Beauty of Highways Can Be Made Distinctive Feature of Sandhills

Limitless Possibilities if We Will But Give Nature a Hand In Development

At the present time while we are figuring on the multiplicity of schemes to broaden this world as an Utopia in which men may live with the greatest degree of happiness and human fellowship it is a common fitting period to consider one or two things that are working together to add materially to the general improvement of Middle North Carolina. Struthers Burt is attracting wide attention by his persistent Wyoming-Pennsylvania insistence on improving the landscape appearance of the highways that lead through Moore county. The Daughters of the Confederacy are also enthusiastic in the same direction, for one reason because Route No. 1 from Sanford south also serves as the line of the Jefferson Davis Highway coming by Durham and Pittsboro, and the women who comprise that organization are naturally much devoted to a road that promotes the memory of the idealized president of the Confederate States. Also the Daughters of the Revolution of this section are interested in all of the roads that are in any way connected with the early days of the Revolution or immediately preceding or following that interesting period, and still more, the whole state as well as the Sandhills region is interested in making here, as well as elsewhere in North Carolina, an attractive highway that shall command the interest and admiration of the traveler.

Joint Action Needed
But one difficulty is that the correlation between the various workers is not as well effected as it might be,

and there is a weak spot. Possibly more united work can not be brought about, but the matter is worth considering. Mr. Burt carries a rather high steam pressure when he starts anything, and he has aroused a considerable following all over the state in making a state development of attractive roads. It is believable that he will presently bring into contact all the elements that may help in accomplishing his ambition, and if such an end can be attained it is worth while for Moore county particularly to back him to the limit.

The chief aim of this section is to make of it the most pleasant place to live, both that it may be an attractive home country for the inhabitants, but also that it may be attractive to visitors. Already the work done on the roads leading out by Sanford, by Rockingham and the south, by Pinehurst toward Greensboro, and in other directions, are showing what can be done. The work of recent years surprises the most ardent backers of highway improvement. With the result of recent years' work as an illustration it is easy to see what is certain to be the outcome in the days just ahead. But nobody can yet forecast what will be done, for no one knows how much more energy and enthusiasm can be awakened. The double road from Southern Pines to and through Pinehurst and beyond, the Route No. 1 through Southern Pines, and other side roads and connections, are striking results of the work of the last few years. The passing summer is the best evidence that the planting of previous years has not yet attained its maximum of development. It shows the limitless possibilities if we will keep up the work, and with the leaders in the various organizations still alive with enthusiasm the people can encourage the further activity, and with results that can not be predicted because Nature is the greatest of all the factors, and Nature never falls down on the job.

We ought to have a good roads meet in Southern Pines or Pinehurst one of these days to take stock of what has been done and to chase out over the many main roads and side roads and study the further possibilities with all the ramifications, for we can make in the midland counties of the state a greater attraction in our converging and through highways than is possible almost anywhere else on earth. Route 1 alone is worth millions of dollars to this section, and it will grow more valuable day by day as Nature keeps on with her ceaseless effort. But Nature is like everybody else in that she likes a little help and encouragement.

CAMERON

A most enjoyable Halloween Carnival was held in the school auditorium on the evening of October 31st. An amusing costume parade afforded fun and laughter, and was the most prominent feature of the evening. Black cats, pumpkins, Jack O' Lanterns, witches, etc., created a spooky atmosphere, while candy and cake booths, hot dog stands, fortune telling and laughable contests kept the crowd moving. A merry evening for young and old, and a neat sum for the school treasury.

Large audiences greeted the "Sauline Troupe" in the school auditorium Thursday afternoon and evening of last week, when they presented two plays, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" and "The Patsy." Both plays were well acted.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. McKeithen and children spent Sunday with Mrs. L. F. Ritchie of Clarkton.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. McDermott and children were guests Sunday afternoon of Mrs. McCallum of Eureka, mother of Mrs. McDermott. Mrs. McCallum, who has been quite ill for some time, is greatly improved.

Mrs. J. M. Guthrie, recently appointed chairman of the 7th district of Fayetteville Presbyterial, attended the Synodical in Burlington last week.

H. D. Tally has been on the sick list this week and unable to be at his office. During his illness Mr. Kershaw is filling his place.

The Rev. and Mrs. M. D. McNeill, after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Frank McNeill of Richmond, Va., returned home Thursday.

Miss Mary McDonald spent the week in Southern Pines, a guest of Mrs. W. B. Warner.

Miss Annie McFadyen, member of the Biscoe school faculty, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Flora McFadyen.

Miss Lucille Rogers, after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Lineback of Winston-Salem, returned home Friday. She was accompanied by Mrs. Limeback, who spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Laura Rogers of Route 1.

The Rev. and Mrs. Frank Hare of Jonesboro were supper guests Saturday evening of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Snow of Surry County, Mr. and Mrs. Wood of the Sanford tobacco market, Mr. and Mrs. Reid Flinchum, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Flinchum of Carthage and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Flinchum of Aberdeen attended the funeral of Mrs. Frost Snow Saturday afternoon.

Misses Mary Emma and Margaret Thomas and Lucille Loving and Ira Thomas attended the high school play at Greenwood Friday evening.

Misses Eloise Starr and Virginia Gibson, Prof. Coltrane and Tom Matthews of Lemon Springs and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Thomas and children, Misses Elizabeth and Mildred and George Thomas, were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Thomas.

COMMON SENSE

"A politician thinks of the next election. A statesman of the next generation."

Unfortunately the voters sometimes don't think at all.

Those that are thinking are going to vote for Herbert Seawell, Jr. for the Legislature.

The idea that a man can't split his ticket, and that party loyalty comes ahead of common sense is a lot of simple minded childish prattle.

I shall vote for Mr. Seawell because he is square. He can't be bought. He'll cooperate with Democrats, Republicans or any body for the best interest of the people. He's broad minded and non-partisan. He has never been known to jump on the popular side of any issue and he is unmoved by public opinion. He is temperate in all his thoughts and actions and has unlimited courage in his convictions. He fought the proposed new $200,000.00 bond debt for Moore County and helped defeat it. He's the only candidate in the County who has said a word about State debt and re-adjustment. Every other candidate in the county has been as silent as the Sphinx. When a young man of clean character and ability offers himself and his services to his county the people ought to vote for him. It is to their interest to do so. It will be a personal sacrifice if Mr. Seawell is elected. It would be much more pleasant for him to stay at home, attend to his law practice and play golf with his friends.

MR. SEAWELL DOESN'T NEED MOORE COUNTY, BUT MOORE COUNTY NEEDS HIM.

Don't be fooled by the old "ring" politician, he's out of date.
