES BUYS SITE FOR HOME ON MIDLAND ROAD

L. L. Biddle, 2d, announces the sale at Pinehurst of a large building site on the Midland Road just beyond the Batson house and facing the No. 5 golf course to Miss Addie A. Jones of Massachusetts. Miss Jones has been a Pinehurst visitor for a couple of seasons and is so well pleased with the Sandhills that she wanted a Pinehurst home. She expects to build right away.

McFarland Rides Broad Silk to Win Secretary's Cup

Smashing Finish Brings Victory to Miss Nightingale's Mare in Feature Race.

FREDDIE FISHER STARS.

A smashing finish to a dramatic race brought victory to Broad Silk, a chestnut mare owned by Miss June Nightingale, of Victoria, B. C., in the feature first annual seven furlong running race for the Secretary's cup in the eighth race meeting of the season staged by the Pinehurst Jockey Club at the race track Wednesday. The winner, cleverly ridden by Jockey McFarland, broke the tape barely a head in the lead of Steinway and Galliano, two entries from the Dennis Bauer stables of New Orleans, La. Charles Picquet, secretary of the club and donor of the cup, presented the trophy to McFarland.

The five and one-half furlong running race was won by Paul Hahn's Son of Hope, who made a slashing spurt down the stretch to win by half a length from J. J. Kenney's Perre Rhue. The five furlong event for non-winners went to Frank Murphy's Little Thicket.

Herman Tyson made a clean sweep of the harness races, driving Packey Ritts to a closely contested victory in the seventh annual Daffodil trot and The Judge taking first money in the seventh annual Sandhill pace.

Freddie Fisher, youthful equestrian of Greenwich, Conn., starred in the gymkhana numbers, placing first in the balloon contest and musical stalls specialty.

Only rarely is it worth what it costs to tell a man just what we think of him.
