"Never have we previewed a production that filled us with such enthusiasm as "One Night of Love," says Charlie Picquet. This is the attraction at the Southern Pines theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 17, 18, 19, with a Tuesday matinee. "And we can easily understand how it received such an ovation by a capacity Hollywood preview audience at which time the patrons went wild in acclaim of Grace Moore and thrilled to her magnificent voice." As a forerunner of the new season's product it sets a pace that will make all other producers look to their laurels."

Such a wholesome, entertaining offering, combining love, romance, music, and down-to-earth human interest story is mighty hard to beat—even hard to live up to. It is the season's most distinctive and distinguished picture, with the profuse delights of music, song, laughter and beauty in quality, unequalled even in the most selective of the motion picture palazzi. And its star, Grace Moore, adds to the importance of the occasion with a convincing demonstration that besides the clear glory of her voice, she brings to the new medium a brilliant historic talent together with a photographic beauty and filmable personality in perfect combination. It is recommended without reservation to every member of the family. For it not only presents Grace Moore and Tuttle Carminati in a delightful comedy, but the picture introduces informally and lightly a number of lovely arias, beautifully sung by Miss Moore from a variety of the operas.

"The Scarlet Empress," which more than justifies its advance heralding as Marlene Dietrich's greatest starring opportunity, and Director Josef Von Sternberg's most pretentious production, is the attraction Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 20, 21, 22, with a Saturday matinee.

Based on a diary by the glamorous Catherine the Great of Russia, who ruled her country with an iron hand and yet was ruled herself by romantic impulses, "The Scarlet Empress" must be rated a spectacle by any standards of judgment. It goes beyond lavishness of production and artistic beauty, however, in that it is one of the most gripping dramatic stories yet to reach the screen.

Miss Dietrich, as Catherine, offers a characterization which compels attention throughout the picture.

Epidemic of Sore Eyes in County Warned Against

Danger of Spread of Ophthalmia Increased With Opening of Schools

With the schools of the county open children come in touch with each other more than in the summer months, and infectious diseases like ophthalmia are more easily passed from one child to another than in the summer vacation, says Dr. J. Symington, public health officer.

Ophthalmia, conjunctivitis, pink eye or sore eyes, is a contagious disease and the patient affected by it might very well be quarantined, although at present there is no quarantine for this disease.

Conjunctivitis is very contagious and is carried easily from one child to another, and adults also are frequently affected by it.

In Egypt and some other Oriental countries as many as 80 percent of the population are sometimes affected by ophthalmia. It is carried by ordinary house flies, but the little black gnat is probably the greatest agent in spreading the disease. One child gets a sore eye and these little inveterate, persistent pests soon attack the sore eye and infect their mouths and feet with germs of ophthalmia. They then attack the well eye of the same child and the second eye becomes infected. From this one patient these little gnats carry a culture and scratch and bite the culture into the eyes of the children of the same family or carry it to other children of another house close by. Any child visiting a family where there are sore eyes may be attacked and become infected by these little flies even if the visit is a short one, so it is best for children to keep away from any one suffering from sore eyes so as to escape being infected.

The breeding places of these little creatures should be destroyed by burning or spraying, and all houses should have the windows and doors screened to keep them on the outside.

Now is the time to fight the disease and keep it from becoming a widespread epidemic. Dr. Symington says he has noticed recently some cases of ophthalmia in several families in different parts of the county.

The surrounding of homes and schools should be kept clear of weeds and in a sanitary condition and no scraps of food should be left lying around to entice these dangerous little flies. They seem to be especially fond of harboring under hickory leaves and if there are hickory trees near a school or dwelling they should receive special attention in spraying. If every one joins in the fight against flies and gnats there will be no epidemic of sore eyes.

CARTHAGE SCHOOLS WELL ATTENDED AT OPENING

The Carthage public schools opened Monday with a large enrollment in the grammar school and high school. The high school exercises opened with introductory remarks by Supt. O. B. Welch. The Rev. Dwight W. Ives conducted the devotionals, after which Mrs. H. F. Seawell, member of the school board, made an interesting talk to the pupils.

T. Guy rendered two vocal solos. Following this, all of the pupils assembled in their various classrooms.
