North Carolina Again Takes High Rank As An Agricultural State

Only Texas, California and Iowa Were Ahead of State in Value of Crops Last Year

North Carolina again took her place as fourth state in the Union in value of agricultural crops in 1933, after dropping as low as to ninth place in 1931, during which her main crops, cotton and tobacco, were so low, the "Farm Forecaster," of the State-Federal Crop Reporting Service, shows.

Only Texas, almost an empire, California and Iowa, in the order named, were ahead of this State last year in value of farm crops. Last year North Carolina rooted Michigan out of fourth place, which that state had held for four years. Nebraska and Minnesota were up and down in fourth place, now held by Kansas.

In livestock, however, North Carolina has held 23rd place for four years, including 1934, moving up from 25th place in 1930. In total value of all crops and livestock, this State jumped last year up to 8th place, after having been in 15th place for four years, except in 1930, when she was 14th.

Influence of the "New Deal," with cotton and tobacco acreage reductions and tobacco parity prices, is shown in the figures for last year, and may be expected to show an even greater effect on crop values. Figures showing the acreage and value of all farm crops in North Carolina for five years follow:

Year	Acres	Value, (est.)
1929	6,241,000	$257,955,000
1930	6,364,000	213,647,000
1931	6,033,000	132,090,000
1932	5,913,000	104,167,000
1933	5,922,000	192,595,000

Total value of all livestock on farms in North Carolina January 1 for five years, including 1934, follows:

1930	$76,000,000
1931	66,000,000
1932	51,000,000
1933	46,000,000
1934	$55,000,000

Combined values of both farm crops and livestock in the State follow:

1929	$334,000,000
1930	280,000,000
1931	183,000,000
1932	153,000,000
1933	248,000,000

For Check Books

A Sandhills resident spending the summer in the north suggests the following poem, copied from The Boston Post, as a proper frontispiece for check books:

IT NEVER COMES BACK

The billions roll back on the shore,
The ships return over the sea.
The child returns to its father door,
And the cattle wind home o'er the lea.

The leaves return with the spring-time,
And the light returns with the day,
But the money you blew, that you might have saved,
Is gone forever and aye!

Or, he says, the Scotchman might frame it and give it to his wife.

Theatre

With a powerful story of epic sweep, one of the strongest casts assembled in many moons and directed by one of Hollywood's aces, "The World Moves On," comes to the Southern Pines Theatre, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 3, 4, 5, with a Tuesday matinee, heralded as the "love story of a century." Fresh from a two-a-day $2.00 showing in New York, it has been acclaimed as the picture Hollywood will have to beat for the 1934-35 award of the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences to "the best film of the year."

Described variously by the New York critics as "a notable addition to cinema's best," "a worthy successor to 'Cavalcade,'" and "magnificent drama," the picture was produced by Winfield Sheehan. Second only to the production itself in striking a new note in screen entertainment is the happy combination, as a romantic pair, of Madeleine Carroll and Franchot Tone. Miss Carroll was summoned to Hollywood from London for the leading role and, besides gracing the picture with her fresh, ethereal beauty, she contributes a performance that will rank with the immortal portraits etched for the screen by all the great actresses of the past. Franchot Tone ably shares the acting honors with the glamorous Miss Carroll. He handles his character with fine restraint, notably in his love scenes; yet when the occasion demands he becomes the swashbuckler with equally captivating dash. Prominent in support of Miss Carroll and Tone appear Deginald Denny, Siegfried Rumann, Louise Dresser, Lumsden Hare, Paul Roulien and Stephin Fetchit.

A bright, sparkling evenings entertainment is promised for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 6, 7, 8, with a Saturday matinee, when Janet Gaynor and Lew Ayres will be seen in their new romantic-comedy, "Servants' Entrance." This is a different kind of story for Janet Gaynor. It presents her as a comedienne. Essentially a light romance is the story of an heiress who becomes a servant in order that she may learn how the folk downstairs live to fit her to be the wife of the ideal whom she hopes to meet. The cast is unusually capable. With Miss Gaynor is Lew Ayres, who appeared with her in "State Fair." In support will be seen Ned Sparks, Walter Connolly, Louise Dresser, Astryd Allwyn, G. P. Huntly, Catherine Doucet, Dorothy Christy and Buster Phelps.

Janet Gaynor proves a genius at light comedy, Lew Ayres brings you a contagious youthful vitality and together they give the happiest performance of their lives in this gay, exciting escapade of a millionaires masquerading as a maid servant who goes through hot and cold water for the man she loves. An important addition to the film is a novelty Walt Disney color dream sequence.
