Textile Strike Ends

The textile strike, involving all of the cotton textile industry and extend-Labor Day and lasting for three from the council of the United Tex- North Carolina, as in other states. The Debt Adjustment Commission. tile Workers for all striking employees their demands had been won.

The order came as a result of the call of President Roosevelt Friday that all striking employees return to their work and that employers receive them back without prejudice, pending a complete settlement of differences. Strike leaders assert they won a moral victory and other concessions, the main object having been recognition of the union as the spokesman jobs, the pay to be increased as the mers ask for help. for textile workers. Setting up a new board to handle textile disputes was also sought.

The strike, in its three weeks, brought loss of $15,000,000 in wages to the striking employees and others forced out by the strikers, it is estimated. Also, it has meant a considerable loss to the mill owners and large portions of the general public, through stagnation of business in large textile areas. More than a dozen lives have been lost as a result, one of them last week in North Carolina.

In this state, with from 50,000 to 90,000 workers out at various times, the activities of "flying squadrons," striking workers going from mill to mill and preventing workers from going back on the jobs at shifting time, resulted in the order from Governor Ehringhaus for calling out the National Guard and placing Adjutant General J. Van B. Metts in charge. When the strike was ordered ended Saturday, 34 companies were in the field, including about 2,300 men and officers. The cost of the guard was from $3,000 to $5,000 a day, total cost being from $45,000 to $50,000, it is estimated. Demobilization was ordered Saturday and most of the guardsmen were expected to be demobilized and at home by Tuesday.

Governor Ehringhaus expressed gratification that the strike had ended and thanks that the State is now relieved of the burden of a trying situation. He promised to demobilize the guard as orderly and as rapidly as possible. "I hope that a just peace for all parties concerned may be swiftly accomplished," he said.

Within a few days the State should be back to normal after one er, and three justice of th N. C. Su- Bethune. Mrs. Mabel and C. of the most serious strikes in its entire history.

Interchange of Telegrams

Norman Thomas, Socialist party representative and several times its candidate for President, spoke at seven points in North Carolina last week where the textile strike was the most serious, urging workers to hold out until they won the fight. He wired Governor Ehringhaus, protesting against the use of troops in the area.

Replied Governor Ehringhaus: "Had you spent your time and talents while in North Carolina in appeals for law observance instead of exciting to disorder, you could have done much more toward expediting the removal of troops." Thomas replied to the Governor that "your telegram accusing me of excitation to disorder is false and libelous." Governor Ehringhaus stated, in reply: "There is no need to prolong the exchanges. If he wants to find libels he might look at the telegrams he sends." Thomas, on leaving the state, said he would seek to report to President Roosevelt the terrible conditions he found in North Carolina.

End Work Project

All work projects carried on by the North Carolina ERA have been or will be terminated immediately, due to the seasonal increase in demand for farm employment in harvesting and marketing cotton, tobacco and other crops, Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, State administrator, announces. Demands for farm labor indicate there is less need for ERA projects for labor relief, although direct relief for families where there are no "employables" will be continued, Mrs. O'Berry said. Work projects that will not be stopped will be those dealing with handling the 100,000 relief cattle brought into the state, and the canning projects. The order requires that other projects be abandoned not later than September 26. It is in line with the Administration policy to have relief workers return to private employment when it is available and of suitable nature, Employment now is available for the majortiy of those on the relief rolls, Mrs. O'Berry believes.

Training For Workers

A system of apprenticeship labor agency in this state will be headed workers learn, and the number servcodes, extending to clerkships in ven of Trinity. stores and shops, and all kinds of work that requires training. The new workers will be under general direc. tion of the State agency, insuring a fair treatment.

Open State Headquarters

State Democratic headquarters will be opened in the usual offices on the holding a series of district rallies, now in the west, and will move eastward next week.

Chairman Winborne has not announced his staff at headquarters. Mrs, Charles W. Tillett, Jr., Charlotte, will spend most of the five weeks here. National Committeemen C. L. Shuping, Greensboro, and Miss Beatrice Cobb, Morganton, national committeewoman, will spend some time at headquarters. The secretary, to succeed John Bright Hill, Wilmington, has not been announced. Names connected with it are Norman Shepherd, Smithfield: Cutler Moore, Lumberton; Thad Eure, Winton, and George Ross Pou, Raleigh.

GARRISON EXPLAINS BAD TASTE IN MILK SUPPLY

"Each year a good many people come in inquiring as to the cause of bad taste in the milk," says County Agent E. H. Garrison, Jr. "This usually is in the early spring before pastures begin to put up much, and is usually caused by a small weed which comes up with the grass and clover in our pastures. At that time the grass is rather short and scarce and the cattle in hunting something green to Bowman, Mrs. Bertha, 1 lot eat will pick up the bitter weed at the same time.
