seem to be it is likely that here will be the permanent winter headquarters and training place for the stock.

Mrs. Harriman is also an interested rider and driver, and is prominent in social circles as an accomplished horsewoman and friend of the horse.

The continuing increase of good horses that are found on the Pinehurst tracks and country roads is pointed out by the prophets as one of the forceful influences that are swiftly broadening the whole horizon of the Pinehurst expansion and development, and the definite place the horse is taking in the recreational features of the Sandhills.

LIFE AND DEATH

are still elemental things—veritable and inevitable. A Life Insurance policy should not be considered in the light of semi-hysterical fear, but should be considered with the cool, clear reasoning of investing funds where such investments will give the most complete protection at the least possible cost. We invite investigation, inquiry and discussion of the various forms of policies, their protection and cost.
