Thief Steals Car and Ransacks Others Here

Gets Away With Chrysler and Articles Valued at $263. Tuesday Night

A sneak thief was busy in Southern Pines during the early evening Tuesday, no less than five thefts being reported to Chief of Police Gargis on Wednesday morning.

A Chrysler sedan, black body and bearing Pennsylvania license No. 68233, was stolen from in front of the Highland Pines Inn early that night. The car, the property of Grace L. Craig of Beaver, Pa., had extra wheels on the sides and a trunk on the rear.

Howard Burns, city clerk, reported the loss of tools from his car parked in the downtown section. He valued them at $3.00.

Allen Rembert of Columbia, S. C., reported the loss of a suitcase containing clothing valued at around $35. It was taken from his car parked in front of Montesanti's dry cleaning plant on Pennsylvania avenue.

A tan golf bag containing a full set of clubs, new balls, a raincoat was taken from a car parked in front of The Beverly, corner Pennsylvania avenue and Bennett street. Daniel J. Shea, the owner, of Newington, Conn., estimated his loss at $200.

From a car parked beside the Thrower Pharmacy a sample case containing cold creams, face powders and cosmetics as well as some men's clothes was taken. The owner, R. C. Cagle of Rockingham, estimated his loss at $25.00.

No clues as to the identity of the thief have been learned but police throughout the state are working on the case.

SYMPHONY GROUP TO PLAY HERE TUESDAY

many exceptional talents have been discovered and developed. Indeed it is a fact, for the size of its population, North Carolina has produced more fine musicians during this period than any other state in the Union. How to utilize this talent, how to keep it at home for the entertainment of our own people was not a simple problem, for there is no city in the state large enough to support a symphony orchestra.

"In 1932 Lamar Stringfield, who had brought considerable kudos to North Carolina by winning a Pulitzer prize for musical composition, conceived and executed a plan for a statewide symphony, thereby taking advantage of the exceptionally large number of fine musicians it had to offer and avoiding the disadvantage of having no great metropolitan centers. With a musical director of less ability than Lamar Stringfield or with second rate musicians, the plan might not be practicable. But Mr. Stringfield has an extraordinary faculty of getting the utmost out of an orchestra in the least possible time. And the time for rehearsals must necessarily be short when fifty musicians are gathered from far and wide to give a concert. With our smaller groups, such as the ensemble which is to play here next Tuesday, the time element does not enter, for these musicians are kept together all through the season and have several rehearsals every week.

The Civic Club is presenting "An Afternoon of Music" at the club house this afternoon, Friday, at 3:00 o'clock. Following the program tea will be served and everyone is invited. Mrs. McCord, Mrs. Hafer and Mrs. Lucy Cameron have been preparing a program of unusual attractiveness. Mrs. Hafer will play two piano numbers and the vocal artists who will sing are Mrs. Blodgett of Pinehurst, who possesses a charming coloratura soprano voice, Mrs. Pleasants of Carthage, a rich contralto, and Stuart Cameron a baritone. Mrs. Lucy Cameron, accompanist, will assist with the program. There is the possibility of a delightful surprise for those in attendance if a well known Belgian artist can be prevailed upon to attend and play several musical numbers on the cello.

On Friday, February 23d the Civic Club will give the last of its Travel Teas, the subject being Hawaii. The committee in charge has not as yet released its plans for publication but doubtless it will be most interesting and everyone will be welcome.

News has reached friends this week of the death of Mrs. Margaret Archibald, which occurred at a sanatorium in Pittsburgh, Pa. Mrs. Archibald spent several winters with Mrs. T. H. McGraw, and her death is felt keenly by all those who knew her.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Wilder announce the arrival of a daughter, February 12th.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Bobbitt announce the birth of a daughter, February 12th.

The Book Club met last week at the Community house with Mrs. W. C. Ball as hostess. Nineteen members were present, and a most enjoyable hour was spent.

The Roll Call was answered by the telling of a current event, following which a paper was read on "Reviewing as Practiced in the Newspapers" by Mrs. H. L. Boggs, and another paper on "Famous Sports Writers" by Mrs. E. L. Pleasants.

A musical program under the direction of Mrs. J. W. Graham was enjoyed after the program of literary events. Mrs. E. L. Pleasants rendered several instrumental solos of popular song hits.

Mrs. Richard Page was hostess to her bridge club when they met at her home on last Friday evening. The living room was arranged for three tables of the game. A prize for the high score was presented to Mrs. A. K. Pennington and Miss Edna Maurer received guest prize.

The special guests present were Mrs. Wimberly Bowman, Mrs. Fred Flinchum, Mrs. Jack Smith and Miss Edna Maurer.

Miss Myrtle Alice Shamburger was hostess to 12 little girls last Friday afternoon at her home, honoring her cousin, Miss Ruth Page on her sixth birthday.

A Washington Birthday benefit bridge party will be given at the Community house on the evening of February 22nd by the Junior class. Tickets, 40c. Those desiring reservations will please see Miss Betsy Jean Johnson, or telephone 90.

Theatre

At Pinehurst

"This Side of Heaven," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which is the attraction at the Carolina Theatre, Pinehurst Monday, February 19th, matinee and night, brings together in one family one of the most representative arrays of screen talent yet to be seen in any film production. Heading the impressive cast is Lionel Barrymore, supported by Fay Bainter, Mae Clarke, Tom Brown, Una Merkel, Mary Carlisle, Onslow Stevens, Henry Wadsworth, Eddie Nugent, C. Henry Gordon, Dickie Moore and almost a score more talented picture players whose names are legion to the theatre public. The story deals with the shadow of imprisonment that hangs over Lionel Barrymore, who has been innocently involved in an embezzlement in his firm, while the romances of his children and the high hopes of his wife in becoming a successful novelist pile themselves one upon the other and reach their climaxes simultaneously.

Wednesday, February 21st, matinee and night, "The Poor Rich," a Universal comedy co-starring Edward Everett Horton and Edna May Cliver comes to Pinehurst. Edward and Edna, scions of a wealthy family who, until the depression, have travelled around the world, suddenly discover that they've only enough money to get home, a place designated as Spottiswood Manor. The "manor" has fallen into decay with their fortunes. The only bright spots are Andy Devine, an unemployed cook, and Grant Mitchell, in the role of an overloving deputy sheriff. And on top of this, Lord and Lady Featherstone decide to drop in for the week-end, when all there is on the floors is a carpet of dust and in the oven a stolen duck. Add to this the appearance of a pseudo Indian Prince, sought by the police, an overbearing police detective, the Featherstone's amorous daughter, played by Thelma Todd, and a fake saleswoman of aluminum, the beautiful Leila Hyams. Scramble this collection and you have "The Poor Rich."

A new figure on the screen horizon, Rosemary Ames, will make her bid for stardom in Fox Film's latest release, "I Believed in You" which is the attraction at Pinehurst Friday, February 23rd, matinee and night. Although Miss Ames has had very little screen experience, director Irving Cummings, who selected her for the leading role in this production, claims that she has so fresh and vital a personality that there is no doubt about the success she will achieve in her strides toward screen honors. "I Believed in You" is a story of a girl who meets and falls in love with a labor agitator. Featured with Miss Ames are John Boles and Victor Jory, who will be remembered for his performance in "Smoky."

At Southern Pines

With the unrelenting ferocity of animals untamed, and the uncompromising cruelty of the jungle itself, "Devil Tiger," Fox Film's saga of the wilderness, crashes across the screen of the Southern Pines Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 19, 20, 21 with a Tuesday matinee. It is an engagement of the picture that has been hailed as the most terrific of all animal productions. "Devil Tiger" is the record of a group of people who cut their way through the tangles of the Asiatic jungle, woven by untouched nature for thousands of years. It is the picture of man's latest battle with the elements that have baffled explorers for centuries. Animals, reptiles, insects as large as your hand, were the daily fare of the three, thrown from the safety and comfort of civilization into the menacing elements of a wild world.

Featuring a cast that has not been equalled since its release of "State Fair," Fox Film's latest production, "Carolina" plays a return engagement at Southern Pines Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 22-23-24, with a Saturday matinee. Janet Gaynor, in her seventeenth stellar portrayal since her rise in "7th Heaven," Lionel Barrymore, in a role that is said to surpass any of his former characterizations; Robert Young and Richard Cromwell, two of the screen's foremost leading men; Henrietta Crossman, who will be remembered for her performance in "Pilgrimage" Mona Barrie, Australian star; and Stepin Fetchit, in a comeback to his former star's estate—all these head the cast. The story concerns a Southern family who live in the glory of the past, but in the poverty of the present.

A Washington Birthday supper will be served in the Baptist church parlor by the Colonial Dames of The Willing Workers on Tuesday, February 20th from 6 to 8 p. m. A choice menu of baked ham, mashed potatoes, salads, pies and other good things will be served.
