

S. A. L. GOLFERS FIGHT IT OUT AT SOUTHERN PINES

Enjoy Gala Week-End, Elect Bagwell President and Vote to Return

MANY WIN TROPHIES

Even better than last year, not quite so warm and with cooler breezes was the gift of three glorious days given the Seaboard Railway golfers in Southern Pines over Labor Day.

Among the notables prominent in the railway world were numbered C. R. Capps, E. C. Bagwell, C. W. Parsons, E. W. Smith and L. R. Powell of the Seaboard, arriving in their private car, and G. R. Carlton, L. V. Burns, C. E. Miller, J. C. Wroton, C. H. Gaddis, G. C. Phillips, W. J. Fawcett and J. R. Kirby, also prominent Seaboard officials.

Visiting officials included W. D. Duke, general manager, J. M. Merdison, W. A. Aiken, Jr., William Taylor and Phil Browden of the R. F. and P., and W. W. Finlay, Jr., J. T. Ranson, Walter Buckner and W. H. Baker of the Pennsylvania system.

Three days of hard play brought to the fore as principal prize winners, A. D. Williamson, Championship Cup; W. H. King, III, President's Cup; Charles Gregory, Charles R. Capps Cup; J. R. Cooke, Southern Pines Country Club Cup; W. H. King, III, qualifying medalist, also winner of Putting Contest; George Blake, driving contest; F. Page, Jr., Visitors' Cup. Mr. King won the President's cup in 1929.

Bagwell President

Following the presentation of prizes came the annual election of officers. E. C. Bagwell, general manager of the Seaboard, was elected president; G. Z. Phillips and C. E. Miller, vice presidents, and R. T. Etheridge, secretary-treasurer. Following the report of the executive committee it was unanimously voted to hold the next annual meeting and contest in Southern Pines on Labor Day, 1932.

SEABOARD RECEIVER LOOKS FOR GOOD SEASON HERE

rebuild the roads could be provided from any source.

Another matter that came up was the responsibility of the vehicle on the highways. Railroads are held to strict account for everything they do, and for every accident or loss, which is not quite the attitude of the law towards the gasoline vehicle on the public road.

"Our bunch here is not on a business mission on this occasion in Southern Pines. They have come down for a holiday and a social meet. Most of them are our office and department men, but they have with them some friends from some of the other roads. The affair is purely an outing, although they are keeping an eye open for what they can see, for all Seaboard men are interested in the Seaboard country. They have a desire to know what service is needed and most acceptable throughout our field, and their theory is that for the road to benefit it must be of service to its patrons. We think that is going to bring us our share of prosperity as prosperity unfolds. But I am not looking for a revival of business through any magical influences. Neither am I alarmed greatly over the prospect, for I think we are gradually getting on a more substantial footing, and that as we all get to digging in individually, forgetting our scares, and supplementing our optimism with the determination to drive ahead in energetic manner we will come out all right in due season."

The Seaboard is having a pretty good freight business for this time of the year.

Three in a Year

For the third time within a year, Chief of Police Beasley of Southern Pines arrested a man wanted for murder last Sunday.

Following the receipt of a message from W. T. Graybeal, commonwealth attorney of Buena Vista, Virginia, asking for the apprehension of Tom Little, colored, charged with the killing of another negro in a fight last Friday night, Chief Beasley started on the warpath. Little, reported to be a Southern Pines resident, was traced to a house near McDeed's Creek and there Beasley got him. He was lodged in a local jail from Sunday until called for by officers from Virginia on Wednesday.

SANDHILLS TO AID IN CELEBRATION OF U. S. 1 COMPLETION

Many From Here to Attend Gala Festivities at Cheraw Next Thursday

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Many from the Sandhills are planning to join with those of other sections along U. S. Highway No. 1 at Cheraw next Thursday, September 17th in celebration of the completion of the last link in the long ribbon of 2,433 miles of hard-surfaced road from Maine to Florida.

Mayor R. A. Rouse of Cheraw was a visitor in Aberdeen and Southern Pines on Wednesday and told The Pilot of the big plans for the celebration. He said that Governor Gardner planned to be present if possible, and if unable to do so, to send someone high up in the councils of state.

"They are coming, from Maine to Florida," Mayor Rouse said, stressing the nation-wide importance of the event. "We have had publicity in more than 150 papers, extending from Key West to South Poland, Me., and are expecting the attendance of a number of special writers of tourist activities and resort interests from large metropolitan dailies."

Celebration Features

The main celebration will be held in Cheraw on Thursday from 12 to 2:30 o'clock with public speaking and band music by the 118th Infantry Band of thirty pieces. Governor I. C. Blackwood of South Carolina will have charge of the formal opening of the road and preside at the general ceremonies. The main speaker of the occasion is to be announced later.

Following the exercises a luncheon will be served in honor of distinguished guests.

The exercises will be held in the town square with speaking from a balcony and sufficient amplifiers to enable a great crowd to hear the exercises perfectly.

Thursday night a beauty contest will be held to choose the queen of U. S. Highway No. 1, who will rule at the big street dance which will be held, at which one of the best orchestras in the South will play and which it is expected will be attended by a thousand couples.

NEW GRANDSTAND MAY MEAN WINTER BASEBALL

Through the efforts of several public spirited citizens the Southern Pines ball team has a real grandstand capable of seating about one hundred spectators who will be amply protected from fouds by staunch wire netting. This fine addition to the ball grounds, together with players' benches, reclaying of bases, etc., was made possible by the contribution of lumber by E. C. Loomis, the material being hauled from Blue's Bridge by William Milam and conditioned by the Southern Pines Warehouses; the furnishing of paint, roofing, nails, wire and oil by an anonymous donor, and the voluntary labor of C. L. Austin, C. E. Newton, H. Maloney, Constantino and Tony Montesanti, S. R. Newton, W. A. Moore, Jap Swearingen, W. S. Carpenter, H. Carhon, E. Henegar, S. Bowers, B. Poe, T. Millar and T. Walker.

DEATH CLAIMS MOTHER OF MRS. CAMPBELL, PINEHURST

Death came Wednesday to Mrs. Susan Ella Farmer, of Hamlet, mother of Mrs. J. W. Campbell of Pinehurst. Mrs. Farmer, who was in her 77th year, was a widow of the late T. K. Farmer, who died in 1922. She was born in Anson county, moving later to Richmond, now Scotland county. She was a daughter of Thomas Gailles and Frances Covington Gailles, of Anson county. She was a member of the M. E. Church at Hamlet.

McBRAYER HEADS NEWLY ORGANIZED U. S. 1 ASSOCIATION

Virginia-Carolina Towns Along Highway Form To Combat Competitive Routes

FIX MEMBERSHIP FEES

Representatives from eleven towns on U. S. Highway No. 1 from South Hill, Va., to Rockingham, met in Raleigh last week Thursday to effect an organization to be known as the Virginia-Carolina U. S. No. 1 Highway Association, and the election of officers resulted in the selection of Dr. L. B. McBrayer of Southern Pines as chairman.

The object of the meeting was to consider plans for developing greater interest and activity, through organized effort, to combat the invasion of competing routes in north and south tourist traffic. Those representing this section at the meeting were Dr. McBrayer, S. B. Richardson, Shields Cameron and Charles R. Whitaker. Other towns represented were South Hill, Apex, Sanford, Rockingham, Henderson, Franklinton, Ridgeway, Wise, Norlina and Raleigh. Each town chose one representative on the board of directors, Dr. McBrayer representing Southern Pines.

Officers Elected

A directors' meeting followed the organization meeting, at which the following officers were chosen. Dr. McBrayer, chairman; John A. Park, Raleigh, vice chairman; George Radcliffe, South Hill, secretary and H. B. Branch, Raleigh, treasurer.

The minimum annual membership plan as outlined by Geo. Radcliffe, of South Hill, and approved by the Board is as follows:

Hotels of 50 rooms and less, $25.00; filling stations with cabins, $15.00; automobile dealers, $10.00; tourist homes, $10.00; average size filling station and larger, $7.50; small filling stations, $5.00.

It was the sense of the meeting that the secretary notify R. A. Rouse, chairman of the U. S. No. 1 celebration at Cheraw, that the new organization had pledged its support and interest to make this event a success.

On motion of W. E. Harrison, of Rockingham, John A. Park and H. B. Branch, of Raleigh, was appointed a special committee to make the necessary preliminary arrangements to incorporate the new organization with a view of making it permanent.

The chairman requested the members of the board to begin the active solicitation of funds on the approved membership basis, in the various communities that they represent and report to the treasurer at Raleigh not later than Friday, September 11th. The representatives were also requested to canvass the territory between the different towns on the route.

George Radcliffe, of South Hill, thought it was a matter of first importance to place a paid representative at Petersburg during the fall and winter season in order to combat a similar activity provided at Petersburg by the Florida Short Route Association. This suggestion met with unanimous approval.

Theatre

At The Carolina

At The Dixie

A highly sophisticated and smart story of Paris is told in "This Modern Age," which brings Joan Crawford to the Carolina Theatre for three days, starting this Thursday. Miss Crawford plays the role of a young woman who has not seen her divorced mother since childhood. They are re-united and react more like friends than mother and daughter, for the ultra-modern parent does the same things her daughter does. When her daughter finally falls in love with the son of conservative Boston aristocrats, it is this ultra freedom of her mother's that breaks up the romance. The lover doesn't want a girl around whose mother "runs around."

A series of exciting events lead up to the denouement, which is capped with a surprise climax. The picture was adapted from the Mildred Gram novel, "Girls Together," and gives Miss Crawford opportunities in the "whoopie" type of part with which she has been so successful in the past, although the story obviously has its serious moments. Pauline Frederick, as the mother, is also given a chance for clever acting and the cast also includes Neil Hamilton, who scored with Norma Shearer in "Strangers May Kiss;" Monroe Owsley, recently seen opposite Gloria Swanson in "Indiscreet;" Hobart Bosworth, Emma Dunn, Albert Conti and Marcelle Corday. A series of football subjects, with Notre Dame stars in the cast, also begins on this program and will continue every Thursday, Friday and Saturday, for six weeks, the first of which is "Shifts."

Probably the majority of Carolina Theatre patrons are already aware of the tremendous hit, "Bad Girl," which has had the honor of a three week's stay at the big Roxy Theatre in New York and is proclaimed by critic, press and public as one of the best of the year. To re-print half of the praise which has been accorded this picture would fill half the columns of this newspaper but it is sufficient to quote from two of the New York dailies.—"One of the best of the year. It has the cleverest dialog, the most inspired direction, great acting and a most human, compelling little yarn . . . James Dunn gives a remarkable performance . . . It's great entertainment. A Grade A film."—New York Daily Mirror.

"It is not every day that the movies give up anything as genuine as 'Bad Girl' . . . Rings true to life. It is difficult to imagine how the screen version could have been improved . . . Dialog is fresh, sparkling and true . . . humor without cheapness, laugh in almost every line, even in the most pathetic scenes . . . It is good, fine and sincere, without a false note in it . . . Splendidly acted by James Dunn . . . For 'Bad Girl' we have nothing but cheers."—New York Sun. A very interesting program of short subjects includes a Magic Carpet, "When East Meets West;" a Crazy Kat Cartoon,

Pictures of unusual merit are billed for the Dixie Theatre, Aberdeen for the coming week. On Saturday, the attraction, TABU is a story of a South Sea Isle romance. Actually filmed in the South Seas, thousands of miles from civilization. The actors in it are natives most of whom had never heard of a movie camera before this picture was made. The trip to the island was made in a small sailing vessel about two years ago. The story deals with a tradition of the Polynesian tribes. A folk story that is as human an epic in its revelation of human emotions as the familiar tales of Ulysees, of St. George and the Dragon, as Guinevere and Lancelot. In its settings of sheer beauty it is a tale of love in a land seemingly where love began.

On Monday and Tuesday the attraction will be "Huckleberry Finn." Four delightful child actors as a distinguished cast of adults bring enjoyable entertainment to The Dixie Theatre. This is the second of the Mark Twain classics to come to the screen. Young Jackie Coogan is again cast in the role of Tom Sawyer, in which he made such a hit in the motion picture by that name, and Junior Durkin continues his portrayal of Huck Finn. Mitzi Green and Jackie Searl are just as enjoyable in this picture as they were in Tom Sawyer. The fat and jolly Eugene Pallette heads the cast of adults. He portrays one of the pair of desperadoes who lead Tom and Huck into mischief. The story carries on the adventures of real boys Mark Twain wrote about in Tom Sawyer. Huck runs away from home to escape his father and in the search that follows Tom Sawyer finds him. Together the boys plan a runaway, fall in with two funny rascals, rescue two innocent girls from the wicked design of the bad men and win more honor and renown.

AUTO WRECKED

H. W. Dorn of the Vermont Market, Southern Pines, suffered the loss of his new Studebaker car Wednesday night when he crashed into a corner of the Haskell Motor Company building in Aberdeen in attempting to avoid hitting another car. His new car was almost completely wrecked. Mr. Dorn escaped serious injury.
