Silver Wedding

The Rev. and Mrs. Elmer Willis Serl Married 25 Years Ago New Year's Eve

The Rev. Elmer Willis Serl and Mrs. Serl celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary and the twelfth year of his pastorate in the Church of Wide Fellowship New Year's eve, nearly one hundred friends and parishioners gathered in the assembly room of the church to express their appreciation of his work and to felicitate the happy couple.

er days. Later in life he became postmaster at Aberdeen, which added further to his knowledge of the people of the community. The law further brought him in contact with everybody, while his interest in the old Bethesda church and its traditions balanced his relations with the neighborhood that had its roots clear to the border of Presbyterianism in the Upper Cape Fear valley.

As Mr. Johnson grew older and began to unload some of the responsibilities of rearing his brood which was gaining its own feet, his desire to read from those countries where it was enacted that history and philosophy which he had found in books impelled him to visit the old world. With that Scotch loyalty to tradition and blood that characterizes the clans he devoted much time to the Highland home of his forebears, along with visits to other parts of the old world, and he likewise made the acquaintance of considerable of the United States. He wrote many letters to The Pilot from the places he reached, letters that were read with more than ordinary interest, for he covered the situation from the view point of an educated observer, and he recognized the meaning of every thing that came beneath his eye. The big Mossiel farm that he and his son established on Drowning creek, was named for the Burns home in Scotland, a place Mr. Johnson was personally familiar with, for he was an ardent student of the famous Scottish poet. His writing reached broader field than newspaper correspondence, a volume of English History being one of the most direct narratives of the Kings of England that has been put in print. He published two or three volumes of verse, principally dealing with local topics, although a few productions went wider afield. His style was direct and pleasing. Moore county voted him the county laureate.

The great achievement of his life is the boys and girls he leaves behind him, young folks of character and of standing. One son is a naval officer, advancing to a prominent plane in the service of the country, and another is a leading professional and business man of the community. Intelligent boys and girls all of them, reflecting their ancestry, liked and justly esteemed.

James McNeill Johnson lays down his work with the record of a good job well done, of an influence on community life and a memory that will live substantially among a wide list of friends whose regard is of the serious and enduring type.

lot and the Sandhill Daily News, whose publicity work enabled us to get our many contributions.

The above report was submitted to the Kiwanis Club at its weekly meeting held Wednesday at the Pinehurst Country Club by the Rev. J. Fred Stimson, a member of the committee, the other members, in addition to Chairman Buchan, being the Rev. T. A. Cheatham, the Rev. Murdoch McLeod and Willard Dunlop of Pinehurst, the Rev. E. L. Barber and Murdoch M. Johnson of Aberdeen, John Bloxham of Knollwood and H. Lee Thomas, county superintendent of schools, of Carthage. Dr. J. Symington, county health officer, was a valuable volunteer member of the committee in addition to the above.

A rising vote of thanks was accorded the committee on motion of Frank Shamburger, retiring president of the club.

a visit to relatives at Mt. Airy and Tobaccoville.

E. E. Brantley is spending some time in Columbia, S. C., visiting his son, Robert Brantley.

Mrs. B. C. Rodenhizer of Lynchburg, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hartman of Danville, Va., and Mrs. C. S. George of Reidsville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Barker at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Norris during the holidays.

Theatre

At Pinehurst
For the first time since the advent of the talking moving picture, Ed Wynn, one of the greatest comedians of recent years, will be heard as well as seen on the screen. "The Perfect Fool," who thrilled and amused Broadway last season in "Simple Simon," will be seen at the Pinehurst Theatre this Friday when "Follow The Leader," with Ginger Rogers and Stanley Smith, will feature the bill. "Follow The Leader" is a ripping farce comedy, in which Wynn himself won fame on Broadway when it ran to capacity houses for weeks under the title of "Manhattan Mary." In this story of gangdom, Wynn, with his floppy hat and oversized shoes, is seen as the cheery chef of gangdom's favorite restaurant. Inadvertently, he becomes a hero in the eyes of the gang, and is forced to sustain his reputation. "Follow The Leader" is good fun for young and old and will set the pace for comedy this season.

Practically everyone is familiar with the golf widow, that sadly neglected victim of the man whose days are spent on the links and his nights in endless recountings of the birdies, eagles, and holes-in-one he almost made. But golf widowers were sadly neglected until Fox Movietone produced "Part Time Wife," which exposes the ills of a wife trying to manage the martial bark and at the same time compete in amateur golf tournaments. Edmund Lowe is the golf widower in this attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre, Monday, January 5th. Business worries just about drive him frantic, and he forgets to observe their wedding anniversary. They quarrel, with golf the main cause. How Lowe's business worries increase and his health grows worse until he is ordered to take up the hated game of golf, and how a loving Irish caddy and his mutt dog effect a reconciliation between lovers, makes up the rest of this hilarious film. "Part Time Wife" is an adaptation of the famous Stewart Edward White story, "Shepper Newfounder."

Old world romance and adventure that begins in Budapest's gayest cabaret and then weaves its tempestuous excitement through the richest color of Hungarian countryside serves to introduce Evelyn Laye, one of England's best loved and fairest enchantresses, to the screen in "One Heavenly Night" which comes to the Pinehurst Theatre, Wednesday, January 7th. Not since the days of Jenny Lind had the New York stage witnessed such a tumultuous ovation as that which greeted the debut of Evelyn Laye at the Ziegfeld Theatre last year in Noel Coward's "Bittersweet." Evelyn Laye brings a rich and beautiful voice to the screen while John Boles, her leading man, has already gained fame by his wonderful singing in previous roles, and in the cast is Leon Errol of the accordion legs.

Oh, boy! Look what's coming to the Southern Pines Theatre this Thursday, Friday and Saturday! There have been some funny comedies made since the advent of talkers, but it is safe to say that there hasn't been one that will evoke more real laughs than "Charley's Aunt." From the time Charlie Ruggles makes his appearance the mirth starts and it doesn't end when the picture is over. "Charley's Aunt" is truly a laugh riot and Ruggles is swell in the part of the spurious aunt and he plays the role in a lively fashion. "Charley's Aunt" from Brazil where the nuts come from will put a wide grin on the depressed face of the world. If you want your favorite seat; come early.

Register another triumph for Richard Barthelmess. Coming close on the heels of "Son of the Gods" and "The Dawn Patrol," his newest feature, "The Lash" which is coming to the Southern Pines Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, will establish him not only as one of the finest actors on the screen—which he has been for many years—but most certainly as one of the most consistent screen stars. "The Lash" has everything, adventure, romance, drama, comedy, history and fiction.

MISS KATHERINE BUTNER BRIDE OF PURVIS FERREE

A marriage announcement which came as a surprise to their many friends in Aberdeen and Pinebluff was that of Miss Katherine Wolfe Butner, popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Butner of Pinebluff, and Purvis Ferree, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Ferree of Aberdeen. The wedding, which the young couple have been keeping "up their sleeve" took place at Chesterfield, S. C. on October 24th. Mr. Ferree is associated with the stock brokerage firm of Munds & Winslow, in the Carolina Hotel, Pinehurst.

Aberdeen Social Events

D. A. R. To Meet at Carthage
The January meeting of the Alfred Moore Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be held on next Tuesday afternoon, January 6th, at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. H. F. Seawell in Carthage. All members are urged to attend, and all visiting daughters especially invited.

Mrs. Lockey Hostess
The Stay-A-While Sewing Club held its Christmas meeting last Thursday night, December 26th at the home of Mrs. Forrest Lockey in Aberdeen, and the members enjoyed a most entertaining evening. Besides the appropriate Christmas decorations a beautifully decorated Christmas tree was the center of attraction upon which were dainty gifts from one member to another, and this was followed by interesting Christmas papers by Mrs. Robert Gwyn and Mrs. H. W. Doub.

The regular business period followed the social hour, during which time officers were elected to serve for the coming year. Mrs. H. W. Doub was made president, Mrs. J. F. Deaton, vice-president and Mrs. LeRoy Harrington, secretary and treasurer. At the close of a most enjoyable evening the hostess served her guests with delicious refreshments.
