AL SMITH ENDORSES GOV. GARDNER'S PLAN

carefully and that it seemed to him that the plan is erroneously referred to as "centralization of powers."

"It is not 'centralization,'" said Mr. Smith. "It is 'simplification.' Gardner does not propose to take powers from town and county governments, he only wants to simplify the existing state government. He wants to combine some of the many commissions, boards and offices that are connected with the running of the State government, and in doing this he is just following the lead of some of the larger eastern states who a few years ago pruned down their governments."

"You know you people down here have too many officers, anyway," said the former governor with a smile. "If a man wants to be a surgeon he is sent before one board, if he wants to be a chiropractor, he is sent before another, and if he wants to be a doctor, he is sent before still another. Why not do away with some of these as Gardner proposes to do?"

"No man living can tell—one man's opinion is just as good as another's," was Smith's only answer as to whether or not prohibition would be the main issue in the 1932 campaign. "It is absolutely impossible to tell what the majority of the people want in regard to the whisky question," Mr. Smith pointed out. "It is clearly shown that some of the northern and eastern states would favor repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment, but no one knows how the vast majority of the people feel about it. Any answer would be purely a guess."

Asked what he thought of the Sandhills section of the state, Mr. Smith replied that "it is fine country, although I have not seen much of it yet."

"We just got in this morning, and I observed Lincoln's birthday anniversary by taking a rest. However, I plan to get in a round or so of golf tomorrow," explained Mr. Smith.

GOV. SAYS HIGHWAY PLAN ASSURES TAX RELIEF

through working convicts spend the bulk of the $6,600,000 spent annually for maintenance. These 47 counties having convicts spend almost $5,000,000, while the 53 smaller counties not having convict camps spend a little less than $1,600,000. The counties with convict camps spend more than three times as much as the larger number of counties without convict camps. The report of the Tax Commission shows that convict counties spend an average of $182 per mile for maintenance for each mile of road maintained, whereas the smaller counties average only $90 per mile.

The Governor's position is that state maintenance means cheaper maintenance and also means the transference of the tax burden from where it does not belong—that is, on property, to the place and persons on whom it does belong—that is, to the gasoline tax.

MAKES APPEAL FOR SUPPORT OF UNEMPLOYMENT COMMITTEE

ganized, economically, wisely and with extraordinary expedition. I think its plans are excellent. Its two major plans, the extension of Pennsylvania Avenue and the planting of May street, whether you approve of them or not, are what the majority of the citizens of the town desire. This was discovered with patience and by consultation. The minor objectives of the committee are being aimed at with greater and greater precision. It is only natural that at first the unfit amongst the unemployed had to be weeded out. Just because, in the first days of the committee, you may have had some man sent you who was no good, do not figure that that was the committee's intention, nor that it will happen again. The intention of the committee to kill two birds with one stone; that is, to employ the unemployed to improve the town of Southern Pines could not be bettered.

But there was not enough work, as things were, to go around. That is, there was plenty of work—there always is, but the town was not rich enough, without further taxation, to pay for it. We must pay for it; you, I, all of us. And the sooner we do, the less we will be bothered either by our conscience or by the solicitors who, otherwise, will surely come to your doors. Two days ago stocks in New York went up and the great drought in the Southwest was broken. Pretty soon spring will come and a lot of our unemployed will be growing potatoes and other things, and won't be starving any more. I, for one, would hate to have the spring come and better times, and reflect that, while these people were starving, I ate and they didn't.

Theatre

At Pinehurst

Just imagine a college picture without a football game and the hero making the winning touchdown in the last minute of play! Sounds queer, yet they say it can be done and that it is done in "Girls Demand Excitement" the Fox Movietone comedy which is the attraction at the Paramount Theatre this Friday. The story is of college life with the boys of the university determined to outdo the girl students and eliminate co-education in their alma mater. In addition to John Wayne and Virginia Cherrill who enact the romantic leads and Marguerite Churchill, last seen opposite Wayne in Raoul Walsh's, "The Big Trail" who is also featured, "Girls Demand Excitement" has a score of the most promising juvenile players in important roles.

The relationship of man and woman in marriage is one of the most fruitful sources of drama to be found. It poses many problems right to the hand of the dramatist, novelist and scenarist. Is the institution of marriage doomed? Is marriage sex slavery with the wife the prisoner? Is the wedding ceremony the enemy of love? Many novels, plays and pictures have been written around these questions but there are always new and engrossing angles to the problems the marriage relationship poses. A number of them have been caught by Edith Fitzgerald and Robert Riskin in "Illicit," which is the attraction at Pinehurst, Monday night, with Barbara Stanwyck and James Rennie in the leading roles. Miss Stanwyck, whose big stage hit in "Burlesque" is still remembered, is starred in "Illicit" which offers her one of the finest screen roles of the year.

Last season a sensational New York stage hit, "The Criminal Code" by Martin Flavin, won the Theatre Club Trophy as the best play of the year. It is the attraction in its picturized form at the Pinehurst Theatre, Wednesday, February 18th, and it has gained appreciably with its transition to the talking films. It emerges as the most powerful and startling prison romance yet made. As Warden Brady, Walter Huston gives a tenaciously powerful and human portrayal which has been universally acclaimed while Phillips Holmes as the youthful convict comes through with a dramatic performance which is unexcelled on the sound screen.

At Southern Pines

The struggle of the red-headed "Millie" to find a pair of male eyes capable of seeing past her beauty into the sincerity of her heart provides a fine dramatic structure for Radio pictures' "Millie" which is the attraction at the Southern Pines Theatre this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Millie's story, although not unusual in life, is decidedly new screen material. It has been called "the drama of the right girl who met the wrong man" and it is just that. Adapted from the Donald Henderson Clarke novel of the same name, "Millie" has been transferred to the talking screen with fine dramatic results. Helen Twelvetrees as the fiery-haired heroine undoubtedly will be hailed throughout the country for her enactment of this role which requires the handling of so many varied emotions. Brilliant support is accorded by Lil-yan Tashman, smooth, suave blonde beauty; Robert Ames, one of the most likable of young leads; Joan Blondell, sensational new find; John Halliday, one of the foremost recruits from the Broadway legitimate stage; James Hall of "Hell's Angels" fame and Carmelita Geraghty.

"Dance, Fools Dance," which will be the attraction at the Southern Pines Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's latest talking picture starring Joan Crawford. This is the most glamorous of Miss Crawford's recent roles, reflecting both the glitter of "Our Blushing Brides" and the tragic drama of "Paid" her last two screen offerings. The story with a Chicago lo-cale, principally concerns the under-world and newspaper life of the metropolis. Miss Crawford plays the role of a society girl, reduced to poverty, who turns to newspaper work for a livelihood. Lester Vail plays opposite Miss Crawford and the brilliant supporting cast includes Cliff Edwards, (Ukulele Ike) William Bakewell, Natalie Moorhead, Joan Marsh, William Holden and Earl Foxe.
