RECORD CATCHES OF FISH REPORTED OFF THE COAST

The fish are biting as never before, according to local fishermen returning from New River Inlet, Brown's Inlet and Bogue Inlet along the Carolina coast. Kingfish, mackerel and bluefish have arrived by the thousands and some record catches have been made the past week. Henry A. Page, Jr., of Aberdeen, with a party, caught over 100 mackerel in one day last week.

Older fishermen in the vicinity of Bogue Inlet say they have never seen such enormous schools as there are at present, and they are unable to account for it.
