Weymouth Heights
Southern Pines, N. C.

The weak spot about Weymouth is that there is only one of the kind.

Only one high ridge overshadowing the thrifty village of Southern Pines, looking out over the country for miles in all directions, with original pine forest trees standing as they stood several hundred years ago, provided with modern roads, modern light and water facilities, modern light and water facilities, modern homes of the highest type to be found in Central North Carolina, all the attractions of the well-known winter resort and summer home community, and none of the undesirable conditions so frequently found in many admirable places.

Weymouth Heights has no Mary Ann back yard to impair a Queen Anne front. Weymouth Heights has no back yard. Weymouth is attractive from every approach, and unique in that respect.

IT HAD TO BE GOOD TO GET WHERE IT IS

By M. R.-Dunnagan, The Pilot's Raleigh Correspondent

Now that four candidates have announced for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate, each an excellent showman in his own peculiar way, that contest is expected to begin to take on color, life and animation that will place it, almost, if not entirely, in a class by itself in North Carolina political campaigns.

The latest word has come from A. L. Brooks, Greensboro, who has left the way open for entry later, if he deems it advisable or expedient to make a quintet of it, or if it gets still further into a free-for-all Mr. Brooks is not expected to enter, unless, by some chance, Thomas C. (Tam) Bowie, of West Jefferson, the latest entrant, should retire from the race, and that is not on the horizon. Mr. Brooks and Mr. Bowie have conferred about it, probably before, but certainly at lunch on the day Mr. Bowie's announcement appeared, a week or more ago. Mr. Bowie admits that it is considered that they have an understanding, had one before Mr. Bowie announced, and that Mr. Brooks is not to get in unless Mr. Bowie gets out, although the Brooks statement leaves him free to do as he pleases.

Mr. Bowie wants to run for Governor five or six years later, and has told friends of his purpose, conditionally. That is why his platform seems more appropriate to a gubernatorial campaign than a senatorial contest, in that he is a tax-reliever, primarily. He may add planks that are more in line with his present desire to go to the Senate.

Frank D. Grist, commissioner of labor, and first to announce opposition to Senator Cameron Morrison, with the bulk of his duties taken from him and with no apparent desire to reorganize the Department of Labor as provided by the 1931 law, is left free to conduct a campaign which is expected to have many elements of the spectacular. Senator Morrison refused, some two years ago, to shake hands with him in the Governor's office. Grist is paying him.

Robert R. Reynolds, Asheville, probably the best showman of the bunch, has announced on a modification platform. While all available evidences seem to indicate a trend toward a let-up in the prohibition laws, and people now can vote one way and talk another, it is not considered likely that he will be able to overturn the long established dry sentiment in the state. But he will make a showing, for he doubtless lies awake nights thinking up stunts that will get him into the limelight, even if the novelty of his showmanship has been worn off by the two campaigns in recent years.

But Senator Morrison will continue along his way, probably annoyed, but not particularly worried, by the increasing number of opponents. As he has said, it will serve to split his opposition. He has enemies who would like to see him defeated. Some developed during his campaign and others in his term as Governor. Still others opposed his Al Smith support. Many of these came back to him when he caused the appointment of Frank R. McNinch, leader of the Smith opposition, to the Federal Power Commission, and others were alienated by that same act. They will use the fact that he has and will use money in the campaign, against him.

However, friends of Senator Morrison points out he is a patriotic and a loyal North Carolinian, and he is absolutely fearless, two traits which the citizens of this state admire. He had those qualities before he had money and has lost none of either of them. Moreover, he spoke out in public in his gubernatorial campaign and, although 10 years have been added to his age, he may be expected to conduct a lively campaign for the Senate. He has a strong nucleus of supporters in almost every county in the state to start with.

Earlier entries and spectacular entrants in the Senatorial race will have the effect of forcing out the candidates for Governor from two to four months earlier than the usual first of the year starting time. It will mean a long and sustained gubernatorial fight, with headquarters and managers and travel and expenses for a longer period. This is a prospect which none of the prospective candidates, all with modest fortunes, relishes. At best, not one of them could begin to bear his own expenses without seriously crippling his financial condition, and it may have the effect of causing some of the present prospects to drop from the list.

Another interesting development in that race. A movement is under way to bring out Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the State University, as a gubernatorial candidate. Whether it is friends, trying to do him an honor, either by actually getting him out for the governorship, or getting him in line for the presidency of the greater University, or enemies trying to "muddy the water" for the latter position, is not known. The assertion that the state needs a "liberal" governor, indicates that it is friends, but probably without his knowledge or consent.

Friends of A. J. Maxwell are more insistent that the Commissioner of Revenue will be in the race, and within a month or two. This week, in an address at Selma, he took definite issue with Lieutenant Governor R. T. Fountain, who had stated that local self-government is being usurped by the State. Mr. Maxwell stated that the Local Government Act, most assailed as usurpation, is in reality giving back to the people some of the power they originally had under the Constitution and which has been lost by court decisions. The commission, he said, stands between them and local officials who might be and have been induced to spend bond money needlessly. Willis Smith, speaker of the House, had previously taken issue with Mr. Fountain, referring to the "ancient shibboleth" and "fetish" of local self-government.

Among other political moves is the announcement of Stacy W. Wade, former insurance commissioner, for Secretary of State James A. Hartness' job, and prospects of B. F. (Fitz) Smith, Senate reading clerk for several years, entering the contest for Commissioner of Labor with a dozen other prospects.

The State Board of Equalization, in session last week, finds that the budgets submitted to it by county officials indicate a requirement for about $22,000,000 to operate the public schools next year, when only $17,000,000 is available for that purpose. The board will find it necessary to trim the county budgets an average of 20 per cent or more, which is expected to include the 10 per cent cut in teacher salaries. Salaries are not to be cut more than 10 per cent, and not to that extent if funds are available, the act of the General Assembly provides.

Ed Hugh Lee, Raleigh tax collector for several years, has been indicted for embezzling city funds over a period of years, his alleged confession placing the amount at about $30,000, while auditors state it will exceed that amount. He waived preliminary hearing and is held for Superior under $3,000 bond.

Another Raleigh development, of interest to the state is a hitch in the preparations for erecting a city auditorium on the Centennial School site at the south end of Fayetteville street. Payment for demolishing the burned auditorium and for removing the school building on the new site, and for plans for the new auditorium, out of the insurance money from the old building, are causing the trouble. The last legislature enacted a law directing that the insurance money be turned over to the new building commission, but a part of it has been spent. Just another temporary snag.

No Pay, No Water, New Rule in Aberdeen

Rents Must Be Paid By Tenth of Month or Water Shut Off on 11th

Notice has been sent to water consumers of Aberdeen that henceforth the ordinance requiring payment of water rents will be rigidly enforced, and water service discontinued without notice on the morning of the 11th of the month if payment is not made by the 10th. Says City Clerk W. T. Huntley in his letter to the citizenry: "Payment may be made to the collector at any time up to six p. m. on the tenth of each month. On the tenth of each month the collector will be in the Town Office from seven a. m. until six p. m., for the purpose of receiving payment. After that hour no further payments will be received, but as above stated, the service will be discontinued on the morning of the eleventh, and a fee of one dollar in all cases will be required for the restoration of the service. All re-connections must be made by the town. Any persons making re-connections where service has been suspended will be promptly prosecuted."

"Water users well understand that the town cannot afford to have its officers take time required for other more important duties throughout the month in making these collections. The rule works no hardship and it is a hardship and unnecessary expense on the town to do otherwise.

"The town has no desire to cause any person inconvenience or embarrassment, and is driven to the strict enforcement of the ordinance from necessity and not from choice. It confidently expects the full co-operation of all consumers of water."

U. S. NO. 1 NEAR CAMERON TO BE OPENED AUGUST 20

State Highway Commissioner E. B. Jeffress announced this week that route No. 74 between Albemarle and Troy will be opened to traffic August 20. This link, closed for a number of months, forms a part of the "short route" between Charlotte and Raleigh.

On the same day route No. 50, (U. S. No. 1) in Lee and Moore counties will be opened.

Pouring of concrete on the Boone to Wilkesboro link of the Boone Trail highway No. 60, was completed yesterday and will be opened to traffic August 24.

The Chimney Rock to Asheville link of route No. 20 also will be opened August 24.

ATTEND SHORT COURSE

Six Moore county 4-H Club girls attended the short course held at State College in Raleigh last week, and were very much benefitted by the instruction given there. They are Esther Hurley, Jackson Springs; Margaret McLeod, Eureka; Frances Hussey, Mae Smith and Lucile Mashburn of High Falls, and Margaret Wilcox of Carthage.

free wheelingly speaking by don herold

I'd pay several cents a mile extra for that Free Wheeling sensation in my Studebaker—if I had to.

But the joke is, it doesn't cost money—it saves me money.

A Studebaker is well when running along with the motor engaged, but it is those moments of momentum—those miles of Free Wheeling—which give me my grandest thrills . . . and these don't cost—they PAY.

I sail along, manufacturing miles and money!

About one mile in seven or six or five is free—because you save from a seventh to a fifth of your gas and oil.

Seems to me ridick to buy a car without Free Wheeling—when you can get a real Free Wheeling Studebaker for $845.

This is the lowest priced Six with Free Wheeling as standard equipment engineered from tip to tail to give you the fullest benefits of Free Wheeling in its finest form.

GRASS SEED FOR FALL SOWING AT THE

Pinehurst Warehouses, Inc.

PINEHURST, N. C.

AND AT PRICES CORRESPONDING WITH THE REDUCTIONS IN OTHER THINGS.

One of the big influences Pinehurst has exerted in this section is the success with which making lawns and grass covers is attained.

No more marked change has affected the Sandhills than that transformation from white sand to green lawn. And it is as easy as falling off of a log. A little of the proper kind of grass seed, a little fertilizer, a little work, and the rest takes care of itself.

THE KINDS TO PLANT.

This has been worked out so positively that everybody knows the varieties. Italian Rye Grass and Pinehurst Special Mixtures. These types are bought in car load at the Warehouses, and prices are made on the basis of these large quantity purchases. Cleaned and re-cleaned seed, or a cheaper type if desired. Foreign and home grown seed at prices that are not worth hesitating about. Plant everything to grass this fall and continue that remarkable reputation the Sandhills has gained by its grass and floral display all the year. Fertilizers mixed from the proper formulas for grass are in stock in large quantity for use with the grass seed.
