

THE WEEK IN VASS

The ladies of the Vass Presbyterian Auxiliary held their foreign mission study on Friday of last week at the church. In the absence of Mrs. N. N. McLean, the vice-president, Mrs. R. G. Rosser, presided. The devotionals were conducted by the Rev. Charles A. Lawrence, and Mrs. Copeland presided at the piano.

The book, "The Field is the World," was ably reviewed by Mrs. E. L. Barber of Aberdeen and was enjoyed very much by the members of the auxiliary. Mrs. Murdoch McLeod of Pinehurst was a visitor.

At the conclusion of the study, the auxiliary members and guests were invited to the home of Mrs. D. A. McLaughlin where refreshments were served.

Woman's Club Meets

An interesting meeting of the Woman's Club of Vass is being planned for seven-thirty o'clock Friday evening of this week. The literary department will present the program and Mrs. G. W. Brooks, Miss Rosa Giles and Mrs. H. A. Borst will serve as hostesses.

There are several versions of the story of the affray. McDonald was arrested and the case will come up at Carthage next Monday.

SANDHILLS TO SEE RETURN OF STAGE COACH

this new diversion will be like seeing friends from home. Half a century ago the old Concord stage and the mail coaches traversed this country and much of the old world. Gradually the railroad took away their traffic even to the remotest corners. But the coaches played a tremendous part in modern civilization and in the development and creation of this nation. It is a pleasant dream that turns the pages to the noon day of long ago when the old red coach came down the hill at the edge of the village old Jim Clarke, making a bluff with his foot on the brake at checking the speed of his four-horse team. Down to the tavern they came, one or two passengers on top, trunks in the boot, with mail bags and passengers inside to unload for dinner and then catch the other coach for a continuation of the journey. With a magnificent gesture of his whip, a friendly oath and a pull on the ribbons, the big red wagon swung around and the hostler used to say that Jim could turn on a postage stamp, and the craft pulled up in front of the post-office, unloaded and then headed for the barn. The village had seen the mail come in, the small boys resumed their journey homeward on their way from school and for another day excitement subsided.

Never again will it be such an event to see a coach and four roll in. Nevertheless we will all stand by and look on to see a skilled driver bring his four horses up the road, probably his passengers in gay apparel, a dozen of them on the top, possibly that long coaching horn with its brilliant notes sounding its simple call for the road or for the turn, scurrying by, with its moment of excitement and pleasure—certainly the coach in the Sandhills has possibilities.

This new phase of acquaintance with the horse will meet with a welcome in this community. It is pleasing to be able to repeat what has been remarked several times recently—that the horse seems to be a close second to golf in community sports and enjoyment.

Names Estate "The Corral"

Mr. Knight has named his new winter residence here "The Corral."

Mr. Knight is the son of C. P. Knight who was one of the founders of the well-known firm of B. B. & R. Knight, who for many years were among the most successful cotton manufacturers of New England with factories in Providence.

His family will occupy "The Corral" winters, and Mr. Knight will spend as much time here as his business interests in the North will permit. He is a member of the Hope Club and the Agawam Hunt Club, of Providence, and the Jacob's Hill Hunt Club, of Seekonk, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight have a son and daughter, and they will be cordially welcomed to the equestrian and social activities of the section.

Mrs. Knight is the daughter of Hon. Charles R. Curtis, vice president of the United States, who will doubtless visit them when occasion affords.

YEGGS BLOW SAFE IN POSTOFFICE AT VASS

iff McDonald investigated the robbery early Monday morning.

The Vass Mercantile grocery store was entered also and it is thought by the same parties as the handle of a hatchet which belonged to Mrs. Matthews was left in the postoffice, and a hatchet without a handle was found in the store, along with an iron mallet with which the robbers pried open the front doors of the store building. Here they helped themselves to several loaves of bread, some candy and a supply of smoking tobacco. Upon their departure, they waited to close the door.

A scar on the front of the Wiggins drug store indicates that the marauders considered entering that, but changed their minds.

272 SEEK JOBS AT RELIEF OFFICE IN SOUTHERN PINES

ene and the building of parkways and sidewalks on the highway gave work to more than 70 men this week. Each crew is given two days work in order to distribute the work to as many men as possible. The payroll: each week from now until the work is completed will run $400. It is now conservatively estimated that $5,000 will be required to finish the two projects. It is planned to make the highway one of the most attractive streets in the village which will do a great deal to advertise Southern Pines. There are now a large number of business men and winter visitors of Southern Pines that are giving their time and money to this worthy cause. The Committee of Unemployment agpeals to every citizen of Southern Pines to contribute and to help the suffering that is being caused due to the lack of employment. Through the co-operation of the Mayor and Town Commissioners these public improvements are made possible without a burdensome tax to the property owners of the community. If you have any work that you want done even for a short time, or if you have any funds you can give to this cause, please call the employment office 6582 or call by to see them and a hearty welcome awaits you.
