At the Carolina

Nancy Carroll and "Personal Maid" were made for each other—aflaming-haired, vivacious, Irish beauty, and a title that promises some interesting inside intimacies in wealthy circles, amusing incidents in the servant's hall, heart-break, ambition, romance.

For "Personal Maid," which is the attraction at the Carolina, on Thursday and Friday (two days only) with a special matinee on Thursday at 3:00 p. m., is a great Cinderella story with a bigger kick in it than any Cinderella story you have ever read. It's a modern story, strictly fresh and up-to-date. It has heart interest in it, with two handsome up-and-coming male screen actors competing for the heart and hand of this girl and she's for both of them. It has fun in it, with Mary Boland doing a stout and fussy society dowager to the life; Nancy Carroll's sister, Terry Carroll, playing the role of her sister; Hugh O'Connell and Donald Meek, two of New York's best comedians, and others. Please bear in mind that "Personal Maid" will be shown Thursday and Friday only, with a matinee Thursday afternoon.

"School Days, school days! Oh! the golden rule days!" Time will turn back nearly a hundred years, this Saturday afternoon and night at the Carolina, where "Huckleberry Finn," Mark Twain's rollicking comedy of youth, will open its one day (only) run and young and old and medium aged live again the "good old days" with Jackie Coogan as Tom Sawyer, Junior Durkin as Huck Finn, Jackie Searl as Sis Sawyer and Mitzi Green as Becky Thatcher, backed up by such adult screen favorites as Eugene Pallette, Guy Oliver, Oscar Apfel, Clara Blandick and others. An unusually interesting program of short subjects accompany the feature.

"My Sin," a thrilling social drama, is the attraction at the Carolina Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. "My Sin" tells the story of the redemption of two human derelicts almost submerged, one through wild living, the other by the touch of remorseless circumstance. Yet character remains—and through the influence of an understanding love their broken lives are mended. Tallulah Bankhead and Frederic March, co-stars of great talent and versatility, carry the burden of the story, supported by a cast of superb artists of reputation on the stage.

On Thursday and Friday of next week, October 1st and 2nd, with a matinee Thursday, the most talked of picture of the year, Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy," featuring Sylvia Sydney as Roberta Alden and Phillips Holmes as Clyde Griffiths, will be seen at the Carolina Theatre. Patrons already know of the many arguments between the author and producer, of the several court actions which included an injunction, etc. Nevertheless an important picture has come to the screen, important in terms that set it distinctly apart from most that has been done since the screen acquired a voice, and the consideration of 'import' remaining now are, not between author and producer, but rather in the intrinsic character of the picture as a picture. It does demand a moderate degree of intelligence and contribution from the obvious to the degree which has come to almost completely characterize motion picture style. It will not ring, or wring, the dumbbells, but that stratum of box office patronage is amply served anyway.

MUCH TO BE SAID ON BOTH SIDES OF TOBACCO MARKET

have come down into Montgomery in the past few months, says he has 17 barns, and that some of the sales here are right good and some not so good. But he will plant more next year, for he believes there around Elberle the Stokes folks have found a good tobacco neighborhood. "The tobacco we made this year is not so heavy as the leaf up in Stokes, and we believe it will find a reader sale. The most of the folks who came down from up there in the hills are pleased with the outlook in Montgomery. I do not think one family has gone back dissatisfied. One trouble with tobacco is that other things which the farmer has to buy are not coming down in proportion to the fall in tobacco prices. But that does not hurt us so bad as it might, for while I got down here too late to sow grain I raised about 80 bushels of Irish potatoes and some garden stuff and feed, and have a fair lot of stuff to carry us through. Next year I will have some wheat and other stuff and so will the rest of our folks. Most of them have a fair lot of grain this year. I will have 10 acres of wheat next year."

LOCAL SPORTSMEN ORGANIZE RIFLE AND PISTOL CLUB

cutive officer, Captain W. H. Mumford, R. O. C., and vice-executive officer, Sergeant B. M. Bradin, N. C. N. G.

A range committee was appointed to select a satisfactory site for the location of the target ranges. As soon as a location is secured, work will be commenced on the construction of target butts, leveling the range, etc. It will then be but a short time before matches will be started, the winners of which will secure prizes offered by the National Rifle Association and local people interested in the sport.

The charter for the club will close on September 30, and all interested sportsmen are urged to make application before that date, in order to be listed as charter members on the charter issued by the national association. Membership is limited to white citizens of the United States of America of good moral character over 18 years of age.

Applications or other information can be secured from the secretary, R. J. Lorensen, 42 West Vermont Avenue, Southern Pines, or any of the other officers or members.

At The Dixie

The attractions at the Dixie Theatre for the coming week offer variety that will be pleasing to all. The attraction for Saturday, "East Of Borneo," featuring Charles Bickford, Rose Hobart and George Renevaut, is a mystery of the Orient with a jungle background, studded with ferocious animals that will keep you gasping with suspense. The story is of a white woman who follows her doctor husband into the wilds to find that he has gone native and is serving as court physician to the prince of the island. The story that follows offers unusual entertainment.

The attraction scheduled for a two-day run beginning Monday is "Silence," featuring Clive Brook and Peggy Shannon. The story is of a likable and handsome crook whose crimes bring ruin and death to the woman he loves. His daughter, while a baby, is taken from his and brought to the home of a kind foster-father. Years later the crook, still pursuing his lawless career, meets his daughter. When the girl is threatened with ruin because of her real father's past, the crook by a great sacrifice attempts to shield her.

The attraction for Wednesday, "Mother's Millions" brings to you laughter, thrills, romance and drama! May Robson is cast in the stellar role and is supported by James Hall, Lawrence Grey and others.

On Thursday and Friday the offering is "Secrets Of A Secretary," featuring Claudette Colbert, Herbert Marshall and others. The story, an original by Charles Brackett, tells of the experience of a wealthy New York society girl named Helen Blake who makes a bad marriage with a young Argentine, and later finds herself penniless by the death of her father. Her husband turns out to be a despicable fortune hunter and deserts her when her fortune fades away. The girl then gets a job as secretary with her wealthy friends, the Merritts who are preparing for the marriage of their young daughter with young Lord Danforth, an English peer. Complications arise when Danforth arrives and falls in love with Helen. The story that follows offers entertainment that cannot be surpassed.

Cameron and Community

Mrs. A. F. Graham, a well known resident of this county died at her home on Route 1 last Saturday morning. Mrs. Graham had been in feeble health for over a year, and suffered a stroke of paralysis some ten days ago.

Mrs. Graham was a kind neighbor and devoted mother and was noted for her unselfishness. She is survived by two sons, Alfred and Stanley Graham, four grand-children and two sisters, Mrs. Henry Maples and Mrs. J. C. Bowden, all of Route 1. The funeral was conducted Sunday morning at her home by Elders Stevenson of Durham and Brown of Salt Lake City, of the Mormon Church. Her body was laid to rest by the side of her husband, under a beautiful mound of flowers in Crane's Creek Cemetery.

Last Tuesday evening members of the Cameron Baptist Church, laden with many good things that would delight the palate and decrease the grocery bill, agreeably surprised their pastor and wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Hare of Jonesboro, with an informal call. After depositing their many packages and exchanging happy greetings with their beloved pastor and wife, the members returned to their homes, feeling more than repaid for their thoughtfulness.

Circle No. 22 of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church met last Thursday afternoon with Miss Thurla Cole, with the chairman, Miss Kate Hunter, presiding. Some fifteen members were present. Miss Hunter conducted an inspiring devotional. A splendid program was well rendered; papers on various phases of mission work were read by Misses Gilchrist and Hunter.

On Friday evening Misses Minnie and Jacksie Muse delightfully entertained at their home on Carthage street, the members of the Merry-Makers Club. The living room was unusually attractive with its artistic decorations of deep tinted flowers, forming a colorful background for two tables of bridge. At a late hour cards were laid aside and delicious refreshments were enjoyed.

The many friends of the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Hare of Jonesboro will regret to learn that Mrs. Hare was carried to Thompson Hospital in Lumberton last Sunday, where she is under the care of Dr. T. E. Johnson, a friend and former physician of Mr. and Mrs. Hare. It is expected that Mrs. Hare will undergo an operation in a few days; in the meanwhile she has the prayers and sympathy of the Cameron community.

Mrs. A. J. McRae left last Friday night for King's Park, Long Island, N. Y., where she has accepted a position.

Mrs. N. H. Smith of Asheville and Brien O'Brien of Rockingham were guests of Mrs. Loula Muse Friday.

Mrs. J. P. Monroe and Miss Catherine Monroe and Mrs. Lottie Gunn were guests of Mrs. H. P. McPherson last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Fred Key of Route 1 is spending several days with Mrs. Georgia Matthews.

Miss Myrtle Douglas was Sunday guests of Miss Frances Matthews.

SLAVE BOY WHO ROSE TO PREACH GOSPEL HONORED

ford, Fayetteville, Concord, Monroe, Reading Springs all in North Carolina; the Rock Hill, Clio, Pleasant Hill, Sumter, and Richburg in South Carolina; returning to North Carolina he is now serving New Zion circuit.

During the long years that Dr. McCain has travelled up and down through central North and South Carolina he has been steadily winning souls for the Kingdom, building up character among his people and winning an army of friends for himself. He has had the extreme pleasure of seeing many of his early converts grow up into good men and women, marry and raise families who will be given better opportunities than the parents had.

Wins Honorary Degree

Through his ministerial life the Bible has been his sheet anchor, but he is a book lover, has read rather extensively and accumulated a creditable library. Livingstone College, Salisbury, in recognition of his work, conferred upon him the degree of D. D., which was worthily bestowed. Dr. McCain has been prominent in fraternal orders having served the Masons as Grandmaster, the Knights of Pythias as Grand Prelate and member of the endowment board.

On November 10, 1884 Dr. McCain married Julia Cole Speller. They have two children, James William Price McCain, M. D., and Anne Mary Colina McCain, a graduate of Temple University, Pa.

He did not know his letters at seventeen years and at that age was still an unlettered laborer. Having made his decision he learned to be a cobbler of shoes, and then cobbled his way through. It reminds us of the famous man who through life was a cobbler and preacher but who always said, "that his business was to preach the Gospel and he mended shoes to pay expenses."

As might be expected of such a man, Dr. McCain is a powerful advocate of education. As to how to promote the best interests of his race he says: "Educate the children. Give us the privilege of the ballot box as to other Americans. A fair chance in the race of life is all we ask."

From the unlettered slave boy of 1865 to the honored and loved Christian teacher for thousands of people is a far cry and but illustrates what Divine power will do for the man who works with God.
