

The Week in Southern Pines

Parties

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Alida Goddin, who is visiting Mrs. Walter Halliwell, was the guest of honor at a bridge given for her by Mrs. N. F. Wilson at her home in Weymouth, "Pacifical." Mrs. Collier of Brooklyn, was the winner of first prize, while Mrs. W. S. Halliwell won the second. Mrs. Goddin was the recipient of a pretty guest's prize. The consolation was given to Mrs. O'Rourke. A salad course was served late in the afternoon.

The "Ace of Clubs" was entertained last Thursday by Miss Mary Dell Hayes. A late supper was served, after which prizes were given to Mrs. "Tom" Van and "Johnny" Jordan, for the highest scores.

The Thistle Club gave its Saturday Tea at the Southern Pines Country Club this week with very gratifying success. These teas are filling a great need which has been felt at the Club of late due to the absence of social life there. Miss Birdilia Bair and Miss Faries this time proved their abilities as charming hostesses.

The Annual Shriners' Charity Ball given at the Pinehurst Country Club last Friday night proved to be a success not only as a benefit but as a brilliant social affair as well, being one of the largest and gayest affairs of the season.

Saturday night friends of Dr. George Herr from Connecticut, who are being extensively entertained, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Johnson at a Steak Supper down at Johnson's Cabin, which was one of the most enjoyable of the parties which have been given for them.

Monday afternoon the Highland Pines Inn was the scene of a lovely bridge party given by Mrs. Andrew I. Creamer. The first prize was won by Mrs. Anna Englehart. Other prizes were won by Mrs. Ernest Bush, Mrs. Joseph Bernstein, Mrs. Haines, while Mrs. Roy Pushee received the consolation.

Tuesday afternoon the Alfred Moore Chapter of the D. A. R. held its regular meeting at the Southern Pines Country Club. Mrs. James Swett, presiding. After the business part was over, Mrs. Charles Whitaker, Mrs. W. C. Mudgett, and Mrs. Ernest Perkinson were hostesses at tea.

Tuesday night a charming dinner party was given by the Drs. William and Phillip McLauchlin, Buchinmiller and Lynch in the Dutch room at the Carolina.

Perhaps one of the most enjoyable parties this week was the Treat given by Mrs. W. C. Mudgett on Wednesday at the Pinehurst Country Club, for her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Driscoll, of Reading, Pa. Among those present were the Misses Elizabeth Rountree, Tillie Keating, Emilie May Wilson, and Laura Butterfield, Jerry Healy, Nelson C. Hyde, Eric Thompson and Mr. Rountree.

Personals

Mrs. Laura M. Driscoll and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Driscoll, of Reading, Pa., arrived Sunday for a few weeks' stay at the Carolina Hotel after an extended trip through Cuba and Florida. Miss Driscoll lately distinguished herself in the Follies recently put on by the Junior League of Reading.

William Heizmann of Reading, prominent in many social and business associations of that city, among other things President of the Penn Hardware Company, has arrived for a visit with his sister, Mrs. W. C. Mudgett.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Hayner of Chicago, Ill., have leased the Whitaker bungalow on New Hampshire avenue, and will make their home here during the present year. Mr. Hayner is general manager of the Central Carolina Telephone Company.

Saturday C. T. Patch returned from a ten-day trip to New York.

The Misses Schwberg have rented their house to Mr. and Mrs. Bamey Gerard for the month of March and coming that time they will stay at the Park View Hotel.

John Meehan, the noted playwright of New York, who has collaborated with David Belasco and George Cohan in many of their Broadway hits, is at the Highland Pines Inn for a few weeks. With him are his two daughters, Miss Peggy Meehan and Mrs. W. F. Felcamp. The former writes lyrics while the latter has met with success before the footlights.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Irish, of Morristown, Pa., have as guests at Highland Pines Inn bungalow, Mrs. Martha Buchanan, Miss Ruth Ryder, Marja

Fernance, and Messrs. Scherd, C. R. Henry and E. A. Harley. The party are down for golfing.

The Woman's Missionary meeting will be held Thursday afternoon, March 7, at the home of Mrs. Henry D. Silver, Bennett street at 3:00 o'clock. All women are cordially invited. Mrs. Charles Whitaker will be the principal speaker.

"The Whoopee Minstrels" will be given by the Alpha Lodge this evening at 8:30 at the Carolina Theatre.

The Men's Bible Class of the Baptist Church held its first class last Sunday. It was a very successful meeting with about twenty present. Frank Buchan was elected president and William Coursey secretary and treasurer. All men are cordially invited to attend this class.

At noon today there will be a special Lenten luncheon in the assembly room of the Church of Wide Fellowship. Tables can be reserved for this appetizing feast by telephoning Mesdames Eddy, Spaeth or Buchan.

Visit the Highland Pines Inn Sunday evening and hear the appealing music of the Borjes Trio.

Mrs. Mary Powell Black returned home from Durham Sunday after an operation for the removal of her tonsils.

Mrs. William Coursey has returned home after a visit to Columbia.

The many friends of Mrs. Clarence H. Durgin, of May street are glad to hear that she has recovered from her recent illness.

Remember the library is open from 10:00 to 12:00 on Saturday and Monday morning. Also every afternoon from 2:00 to 5:30.

Mrs. Jackson and her son, who for the past three weeks have been staying at the Hollywood Hotel, have returned to their home in Maine.

Miss Eloine Pearce, of Montclair, N. J., has returned to her home after visiting for a few days with Miss Clarene Welch.

Prof. Paul B. Gerkins is giving a series of five literary lectures, starting yesterday. These lectures will be given each Thursday at the Civic Club at 4 o'clock. The series is for the benefit of the library. Tickets, $5.00 for five lectures and $1.25 for one.

MR. BUTLER REVIEWS BIRD BOOK BY DR. ACHORN

it is written by men who are authority on their theme, and who know how to say what they have to say. It is not technical, yet it is informing, and it deserves a place in every household, and in the schools as well, for even if not a text book it should be in the school libraries.

It is the romance of a world of life, for it tells of the queer wanderings of certain birds up and down the earth, literally, for some of the birds that come to Southern Pines and Pinehurst go also to the Arctic circle and possibly equally as far south. Some go north by one route, some by another. Some stop to loiter by the wayside. The migrants are the world's great hoboes, stopping at times to feed and catch up and see the country, then pulling out for farther north or farther south. Few travel east or west.

Habits and Customs

The family relations of the birds are told in the book, the life habits and customs, and all is so vividly done that after reading a little about the birds described it is easy to go out and watch some of them with the feeling that you have been listening over the back fence and picking up all the family gossip about the birds. Funny how little we know about the birds of the Sandhills, yet they are our most numerous and always in all directions our next-door companions. This book has all the community bird small-talk and family pedigrees and sewing circle chat. Reading the book, or as much or as little of it as you like, will broaden the world about you here in the Sandhills, for it brings in thousands of these small inhabitants that figure so largely and which you may have overlooked almost entirely in the past.

Hayes has the book for sale. It is so useful, and so entertaining and so instructive that he ought to sell a thousand copies. It is the story of a million friends, neighbors, fellow workers, that is a big feature of life in the pleasures of acquaintance with the creatures that are like us, a part of God's creation.

EVELYN EDSON HONORED

Evelyn Edson was highly honored recently by having an article she wrote on "Helpers of Others" published in "The Junior Christian Endeavor World." She told what the Juniors had been doing in the local society at the Church of Wide Fellowship.

CARTHAGE

The first meeting of the Book Reviewers during the New Year was held at the lovely home of Mrs. O. B. Welch on Pinehurst Boulevard, Thursday evening with the new officers presiding.

The meeting was called to order by the new president, Miss Eula Blue with thirteen members present and three charming visitors, the Misses Margaret McLeod, Margaret Blair and Mettie Brown, of Fayetteville, house guest of Mrs. L. C. Wallace.

An interesting program was enjoyed. Miss Eula Blue, president, gave a talk. Mrs. O. B. Welch and Miss Mildred Sinclair played a piano duet, "Saved by the Flag." Miss Augusta McKeithen, sang a beautiful solo, "Troubadour."

The charming hostess, Mrs. Welch, assisted by Miss McLeod served sandwiches, with tea followed by cake and salted nuts.

Circle No. Three Meets

Mrs. Lee McDonald was charm-hoess to Circle No. III of the Presbyterian Auxiliary Monday evening and there was an interesting meeting and a most interesting program, regardless of the weather.

Mrs. L. P. Tyson had arranged a very beautiful program on the Twenty-fourth Psalm with several members taking part. The devotional exercises were conducted by the chairman, Mrs. Nelia Black. The collection amounted to $5.00.

After the business meeting and the program, the hostess served delicious hot coffee and lemon pie. The next meeting will be with Mrs. L. P. Tyson.

Circle Four Meets with Miss McLeod

Circle No. IV met at the home of Mrs. O. B. Welch, with Miss Margaret McLeod hostess. There were seven members present. Mrs. Barrianger, the chairman of the circle, had charge of the devotional. Miss Margaret McLeod, had arranged an interesting program on "Mexico," Mrs. L. C. Wallace and Miss Norma McKeithen giving readings. The collection for the evening was $18. After the business meeting was adjourned with prayer.

Eureka and Priest Hill Church Notes

Preaching services, by the Rev. W. S. Golden, pastor, will be held at Priest Hill School house on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services are also held on the third Sunday afternoon at the same hour. Every one is invited to these services. Sunday school is held every Sunday afternoon. Mr. Golden, who has been in this field only two months, has visited nearly every home in this section, and feels encouraged that with the return of better weather and disappearance of the influenza, the work will greatly build up. The congregations are already increasing considerably.

Eureka Presbyterian church has recently completed a fine school of Missions. The Adult Department was taught by Rev. W. S. Golden, the Young People's Department by Miss Janie McLeod and Miss Meta Liles, the Children's Department by Mrs. Donald Blue. Miss Mary McLeod was secretary of the school. The lowest attendance, on rainy nights was around thirty, and the closing night was 85.

It has been decided by the officers of the church to hold the annual Volunteer Day, at which members will make their church pledges for the new year beginning April 1st, on the third Sunday, at the morning service. Every member of Eureka Church is urged to be present and make this a great and enthusiastic day. Those who cannot come on the third Sunday morning will be visited in their homes later. The services have held up well through the winter, and are improving now.

At the recent Alumni Banquet of the Sandhill Farm Life School, 104 guests sat down together to a splendid banquet, prepared and served under the capable direction of Mrs. Zeb Blue. Charlie McDonald was elected president of the Alumni Association.

First Grade Gives Program

The first grade taught by Miss Janie McLeod, gave an interesting program last Friday morning on "Health," which was enjoyed by the parents who attended.

Little Miss Ann Golden had charge of the program. There was a health drill and several songs. Miss Katherine Blue led one of the songs and had charge of the music. The program was helpful and very interesting.

Death of Mr. Muse

Friends and relatives were shocked to learn of the death of Mr. Powell Muse, of High Point, Monday. Mr. Muse had been very ill for several days with pneumonia, but his death came as a shock. Mr. Muse was reared in Carthage, and has many friends and relatives in Moore county, but had been living in High Point for several years. He leaves a wife and two small children. Interment was made in the city cemetery Tuesday afternoon, the funeral service being conducted by Rev. W. S. Golden, Presbyterian minister.

Funeral of Mrs. Tyson

The funeral of Mrs. Thomas B. Tyson, of Asheboro, was held at White Hill church Monday afternoon. The funeral services were conducted by her pastor, assisted by Dr. W. S. Golden of Carthage. Mrs. Tyson, before her marriage, was Miss Maggie Blackman. She was reared a few miles from Carthage, and has relatives and friends here in Moore County. She is survived by her husband and four children, and many close relatives. The floral offerings were lovely.

FLOODS HALT TRAFFIC IN SOUTH CAROLINA

the roadways at Cheraw and at Mars Bluff, where bridges cross the stream, were reported closed.

In North Carolina no serious flood conditions were reported though streams were full of water following two days of heavy rain. In Guilford and adjacent counties around Greensboro some roads were flooded.

Floods South of Here Make Roads Impassable

That travel by motor south of Moore county is almost impossible due to the overflowing of rivers after the recent rains, especially the Pee Dee river, was evidenced during the week by the frantic appeal of motorists to the Chamber of Commerce in Southern Pines for directions of how best to get further south. Howard Burns, secretary, said on Tuesday that he had been kept busy all day endeavoring to answer routing questions put to him by tourists, and had been busy on the long distance telephone much of the time trying to find out how to route them. He was informed in most all towns to which he telephoned that roads were impassable, and when last interviewed, Secretary Burns had not yet found a way to send tourists through to Charleston, S. C.

The office of the Southern Pines Chamber of Commerce is getting busier every day with appeals from all kinds of people for all kinds of assistance.

Your New Home-- Where Will You Build It?

The Southern Pines Country Club offers unusual home-sites on very good graded roads in the more exclusive Sandhill section, adjacent to the Club golf links. These home-sites are large and attractive. They range in size from 3-4 acre up with trees and shrubbery already growing. Lights and water are provided for.

They are within easy walking distance of the Club-house, many situated on a ridge overlooking the fairways of the course and commanding a wonderful view of the surrounding country. They are all well restricted.

Any real estate agency will be glad to arrange with you for an inspection of the property or you may call on Mr. F. F. Travis, secretary of the Club for further particulars.
