Various reports were handed in for the year. The treasurer reported an amount of almost $100 on hand after all expenses for the year have been paid. Winter Visitor Reports Serious Forest Fire

Prompt Action of Philadelphia Sportsman Results in Prevention of Much Damage

A forest fire discovered by Mr. J. O'Donnell of Philadelphia, in the region between Chapin's orchard and Roseland would probably have caused untold property damage and possibly loss of life but for Mr. O'Donnell's calling of the Forest Fire Department in charge of Horace Kelly and [the farmers' untiring efforts after their arrival and until the fire was subdued.

Pinehurst needs more visitors of Mr. O'Donnell's calibre to insure the continuance of its reputation for beautiful forests and fields and well-stocked game covers. Fire is the worst enemy of game birds, especially during the nesting season.

The Philadelphian is a hunter and an all-round sportsman and a great booster for conservation as well as propagation.

There are three fundamental institutions essential to the proper development of any resort.

They are churches, schools and banking facilities. Of course the last mentioned is not demanded or even justified until the village has reached considerable proportions, but the time is sure to come when continued growth will be seriously impeded by the lack of a bank.

In 1914 it appeared that Pinehurst would support such an institution, so the Bank of Pinehurst was founded with a $12,000 capital. Its rapid growth proved that the demand already existed, and in a few years it had grown until its capital was $10,000 and its resources around a million. A new building was erected to afford necessary accommodation, where every facility for the very best of banking service is provided.

Mr. R. S. Tufts is Chairman of the Board and Mr. F. W. Von Canon is President. The Board of Directors comprises men of long residence and varied business experience in the Sandhills.
