

Garrison Explains Purposes For Which Rented Land May Be Used

Nothing May Be Raised for Sale on Land Taken Out of Production for Cotton and Tobacco

Each day now we have parties coming to the office wanting to know what they will be permitted to plant on the land this year which is rented to the government, says E. H. Garrison, County Agent.

Those who have signed tobacco contracts, he continues, will be permitted to use half this land to grow any crops which may be used on the farm, but not to be sold. This would include any food or feed crops such as hay or grain for use of livestock. The other half must be put in some crop to improve the land. This will include peas or beans to be turned under for soil improvement and not to be cut off. All this land must be staked off so that it may be located any time by anyone from the Department of Agriculture who may see fit to come by and inspect this farm at any time. This tobacco land will not all be measured but we have been told that some farms in each county will be inspected and the land checked by parties from the Washington office. It may be yours or it might be your neighbors. Those who have not lived up to the letter of the contract are subject to having their contract cancelled and being prosecuted in addition to this.

Those who have cotton contracts will be, it seems, permitted to use all the rental acres for use of grain and hay crops but as in the case of the tobacco contract, none of this will be permitted to be sold from the farm. ALL this cotton land will be measured by parties in the county, both the acres rented to the government and that planted in cotton this year. All this will be done after the cotton has been planted. One half the rental payments will be made this spring and the other half when this land is checked up and it is found that the contract has been carried out.

In conclusion, Mr. Garrison says, I hope that everyone will take the wonderful advice of Dr. Street, carried in an article last week and this year set out with a demonstration to make our soils richer and to make Moore county an even more desirable place to live. A farmer's wealth is usually in his land and we can easily make

Court House Items

A home demonstration club leaders' school will be held in the Woman's Club room in the court house in Carthage at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon, April 30. Miss Helen Estabrook, State Specialist from Raleigh, will be present to conduct the school and her subject will be "Why be Tired?" a subject that will doubtless be of interest to many women in the county. Not only the leaders but any other women who care to do so may attend the meeting.

Mrs. Alice Watson of Carthage, who for the past several months has been one of the case workers employed by the relief office in Carthage, has been appointed case worker for the Masonic Orphanage at Oxford and left on Tuesday to take up her duties. Mrs. Watson will spend one half of her time in the office at Oxford and the rest going throughout the State to investigate cases desiring to enter the orphanage.

Practically all of the rural schools of the county will close either this week or next and commencement programs will be the order of the day. In order to keep expenses down, local speakers will be used to a greater extent than usual.

W. J. Harrington, Register of Deeds, who sustained a broken collar bone and countless bruises when he was attacked by a bull at his dairy farm on Tuesday morning of last week, is getting along well and expects to return home from the Moore County Hospital the latter part of this week.

Our soils much more productive with a little thought given to this matter. Let's help the Government and ourselves this year by putting all this rented acreage we possibly can into cover crops. It can be done at little expense and all of us will profit by it another year. It will cut your cost of production and thereby make your crops much more profitable.

All land rented to the government this year must be just as good as that on which cash crops are being grown.

The Week in Vass

Many at Women's Meeting

An excellent attendance marked the April meeting of the Vass Methodist Auxiliary, which was held on Wednesday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. H. A. Borst. The opening Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. L. H. Furr and this was followed by prayer by Mrs. Alex Smith. The topic was "Why Have Missionary Schools in Brazil?" and readings on the subject were given by Mrs. G. W. Griffin, Mrs. C. L. Tyson and Miss Nettie Gschwind. Mrs. S. R. Smith gave a history of the Bennett School for girls in Rio de Janeiro. Mrs. T. F. Cameron, Leader of Spiritual Life, conducted the Bible study and read an interesting and inspiring letter from Miss Elizabeth Lamb. The closing prayer was by Mrs. Hollifield Fry.

Mrs. Borst reported that spring clothing for the Auxiliary's little boy in the orphanage at Raleigh had been bought.

Following the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed. A salad course with an iced drink was served. Mrs. W. C. Leslie invited the Auxiliary to hold its May meeting at her home.

College Glee Club Sings

The Campbell College glee club, composed of around thirty voices, gave a concert in the Vass-Lakeview school auditorium on Friday evening that drew forth much praise from those in attendance. "Our Alma Mater in Scene and Song," presenting lantern slides which depicted the history of the school throughout the years were especially interesting and several numbers by a male quartet were loudly applauded. The club was under the direction of A. E. Lynch, a son-in-law of the beloved Dr. Campbell, founder and president of the college, who passed away a few weeks ago.

Dewberries Blossoming

Dewberry time in the Sandhills is just around the corner and if anyone inclined to doubt the truth of this statement, here are three unmistakable signs: First blossoms are beginning to be reported; four car loads of dewberry crates were unloaded in Vass on Monday; Rowe V. Clark of Rochester, N. Y., who has been a familiar figure in the Sandhills for around a score of berry seasons hit town the first of the week and has been greeting friends on the streets of Vass in his usual cordial manner. Mr. Clark was accompanied by his son, Bob, and from Vass they went to Chadburn in the strawberry section.
