

Mrs. Neidich Buys to Build Winter Home on Knollwood Heights

Daughter of Head of School of Architecture, Cornell University. Acquires Two Lots

ROAD PLANTING BEGUN

A sale of two lots at Knollwood Heights last week to Mrs. Gertrude Martin Neidich, nos. 453 and 455, on Crest road, is an event of unusual value to the whole community. Mrs. Neidich is the daughter of Professor A. C. Martin, who for the past 24 years has been head of the school of architecture at Cornell university. Dr. Rader, who is very familiar with Dr. Martin's work, says he is not only a great artist in his line, but likewise one of the most successful college workers in the United States. He will design a plan for an attractive English home to be built on these lots, and it is the intention to proceed with the building as soon as the plans are ready.

Mr. and Mrs. Neidich have been guests at the Pine Needles Inn and have been much pleased with the surroundings, and have fallen in love with Knollwood Heights. Mr. Neidich is associated with his father, who is a chemist of renown, one of the foremost school of chemical research and invention which is revolutionizing the world a different place in which to live. He controls a number of valuable patents in connection with rayon manufacture, celluloid products, including those newer conceptions of the use of celluloid and its allied products which are entering so largely into chemical, electrical and manufacturing projects. The Neidichs are in close touch with the big people in the modern industrial world, the people who are carrying industry to that new level that seems so prophetic of a changed future and a marvelous new life. The young folks will be a delightful addition to Knollwood and the whole section, and what is more they are enthusiastic in the intention of having friends of their type about them in the near future, an acquisition the Sandhills always welcomes.

Planting Midland Road

This sale of two additional sites on Knollwood Heights comes at a time to add fresh interest to the announcement that Mr. Morell has taken a contract from Knollwood to plant the Midland road on both sides from the end of Broad street in Southern Pines to the crossing of the Pee Dee road on top of the hill above the Fownes house at Knollwood Heights. This is in keeping with the work of the Kiwanis club and the Chamber of Commerce at Southern Pines as well as the permanent policy at Pinehurst to plant the highways and the villages to the greatest extent possible. Pinehurst has planted the roads and lawns and all the common things wherever trees or shrubbery can thrive, and Southern Pines has been making great advances in this direction in the recent years. Now comes the big task of planting this strip of two miles along the Midland road, which no doubt will lead to closing the distance between the Fownes house and Pinehurst before much longer. C. L. Hawes is head of a committee of the Kiwanis club having this work in hand, and his committee is a rather aggressive bunch, so it is safe to look forward with confidence in what they are doing.

The excellent work the state did in building the double road has aroused a lot of interest in making that the most striking residence road in village North Carolina. Already from the Buckminster house on the Linden road, Pinehurst has about a mile and a half of planted road out to the Bator house on the Midland road, while at the Southern Pines end from beyond the Highland Pines inn the route is planned to the junction of the Midland road with the Broad street corner of the village. Mr. Morrell will add to this about two miles, making close to five miles on the road that will connect Pinehurst and Southern Pines. When the rest of the road is planted it will afford seven or eight miles of continuous highway that will be a park the whole distance. In addition the road to Aberdeen and the road to Manly from Southern Pines are in the hands of the planters almost the entire distance.

News Camera Men Coming for Races

Will Take Sound and Silent Pictures of Pig Driving and Mule Polo Game

Two news camera men, one with sound equipment and the other with silent camera, are coming to the races next Wednesday to get moving pictures of the now famous Ladies' Pig Driving contest and the Mule Polo game, the silent version of these pictures to be shown at the Carolina Theatres.

It may be of interest to our readers to know that pictures of the Ladies' Pig Driving contest which took place at the Thanksgiving races, have been published in the illustrated newspapers of France, England and Germany and in the last named country it was the means of contact between a sojourner in Germany and a resident of the Sandhills who had lost track of each other for sixteen years.

As a sequel to the Ladies' Pig Driving contest on next Wednesday, there will be a contest between four expert pig drivers who will demonstrate how easy it is to command even a pig, by those who know how.

The feature running event of the race meet is the eighth annual Five Furlong race for the Stewards' Cup, which, because of the change in distance, will include runners who have not competed for the previous cups of the winter season.

Additional running races are 5 1-2 and 6 furlongs, with the harness events, including the 7th Annual Spring trot and the 7th Annual March pace.

Six-Team Baseball League for Sandhills

Jaul Roche Effecting Organization of Semi-Pro Nines Throughout Section

Carthage, Vass, Cameron, Southern Pines, Pinehurst, West End, Jackson Springs, Biscoe and Candor are the towns mentioned to make up the proposed baseball league which Paul Roche of Pinebluff is promoting to operate this summer as the Sandhills League. Mr. Roche has been spending some time in each of these towns of late working up enthusiasm in the league, which will be a semi-professional organization. He has met with a ready response in practically all of the localities.

"It is probable," he said to The Pilot early in the week, "that some of the towns will join hands in supporting one team between them instead of each a separate team, such as Pinehurst combining with Southern Pines and possibly Vass with Cameron, West End with Jackson Springs and Biscoe with Candor, but in any event, we hope for at least a six-team league, to start the season off some time in April or early May."

Mr. Roche said that Charles W. Piquet of Pinehurst, head of the Carolina theatres, would act as general manager of the league, and that a board would be formed at once of one man from each of the towns mentioned to make up a schedule, etc.

What Do You Know About Fertilizer?

How many times have you asked yourself this question? Deep down in your heart you knew you often took what the store offered you and generally just trading.

There is a lot of "gambling" in farming, most of which is entirely beyond your control.

Forty six years ago the Acme Manufacturing Company began making fertilizer and building a reputation on the quality of their goods; believing that the "gambling" of farming is lessened by a quality of fertilizer made 50 per cent organic—50 per cent mineral. They have specialized and continue to do so, in this mixture. Satisfied farmers whose fathers before them bought Acme, prove that this policy is a wise one. When you get OLD RELIABLE ACME FERTILIZERS you know that you have the best possible fertilizer that can be made. Ask your dealer about ACME, if he does not handle it, write to this Old North Carolina Company. You want the best and we have it.

Let us hear from you.

TO SING AT SOUTHLAND

"Abie's Irish Rose" Coming to Aberdeen

Among the attractions due at the Dixie Theatre in Aberdeen next week "Abie's Irish Rose" is booked for Wednesday and Thursday. To the public Anne Nichols' famous play needs no introduction. It is an appeal to the heart—through its sweet love story; to the mind—through its infinite understanding and tolerance.

The picture is headed by Jean Hersholt, admittedly one of the greatest character actors ever to appear on the screen. His portrayal of Solomon Levy is amazingly human. Rosemary Murphy and Abie Levy are portrayed by Nancy Carroll and Charles Rogers, two of the most popular players on the screen today.

The new sound picture equipment which Mr. Rosser has recently installed in his Aberdeen Theatre adds greatly to the picture's entertainment value. There are four sequences in which the characters speak their lines and a beautiful musical score throughout the entire picture.

For Friday and Saturday of this week Mr. Rosser has engaged "The Younger Generation" with Jean Hersholt in the stella role. The story itself is a tense human interest drama of New York's colorful East Side and luxurious Riverside Drive. Pathos is relieved by deft touches of humor that hide tears with smiles. A fire in a tenement house, a bold daylight robbery on Fifth Avenue and gay social functions are among the headlight.

The picture is a talkie. "The Flying Fleet," with Ramon Navarro, is scheduled for Monday and Tuesday. "The Flying Fleet," frequently referred to as the "Wings" of the navy offers everything that can possibly be expected of it. Sound effects add much to its exciting moments and taking it all in all it represents a very enjoyable evening's entertainment.

AUTO PARADE TO ADVERTISE SANFORD'S SPRING OPENING
