Mr. Blue was a member of a prominent family and is well remembered throughout this community. He made his home in Aberdeen for a number of years when he was engineer on the Aberdeen and Rockfish railroad. Since moving to Laurinburg, he was master mechanic in the railroad shops of the Laurinburg & Southern railroad.

Surviving him are one brother, Malburn Blue of Hoffman; one son, Fred Blue of Aberdeen, and two daughters, Misses Estelle and Mary Blue of Laurinburg. A niece, Miss Mary Blue, made her home with him.

Theatre

At Pinehurst

"Counsellor at Law" at the Pinehurst Theatre Monday, January 8th, matinee and night, is more than one motion picture; it is a dozen pictures combined. Characters who fit into widely scattered backgrounds are deftly placed side by side. Their problems, each vital enough to justify a separate film, are welded together. The result is a dramatic trust. Within a great lawyer's office this multiple drama unfolds. Men and women from every corner of life are represented. Some are glamorous, others pitiful, all are compelling. By means of photographic ingenuity and clever dialogue, the past of each is vividly revealed. For two years "Counsellor at Law" was Broadway's outstanding stage hit. As a motion picture it achieves ever greater scope and power. And the cast for this film speaks eloquently for itself: John Barrymore, Bebe Daniels, Doris Kenyon, Onslow Stevens, Thelma Todd and others.

A new type of musical-comedy motion picture, without a chorine presents, is Paramount's "Girl Without a Room" which comes to the Pinehurst Theatre Wednesday, January 10th, matinee and night. Charles Farrell and Charlie Ruggles, Marguerite Churchill, Gregory Ratoff and Walter Woolfe, who play the leading roles, sing almost all the musical numbers with the support of Sandy MacKenzie and a vocal chorus. The tunes are of all types ranging from ballads to hot-cha numbers. The story is the dizzy, happy-go-lucky romance of a bashful kid from the Tennessee mountains and a modern Paris artist's model whose home is where she hangs her scanties.

Jesse L. Lasky, whose name has always been associated with new and different ideas in motion pictures, presents his latest production under the Fox banner, "I Am Suzanne" at the Pinehurst Theatre, Friday, January 12th, matinee and night. This picture was scheduled for Pinehurst, Friday, January 5th, but had to be held until Friday, the 12th, since the print did not arrive from the coast. Lillian Harvey, that diminutive, continental star who met with wide public acclaim in her previous American pictures, "My Lips Betray" and "My Weakness," has the leading feminine role. The romance, the sensational revue numbers and the photographic wonders of the picture, brand, "I Am Suzanne" as one of the most spectacular productions ever to come from Hollywood.

At Southern Pines

The picture which you have heard talked about for months as the most remarkable achievement yet attempted by Hollywood producers will play a return engagement at the Southern Pines Theatre Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, January 8, 9, 10, with a Tuesday matinee. It is "Dinner at Eight," the photoplay version of the George S. Kaufman-Edna Ferber stage success which ran on Broadway for more than a year and was subsequently purchased by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film studios at a price which ran well into five figures. And here's the cast: Marie Dressler, John Barrymore, Wallace Beery, Jean Harlow, Lionel Barrymore, Lee Tracy, Edmund Lowe, Billie Burke, Madge Evans, Karen Morely, Jean Hersholt, Louise Closser Hale, Phillip Holmes and May Robson. Needless to say, so imposing a casting project is something totally unprecedented in the annals of the film industry.

Laughter is the order of the day. Will Rogers comes to the Southern Pines Theatre in a return engagement of "Mr. Skitch" on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 11, 12, 13 with a Saturday matinee. This screen adaptation of Anne Cameron's story, "Green Dice," with Zazu Pitts in the principal feminine role opposite Rogers, is bound to register high as a screen treat of rare flavor. The story details the adventures of a typical American family who take to the road in their flivver after the depression has cleared them of all their other possessions. Of course, they encounter all sorts of adventures.
