

A Paper Devoted to the Upbuilding

of the Sandhill Territory, North Carolina

VOL. 12, NO. 45

Aberdeen and Southern Pines, North Carolina, Friday, October 7, 1932.

FIVE CENTS

Women Organize to Study Government and Support Deserving Representatives

Movement Launched in This Congressional District May Become Nation Wide

MRS. BIDDLE TELLS PLAN

Something new in the way of organizations has been started and an energetic campaign is now about to start.

The story is this. A group of women from Aberdeen, Southern Pines, Pinehurst and Eagle Springs got together in the early part of the summer and formed the first unit of a society which they hope will eventually spread to all parts of the United States. The avowed purpose of The Sentinels, as they style themselves, is to make the law makers of the country honest and fearless. This seems like a large contract but if they can carry out their plan there appears to be no reason why they will not have an important effect in curing what has always been the greatest source of weakness in a representative form of government, such as ours. That source of weakness, The Sentinels believe, is the ignorance and apathy of the voters.

How and why they propose to go about their reformation was explained by Mrs. Livingston L. Biddle, II, of Pinehurst, who acted as secretary at the first meeting.

"The general purport of the ideas expressed at its meeting were substantially these," said Mrs. Biddle. "The only people who take any interest in legislation are the persons, groups or classes who are trying to get a special protection or subsidy for themselves or who are trying to further some noble cause. Protections, subsidies and causes all cost money. The taxpayer eventually foots the bill. And the bill has been steadily growing larger until today he finds that he is paying about four times as much for whatever it is that government gives him as he was paying twenty years ago. Taxpayers leagues seem to be entirely ineffective in getting tax bills reduced. Lobbies have the start on the taxpayer and are organized to get results. The tax payers have not been. The situation is not hopeless, however. If we can get enough women to join us in our effort it is believed that we can successfully combat the influence of all the five hundred or more paid lobbyists in Washington and the numberless lobbies that are always at work on our county, municipal and State legislators.

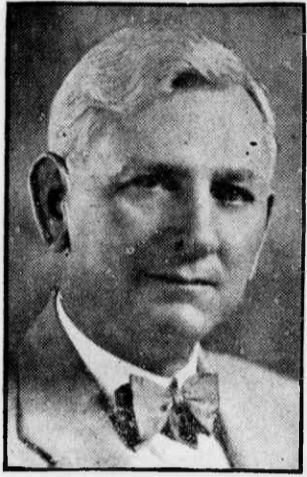

The Congressman's Problem

"To grasp the plan we will work on it is first necessary to understand and to agree with our idea of the proper function of a Representative. We believe that a Congressman, for instance, should act according to the dictates of his own well informed conscience for the good of the country as a whole. We know, however, that since the beginning of our government, Congressmen have found that such performance of duty is not well rewarded. They have found that the surest path to reelection lies in voting for protection to special interests, pensions for numerous voters, creation of jobs for patronage and the hundred and one other things that all of us must surely pay for but which can by no stretch of imagination be thought to promote the general welfare of the country as a whole. Can we blame our Representatives for doing those things that lead to reelection? To do so would be silly. We must put the blame where it really belongs—on ourselves. For we have taken no interest in the laws that are passed. We never know our Congressman or Senator has voted on any measure. If he does the best he knows how, do we realize it and appreciate it? On the contrary we leave him to be the easy prey to the pressure and threats of those who seek some special advantage. He is at all times the victim of pressure politics.

"We believe, however, that this condition can be corrected. Let us stop damning Congress and do something constructive. If a substantial number of citizens in each constituency will take an interest in the important

(Please turn to page 8)

Speaks Here Monday

JAKE F. NEWELL.

Republican Candidate for United States Senator Will Address Meeting at Carthage

Jake F. Newell, Republican candidate for the United States Senate to succeed Senator Cameron Morrison, will address a mass meeting to be held Monday next, October 10th at 2 o'clock in the court house at Carthage. As this will be Mr. Newell's only speech in Moore county during the campaign a large crowd is expected to turn out for the meeting. Clifford Frazier, Republican candidate for governor, is expected to make one talk in the county during the campaign, but no date has as yet been set for his appearance. Moore Republicans plan an aggressive campaign from now until election day, and Paul H. Wadwill, field man for the county, is arranging meetings in various sections.

BIGGER, BETTER COUNTY FAIR TO OPEN TUESDAY

Many Attractions Expected to Lure Thousands to Carthage All Next Week

The third annual Moore County Fair starts next Tuesday.

The population of Carthage will double, treble, and then some as the crowds trek in from all over the county for this biggest event of the year. A larger attendance than ever is expected for the 1932 fair, which, the head-knockers claim, is going to be bigger and better than ever. Depression prices will be charged at the gate. The small sum of fifteen cents will admit a child, and twenty-five cents will buy an adult ticket. Season tickets are going at one dollar.

The free acts for this year's fair, it is thought, are going to be more popular than any staged here in the past. Among the free attractions will be seen the great Nagle, of New York Hippodrome fame, and his wonder-working dogs. Nagle's highly intelligent animals will perform on tight ropes and in a variety of trapeze acts. One show which will provide a thrill for the fair visitors is to be staged when one of Nagle's dogs makes a 30-foot dive from a platform in the air and lands in his master's arms. The free acts will take place every afternoon and every night each day of the fair. As heretofore, the free acts will take place in front of the grandstand.

A new feature in the way of free entertainment is to be provided this year in the form of daylight fireworks. This type of fireworks is something new to this section, and is expected to prove interesting to everyone. This display will be a part of the daily program of amusement for visitors to the fair.

Another unique idea has been evolved for patrons this year. With Ken-

(Please turn to page 4)

WORK STARTED ON ANOTHER HOUSE ON WEYMOUTH

Miss Blymyer to Erect $12,000 Residence Beside New Jenks Home

REINEKE HAS CONTRACT

On Monday Reinecke & Co., the Southern Pines building contractors, began the construction of a new house on Weymouth Heights for Miss M. E. Blymyer, of Mansfield, Ohio. The building will be two stories, of brick, with a white paint or wash on the surface to give it color and tone, 50 by 70 feet over all in outside dimensions, containing nine rooms and minor features like terraces, garage, etc. The type is English modified to suit the location, and to permit the architect to introduce some attractive embellishment.

The new house will set on the big lot Miss Blymyer bought some time ago. She has been a winter visitor at Southern Pines for a number of years, and is prompted to locate here by the virtues of the climate and atmosphere which she finds on the Weymouth ridge. The architect, George S. Nevins, Jr., has paid especial attention to special rooms with electrical appliances, baths, and facilities for profiting by the climatic conditions. In this respect the house will be more than ordinarily modern. Landscape planning will have an equally advanced development, the character of the ground giving plenty of opportunity in this direction. The new building will set about a hundred feet from the new Jenks house on which C. L. Austin started construction last week. It fronts on the Highland road, topping the ridge, looking out over the James creek valley, and standing almost on the site of the old Morgan road that until the last few years was one of the main highways of Central North Carolina, reaching from the head of navigation at Fayetteville to the mountains of the Western part of the state.

It is the intention to have the building ready for occupation about the first of the year, as the owner is anxious to gain possession of it as soon as possible. The cost of the job is stated as around $12,000. The ground on which it is to be built embraces about two acres on Highland road, running along the Pine Grove road to the Andrews tract over the brow of the ridge, opposite the Schroeder log cabin and the Lachine house.

Leach Heirs Awarded Judgment of $13,219

J. R. Page as Trustee Given Verdict in Land Deal.—Other Court Cases

The following cases were disposed of in Moore county Superior Court too late to be included in last week's report:

Pauline Currie Jackson versus W. H. Jackson, Jr.: Defendant is to pay $10 per month for support of W. H. Jackson III until further order of the court, also the attorney fee for plaintiff's counsel.

J. R. Page, trustee of heirs of Ralph Leach and others versus B. E. Saunders, J. F. Alfred, Charles C. Bennett, Sam T. Ewing and D. C. Ewing: By consent, judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiffs in the sum of $13,219.32, this being a part of the purchase price of a tract of land.

J. H. Andrews versus Geo. W. McNeill: judgment in favor of plaintiff in the sum of $394.07.

TO NOMINATE TWO FOR ABERDEEN SCHOOL BOARD

A mass meeting of citizens of the Aberdeen school district will be held in the High School Auditorium Monday night, October 10th, at 8 o'clock to nominate two candidates for the School Board to succeed Will A. Blue and John Fiddner, whose terms are expiring. The candidates nominated will be voted on in the general election next month. All are urged to attend.

Old Bethesda's Sons, Daughters to Gather at Historic Spot Sunday

All Day Session Will Be Addressed by Rev. Mr. Barber and L. A. Bethune

Sons and daughters of Old Bethesda will gather at the historic church again this Sunday for "Home Coming Day." Always looked forward to as one of the cherished events of the year, close to a thousand persons are expected to spend all or a part of Sunday on the sacred grounds. They will bring their baskets of good things and enjoy a picnic lunch between services inside the ancient edifice where they worshipped as children, their fathers and mothers, grandfathers and grandmothers before them.

The Rev. Ernest L. Barber, pastor of Aberdeen's Bethesda Presbyterian Church, will preach at the morning service in the old church, the service starting at 11:15 o'clock. In the afternoon L. A. Bethune of Clinton, a son of Old Bethesda, will talk of the old days of the church, a reminiscent talk full of historical anecdotes revealing the splendid and important part this church has played in the history of this section.

THE REV. E. L. BARBER

Eight hundred persons attended Old Bethesda's "Home Coming" last year, and with good weather more are expected on Sunday. The pastor and congregation extend a cordial invitation to the public to join with them in Sunday's services and outing.

PRESBYTERY IS ENTERTAINED BY LOCAL CHURCHES

Dr. Albert Sidney Johnson, Charlotte and Dr. Angus McQueen, Dunn, Principal Speakers

DELEGATES ARE ELECTED

Two powerful sermons on "Evangelism" by Dr. Albert Sidney Johnson, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Charlotte, and a comprehensive address on the history of "Old Union" by one of her sons, Dr. Angus R. McQueen, were high lights of the 239th stated session of Fayetteville Presbytery which convened in Vass Presbyterian Church on Tuesday morning for a two-day session. Vass, Lakeview, Cypress and Union, the four churches which comprise the group served by the Rev. Charles A. Lawrence, joined together in entertaining the Presbytery.

The opening worship was held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, followed by a business session. The Rev. Frank M. Bain of Fayetteville route was elected moderator and presided over the business sessions. The Rev. J. C. B. McLauchlin of Laurel Hill was chosen as temporary clerk. Reports of various kinds were made during the morning hour, including those of the executive committees of Presbytery's Home Missions, Stewardship and Religious Education. The committee on Stewardship asked for $60,000 for benevolent causes for the year 1933-34 and this was accepted by Presbytery, the amount to be apportioned to the various churches.

Dr. E. L. Sizer, who had served the Maxton church for many years, tendered his resignation to take effect on next December 1 and this was accepted by Presbytery. Dr. Sizer's physical condition is the cause of this action.

At the request of the retiring moderator, the Rev. G. F. Kirkpatrick brought the sermon of the morning, a stirring message that was most timely.

Reports of Assembly's work and Synod's work were heard at the afternoon session and Dr. E. E. Gillespie of Orange Presbytery, executive secretary of Synod's work, made an address on home mission work. At 3 o'clock the Rev. H. W. Koelling of Fayetteville delivered the Presbyterial sermon, which was followed by a communion service and a memorial to the late Rev. R. W. Culbertson, who after many years of service in Mecklenburg Presbytery passed away recently at the home of his daughter near Union.

Dr. Johnson was heard at the evening hour by a large number of visitors in addition to the members of Presbytery, and his message greatly impressed the large gathering.

Wednesday's sessions were held in

(Please turn to page 5)

SOUTHERN PINES MUSIC SOCIETY STARTS CAREER

Fifty Students Enroll in Glee Club; Choral Club for Grown-Ups Being Formed

MEMBERSHIPS INVITED

The recently organized Southern Pines Music Society began to function this week with an appeal for memberships. In a statement to the press the aims and plans of the society are set forth.

"You do not have to be a piccolo player or a 'mezzo' to enjoy music," the statement reads. "We do not guarantee to have you whistling grand opera in ten easy lessons"—in fact, that is not the purpose of the society. Your support will be appreciated, whether you are interested in music either professionally or from the sidelines. Dr. Prizer, the treasurer, urges you to enroll under one of the following types of membership: Associate, $1.00; sustaining, $5.00; patron, $25.00; "angel," $100.00 or more. At present we have about 150 members.

"On April 25, 1932 a meeting was called by Struthers Burt to introduce to the people of Southern Pines Lamar Stringfield of the North Carolina Symphony Society. After Mr. Burt and Mr. Stringfield had explained the aims and purposes of the Symphony Society, it was decided that a local organization, to be known as the Southern Pines Music Society, would be formed to work and cooperate with the State society. At a later meeting, the following officers were elected: A. B. Yeomans, president; Mrs. James Boyd, 1st. vice-president; Mrs. Eugene Bariteau, 2nd. vice-president; Miss Catherine Pierson, secretary and Dr. E. L. Prizer, treasurer.

"The members of the executive committees and the organizations they represent are as follows: Dr. G. G. Herr, School Board; Rev. Craighill Brown, churches; Frank Buchaz, Chamber of Commerce; Miss Anna Jenks, Civic Club; Mrs. Millicent Hayes, teachers; Dr. E. M. Poate, M. G. Nichols, Walter Gilkyson, Mrs. Wm. Allen, Tom Kelley, Miss Margaret Bishop and Edgar T. Chapman, general.

"In addition to the above who are automatically directors, the following people were elected to serve on the Board: Struthers Burt, Charles Pier, S. B. Richardson, David Packard, Dr. L. B. McBrayer, Mrs. R. A. Kennedy, Mrs. Lucy Cameron, Mrs. Edgar Chapman, Mrs. Grady Burney, Mrs. Edwin McKeithen, Mrs. J. W. Achorn, Mrs. Charles Piquet and Miss Mary Yeomans.

"The standing committees are as listed below:

Church Music—Mr. Brown, chair-

(Please turn to page 5)

Storm Sweeps Thru County; One Injured

Johnson Family Has Narrow Escape as Wind Demolishes Their Home

PINEHURST STABLES FALL

Moore county did not escape the windstorm which swept up with furious velocity from South Carolina Wednesday night after leaving two dead and heavy property damage in its wake. Here it tore through buildings as if they were paper, ripped roofs off barns, uprooted large trees, ruined tobacco and other crops and seriously injured one man.

Carl Kiser, who operates a gasoline filling station in the Clay Road section, near Vass, was struck by a falling timber when the roof over his filling station crashed. His foot was badly mangled and he was rushed to the Moore County Hospital. There it was found necessary to amputate the fore part of the foot. In the same vicinity, near Thagards Lake, many sizeable trees were blown over, smaller ones uprooted. Some buildings were damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Johnson and their five children had the narrowest escape from death or serious injury. The Johnsons reside, or did reside, in a small house on the Roseland Road about four miles out of Aberdeen. They were all in the house around 7 o'clock Wednesday night when the storm struck that section. Suddenly they felt their dwelling shake. A crash followed, the roof over their head disappeared, walls about them tumbled in, the chimney crashed about them, boards flew into the air and they stood totally unsheltered in their little home, the rain pouring on them in torrents. Only one child, Austin, the oldest, aged 11, was hurt, and he not seriously. A brick struck him on top of the head, inflicting a scalp wound.

Scene of Devastation

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson took their little family, ranging in ages from Elizabeth, the baby, aged one, to Austin over to the nearby home of D. M. Cook where they found shelter for the night. Thursday morning they returned to inspect the scene of their narrow escape. Clothes were everywhere, preserved fruit released from broken jars, flowed about the floor, the sewing machine was broken, bricks from the chimney were scattered about, broken china was strewn about, and for a quarter of a mile into the distance they could see the scattered remains of their possessions, carried away by the force of the wind.

The Rev. W. C. Ball and the Rev. E. L. Barber were early on the scene offering aid, and Mr. Ball notified S. B. Richardson, Red Cross relief officer here. Mr. Richardson called on the family at the Cook home and set the machinery in motion to provide a temporary home for the family, who are without means. Mr. Johnson formerly worked at Pinehurst but except for cotton picking has been out of employment of late. The family has resided at Roseland for about four months. The children are Austin, 11; Martin, 9; Katie, 7; Tom, 4 and Elizabeth, the baby.

Damage at Pinehurst

Pinehurst did not escape the storm. The large stables, formerly occupied by William Ziegler, later by Verner Z. Reed, and sometimes used as an exhibition hall at the race track was caught by the winds and the eastern half of the structure blown down. This was the largest and finest stable at the race track enclosure, close by the horse show ring. Smaller farm buildings in the Pinehurst and Roseland sections were demolished; the old schoolhouse at Roseland, used of late only as a mission in which Mr. Ball conducts services once a month, was picked up, moved bodily off its foundation and set down four or five feet away. Trees all about it were blown over. Many trees and shrubs on the property of Nat E. Hurd east of Pinehurst were uprooted or snapped off.

(Please turn to page 4)