Moore County Tenant Farmers Who Do Not Work Crops Can Be Dispossessed

A bill introduced by Senator Murdoch Johnson to place Moore county under the provisions of Section 2366 of the Consolidated Statutes of North Carolina was among those passed on the last day of the 1931 record legislature. The measure provides for the dispossession of farm tenants who refuse to work their crops, through proceedings in a court of a justice of the peace, and it did not previously apply to this county.

pressive. Violin music was furnished by Misses Margaret Thomas and Marie Parker. The children of the different churches gave recitations and songs. Dinner was served on the church grounds. The day's program was enjoyed by everyone.

capacity as head of the finance committee.

Lawson Ostine of Rockingham talked to the club about agriculture and the work that is being done throughout the South and particularly in North Carolina to educate young farmers to become better educated and equipped to carry on the agricultural work of the south.

There was a short debate at the meeting over whether or not the recent legislature should have imposed a tax on bachelors. Senator Johnson had the affirmative and the Rev. J. Fred Stimson the negative. The latter was awarded the size, a box of candy, on his argument that bachelors could not afford a tax because "courtn' these days is to expensive anyway. We can't stand any additional expense."
