

Pinehurst Track Is Busy Scene

Many Colts and Older Horses Being Conditioned Here for Grand Circuit Races

The race track at Pinehurst is a busy spot these days where some of the fastest colts and aged horses in the country may be seen in action...

While the intensive training of trotters and pacers in preparation for the contests to take place on the grand circuit and other racing centers next summer will not materialize for a while yet, horses being fitted and kept in condition for the weekly matinees, may be seen frequently at top speed or near it, being prepped to compete with each other on race day.

The next matinee will be held on Wednesday, January 28th, with the following classes: Fifth Annual Carolina Trot; Fifth Annual Country Club Pace; First Annual Mid-South Class.

PINEHURST

The Rev. and Mrs. C. K. Proctor and young son of Oxford were Pinehurst visitors on Sunday. Mr. Proctor, who is Supt. of the Masonic Orphanage at Oxford, was the speaker at both morning and evening services at the Community church.

A most delightful social affair for the younger people, was the party given by Frank Henderson on Saturday evening at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. V. Henderson. Card games were enjoyed throughout the evening.

Miss Minnie Turnbull presented her music pupils in a recital in the school auditorium on Tuesday evening of this week. The numbers were unusually pleasing and the program was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. W. P. Hardin was called to Carnesville, Georgia on Friday by the death of a brother, Doyle Adair, which occurred in Greensboro, Ga., after a brief illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jellison entertained at dinner in their home on Midland Road Monday evening. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Lovejoy and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harrington of Southern Pines.

Friends of Mrs. J. A. Mills will be interested to know that she has entered the Moore County Hospital for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Fitzgerald returned Tuesday from a short stay in New York.

RED CROSS PUTS ON DRIVE TO RAISE QUOTA

At present such a need has arisen, both urgent and on a scale too great for the ordinary resources of the Red Cross. It asks for $10,000,000, which its own investigators and the expert advisers of the Administration at Washington believe will be sufficient.

Mr. Hoover has taken the right position. The emergency calls for a new demonstration of the ready flow of private benevolence in the United States. It is for the American people, not for Congress, to provide whatever may be needed to keep the victims of last Summer's drought from the peril of destitution or actual starvation.

BANK STOCKHOLDERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

At the Annual meeting of the Citizens Bank and Trust Co., held at the bank January 13th, there was a very good representation, more than 80 per cent of the stock being represented.

The result of the election of Directors for the coming year was that the former Board was unanimously re-elected. The President's report for the year 1930 was read and commented on. This showed that the bank had had a fairly good year and met the expectations of the stockholders who were surprised that the business had held up so well under existing depressed conditions.

A meeting of the directors was held immediately after the adjournment of the stockholders meeting, which resulted in the unanimous election of Joseph E. Bernstein, chairman of the board and the following vice-presidents: C. T. Patch, M. G. Nichols and Joseph E. Bernstein. Mr. Nichols being prevailed upon to accept the vice-presidency over his protest.

THREE NOW ENTERED IN ORATORICAL CONTEST

Entrance of three contestants in the Oratorical Contest, being conducted by the Sandhill Post American Legion in Moore County, have been reported to I. C. Sledge, Pinehurst, in charge of the contest in this county, it was learned yesterday. These are Miss Jimmie Cooper, Carthage High School; Andrew Hemphill, Cameron, and Vance Almond, Farm Life School. It is hoped that other entrants will come in this week.

This contest is sponsored annually by the American Legion among the high schools and colleges throughout North Carolina. Suitable prizes are offered in County, District and State Elimination Contests.

Theatre

At Pinehurst

What is most certainly the cleverest display of brilliant acting that film audiences have been privileged to see in many months will be on parade at the Pinehurst Theatre this Friday afternoon and night. "The Royal Family of Broadway" is based on the famous play, "The Royal Family," by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber. It depicts the home life of a leading family of American stage performers well known to every theatre goer not only in America but in Europe.

One of the most successful and brilliant stage comedies of the past decade, "The Queen's Husband," by Robert E. Sherwood, has found its way into Hollywood studios and has emerged as a notable talking picture. For reasons known only to the producers, the title has been changed to "The Royal Bed," which in no way alters the delightful comedy that pleased so many thousands during its long New York run.

At Southern Pines

It is surprising that producers have never given more attention to the pioneer era of American history as a source of story material. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has been highly successful with "The Great Meadow," which is the attraction at the Southern Pines Theatre, this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, using as a background that period that embodied great hardship and adventure. "The Great Meadow" is a story of the settling of Kentucky. It begins in Virginia Colony with the call from Daniel Boone to the young people to make the long and dangerous trek through the mountains to the fertile valley "out West."

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF OF PRACTICAL TYPE

Those having something to do are asked to communicate with the Brotherhood, and also to send to the Brotherhood men who are looking for work. A curious phase of the unemployment relief that has been undertaken in the Sandhills is that some men want work until they get it, and then the desire ceases. Two men sent to work on an outside job stayed long enough to look the situation over and then moved on. Some of the folks who apply for relief do not make out a good case. But in the main this movement is proving of positive relief, and those who have it in hand are anxious to see many calls for work that needs to be done, both for the sake of providing employment as well as to improve the general appearance of the lands and surroundings of the whole Sandhills country.

"FESTIVAL" TERMED BEST WORK OF STRUTHERS BURT

Dorn like one of us in his inability to reconcile the bewildering elements of his personal life. And you will remember and like as individuals old Alan Bostwick, and the wise Leedom Craigie, and many more.

There is a great deal about sex in this book, as there must be in any book written about people of today. After the numerous cheap and flashy novels which are always dealing turbidly with the subject, it is a relief and a satisfaction to find that in Mr. Burt we have today at least one novelist who can write about sex broadly, with sanity and truth, and without one single trace of cheapness. He brings out to the fullest extent the power, beauty and importance of sex in modern life, and gives it the dignity it deserves.

In short, "Festival" is a stimulating, up-to-the-minute, and very personal book, written by a man who is a philosopher and a poet, as well as a first rate novelist.

HEAD OF SIX NATIONS HERE ON BUSINESS

tion of many of the crops that are to this day foremost among the agricultural products. Corn, tobacco, the potato, some of the best known garden vegetables, have been the contribution of the Indian to the world's subsistence. More than that some of the prominent men of the United States are of Indian blood. Gen. Ely S. Parker, on Grant's staff during the Civil War, wrote the agreement of surrender between Lee and Grant at Appomattox.

With Buffalo Bill

Chief Pinetree is an interesting character. When Buffalo Bill was carrying on his Wild Show he went to the Tuscarora reservation to secure a chief to tour with him, and this young man, then Chief Rolling Bear of the Tuscaroras, joined the picturesque outfit. It gave him a great advantage of travel, which he continued for some time, but ultimately returned, and in due time he was advanced to be the head of the federation of the six tribes.

ly. returned, and in due time he was advanced to be the head of the federation of the six tribes. He talks English intelligently, and is well informed on many things not as familiar to many white men as they might be. The chief is associated with the Bible school maintained in his neighborhood, and while he has a certain affiliation with the God of the White man his own Great Spirit appeals to him as the ideal of a creator and leader of the Universe. He talks in entertaining manner of the relation of the races in the past, for he is right familiar with the history of the country.

The duration of his stay in the South he does not know, as he wants to investigate the ownership of the lands and the claim of his tribe on the heritage they leased to the white men some two centuries ago, and he does not know what progress he will make in his investigations. The claims are in the eastern part of the state, principally in the Neuse and Roanoke river country.

TO OUR FRIENDS—The Tobacco Growers of Central North Carolina—

The Sanford Tobacco Market will close January 30th, meaning you have only nine more days to sell tobacco on this market.

As in horse racing, the market men and buyers will try their best to make the last lap interesting to you in the way of prices, providing you bring them a good quality of tobacco. Don't bring them the low grade and carry the better grades to other markets.

You did not better yourself on other markets for the highest average run throughout the season was only a few points higher than Sanford Market, according to the government report.

BRING THAT GOOD TOBACCO HERE AND WATCH THE SANFORD MARKET CROSS THE TAPE AHEAD IN PRICE AVERAGE. COME ON BOYS, LET'S BEAT THEM. TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS TO BRING THEIR TOBACCO. NINE MORE SALE DAYS AND THEN WE BID YOU ADIEU UNTIL NEXT SEPTEMBER.
