

Boyette Expresses Gratitude of Party

Democratic County Chairman Terms Victory at Polls a "Guaranty of Progress"

There was no one happier over the election results on Tuesday than Moseley G. Boyette, chairman of the Moore County Democratic Executive Committee. Asked by The Pilot for a statement the day after election Mr. Boyette, who besides being the county chairman is the efficient prosecuting attorney of the Recorder's Court, said:

"While surveying the splendid results of the election I am moved to express the gratitude of the party, to those men and women, who by their fine cooperation and untiring efforts have achieved such a glorious victory for the Democratic cause, and the cause of good government in Moore county. By their action on Tuesday the people of Moore county have guaranteed for themselves a continuation of the progressive, capable, efficient and economical administration of their government affairs, and a representation in the General Assembly that will reflect credit upon our county.

"I cannot express too strongly the deep appreciation of the organization in this county for the large majorities accorded the Democratic ticket in the Sandhills and which insured the election of each of our candidates. I am confident that the great victory we are just now enjoying presages a greater victory, county, state and national, in 1932."

BREAKS OCTOBER RECORD FOR LOW TEMPERATURE

The average temperature record for October of 1930 drops to a new low of 54-1, 8.7 degrees lower than the normal average and 9 degrees lower than the temperature recorded for last October, apparently removing the Sandhills to the mountains. Using the thirty-five year normal averages as a basis, maximum 74-5; minimum 5 and general average of 62-8 degrees this October fell to a new record, maximum 65-2; minimum 43-1 and average of 54-1, these figures again being in startling contrast to those of October, 1929, maximum 81-2; minimum 45-1 and average 63-1 degrees. Against a normal rainfall of 2.91 inches the month's fall was 3.55 inches, 6.54 inches less than the abnormal rainfall of last October. Twenty days of the month were clear, eight part clear and three with rain, the heaviest fall coming on the 29th with 2.45 inches. The warmest day was the 16th, registering 86 degrees, and the coldest, the 29th registering 26 degrees.

Tobacco Co-Op Taking Shape Under J. R. Page

President of Committee Assisted by George Ross in Setting Up Organization

Under the direction of J. R. Page, of Aberdeen, president of the North Carolina Tobacco organization committee, plans for the perfection of a tobacco cooperative organization in the State are being steadily carried forward.

Mr. Page and George Ross, representative of Governor O. Max Gardner in the movement, have been busy the last few days conferring with farm board members, marketing experts and financial agents regarding production credit and other financial details for setting up the organization. Mr. Page expressed himself pleased at the result of these conferences.

Meanwhile, Dr. J. G. Knapp, of N. C. State College, acting secretary of the organization committee, and W. S. Green, farm board field worker, have been directing a thorough educational campaign in behalf of the co-operative.

The committee decided it would be unwise to attempt to handle any of the 1930 crop through the co-operative and launched into a movement to secure contracts for next year's crop.

With a view of informing prospective members of co-operative associations exactly what they may expect from the organization, Dr. Knapp and Mr. Green have prepared a comprehensive statement setting forth what the organization can and cannot do and comparing it with the old Tri-State association.
