The "Willing Hearts," mission band of the Presbyterian church, with Mrs. J. E. Snow as leader, held their meeting in the church last Sunday morning. These little folks often bring produce of various kinds to Mrs. Snow, which she sells at the curb market in Southern Pines, and in this way they increase their contributions to missions.

Mrs. H. P. McPherson entertained her Sunday school class of eleven young girls at her home last Monday afternoon. Games were enjoyed and the guests, under the supervision of Mrs. McPherson, made fancy candy, after which a stroll in the woods with wading in a stream closed the jolly outing. Little Jean and Nancy Ferguson of Chicago were guests of the class.

Monday closed the dewberry season, only two buyers being present. Four trucks left for the New York market. However, a few more truck loads will probably go out during the week. The prices Monday were low, averaging about $1.85 a crate.

An accident occurred one night last week when an automobile filled with negroes ran into the depot, hitting one end with such force it was moved two inches. Fortunately no one was injured.

Mrs. H. C. Gibson of Rockingham, nee Miss Bonnie Muse, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Janie Muse, while here finished a "Yo-Yo" quilt composed of 1,200 "yo-yos" (or round pieces). In making this lovely spread Mrs. Gibson used the thimble and scissors of her great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Tyson. These articles are much over 100 years old.

Annual Fight Against Boll Weevil Launched

Poisoning Demonstrations Put On a Farm Near Eagle Springs and Union Church

By E. H. Garrison
County Agent

Farmers are beginning in earnest to poison for boll weevils now. In a great many fields the weevils are beginning to show up right along. These are being found right in the bud mostly, and will continue to work there until the squares begin to form. Demonstrations of this poisoning are being put on with Mrs. Sallie Currie and W. G. Caldwell, near Union Church, and with E. C. Mattheson near Eagle Springs. On these demonstrations both dust and molasses poison are being tried out on different plots but in most cases only the molasses poison is being used. This mixture is made by using 1 pound of Calcium Arsenate, 1 gallon of black molasses, and 1 gallon of water. For this reason it is generally spoken of as a 1-1-1 Mixture. For all practical purposes this can be satisfactorily applied with a small mop, made by attaching a small strip from a feed or fertilizer bag on a stock and then cutting it into strips to form a mop. This method of application may be used until the cotton is practically grown, and has been found to be very beneficial.

In case this first application of poison has not been applied it should be put on as soon as there is a ten per cent infestation. This is determined by making a count of punctured squares. Select several plots in the field and count one hundred squares. The number of punctured ones will give you approximately the percentage for the field. If there are as many as ten of the hundred counted, found to be punctured this is a ten per cent infestation, etc.

Demonstrations of this poisoning and making of mops for applying poison will be gladly put on for anyone interested in the work. The cost of the poison and application of same is very inexpensive and will pay for the time spent in putting on same.

Advanced Refrigeration

Continually working for the advancement of domestic electric refrigeration, engineers of Frigidaire Corporation have made it possible for this General Motors subsidiary year to present a household refrigerator with many refinements and improvements, according to an announcement by the local representative. Economy, efficiency and beauty have been the guiding stars of these engineers and as a result the Frigidaire of today operates at much lower cost, freezes more ice cubes faster, has an interior and exterior finish of durable white porcelain-on-steel and provides more shelf space than before.

You are cordially invited to view the new model FRIGIDAIREs now showing in our warerooms.
