

Bad Policy to Close Schools on Account of Epidemic - Symington

Nearly Every Communicable Disease Can Be Controlled by Preventive Measures

"Now that schools are in full operation practically all over the state, it is well for all health officers to advise the different committeemen, teachers, or other school authorities in every community that it is often had policy to close the school on an account of an epidemic," says Dr. J. Symington, Public Health Officer. The old fashioned plan was, when smallpox or such diseases occurred in a community, to close the school for two or three weeks or longer. That demoralized the whole school business and has been the means of wasting thousands of dollars and stopping the progress of hundreds of schools. The chief purpose such moves have often served has been to increase the spread of epidemic diseases. Naturally when the schools are not in session, the children are mingling with their neighbors and friends anyhow, and there is no hindrance to the spread of communicable diseases.

"With few exceptions at this time, nearly every communicable disease can be controlled through prevention. The health officer can bring into practice the preventive remedies available. Smallpox vaccination and the toxin-antitoxin treatment are both sure preventives against smallpox and diphtheria. Both should be administered long before any child is old enough to attend a public school. Thus common diseases are easily eliminated. For the more common respiratory diseases, a day or two's rest at home for children who are stricken is the best plan of procedure. The fact is that today an epidemic of any disease should be of such proportions as to demand the closing of courts, moving picture theatres, churches, and so on at the same time the public schools be closed. Where an epidemic threatens in a community, the procedure to follow is to immediately notify the health officer and let him make inspections of the pupils present, or have a nurse to make it and report directly to him, and he will then put into effect the modern scientific control methods which are available for all such situations.

"The best time for vaccination against diphtheria is several months before school opens, but if this has been neglected the sooner it is done after school opens the better as there are the severe cold winter months ahead when diphtheria is more prevalent. Typhoid and smallpox vaccinations are immediate in their action."

Recorder's Court

Sam McKenzie, white, was tried in Recorder's Court on Monday for violation of the prohibition law, possessing intoxicating liquor for sale. He was found guilty as charged in the warrant. On the first count he was fined $50 and the costs in the case. On the second, the judgment was six months in jail to be assigned to work on the roads of Moore or any other county by the county commissioners as they in their discretion may make arrangements, this sentence to begin at the expiration of a previous 12 months' sentence which had been suspended. It being found that McKenzie had violated the terms of the judgment of the court in this former case, in that he had failed to pay the fine and the costs and to observe and obey the prohibition laws, it was ordered that this 12 months' sentence begin immediately. Notice of appeal to Superior Court was given and appearance bond fixed at $500. The court holds that no appeal lies from the 12 months' sentence as notice of appeal was not given at the trial Feb. 24, 1930.

George Bracy, a colored boy, was given six months on the roads on a charge of petit larceny. George had stolen a sweater from the woodshed of a man in Southern Pines.

D. J. McLeod pleaded guilty to driving a car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Judgment in his case was a fine of $50 and the costs, his right to drive a car is taken away for 90 days, and 60 days in jail, execution to issue at the will of the court at any time within 2 years.

Among the Aberdeen people who attended the Matchett-Hayes wedding in Southern Pines last Sunday afternoon were Mrs. George Martin, Mrs. H. E. Bowman and Misses Mary and Jeannette Leach.
