Civic Club Launches Move to Aid Educational Work Here

Miss Holmes, Mrs. Phillips and Mr. Webster Talk School Needs at Monthly Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Civic Club was held last Friday afternoon in the Clubhouse. After a short business meeting, the program was turned over to Miss Alice Holmes, who had been asked to try to promote the Educational Department, which has been inactive.

Miss Holmes took for her general subject, "Is There Need for an Educational Department in the Civic Club?" and looked at this subject from three points of view—the past, the present, and the future. Without taking time for any complete history of this department, she stated that when the Civic Club was organized, its work was divided among different groups or departments, and that each member was supposed to belong to some one of these groups. The Education department was intended to keep in touch with the educational needs of the town, both of young people and adults, and in the past had done much splendid work along this line. One of its specific objects was to keep informed as to the public school system in the state, and to co-operate with the local school.

In order to find out whether the club should continue to take an interest in the public school, she asked the Superintendent, Mr. Webster, to meet the club and tell of some of its needs. Mr. Webster spoke briefly of the new school library and the opportunity it gave for those who are interested in children's reading, pointing out that our elementary school cannot grade as a standard school on account of its lack of books. This talk was followed by an interesting discussion, of which the sentiment seemed to be that until such time as a Parent-Teachers Association shall be organized, the Civic Club, through its Educational Department, continue to take an interest in the public school, and to help its work in every way possible. Different members of the club have already been doing this in various ways.

PINEBLUFF

Born to Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Adams on Friday, January 11, a baby girl.

The Home Demonstration Club will hold a community picnic Friday night at 7 o'clock at the Firemen's Hall. Everyone is invited to come, bring his supper and enjoy a good time.

Mrs. Wilson Snell, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Wells, returned to her home in Middleport, N. Y., Monday night.

Mrs. Clarence Mozelle and little son are visiting Mrs. Mozelle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilson of Buck Hill Falls and Mrs. John Wood and daughter, Sally of Langhorn, Pa., were guests of Mrs. M. A. W. Cadwallader last week.

but without working through an Educational Department. A meeting to further discuss ways and means was appointed to be held at Miss Holmes' house on Friday of this week.

The discussion was followed by a most interesting talk by Mrs. D. C. Phillips on the value of Home Economics courses in high school, and their help in vocational guidance. Mrs. Phillips has had experience as a teacher of this subject, and also as a mother in the home, and is especially well fitted to speak along this line.

It is expected that a committee will be appointed to arrange for a Progressive Bridge at the Civic Club to raise funds for the purchase of a set of Compton's Encyclopedia for the school library, as this is especially needed. Anyone interested is asked to speak to Miss Holmes or Mrs. Tracy.

MEETING POSTPONED

The Southern Pines-Moore County Townsend Old Age Pension Club has cancelled its scheduled meeting for this week in Southern Pines, but will meet in the near future on call of the president, J. M. Windham.

Theatre

At Pinehurst

In a screen play admirably suited to their talents, Ann Harding and Robert Montgomery are again seen together in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Biography of a Bachelor Girl," which will be the attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre Monday, January 21st, matinee and night. This is the first time this popular team has been co-starred since the outstanding hit from the same studio, "When Ladies Meet." The new picture has all the charm and appeal of the former one, all the sophistication and bright dialogue, with the addition of some of the most breath-taking outdoor scenes ever flashed on a screen. The play is the celebrated "Biography" of the stage, superbly written by S. N. Behrman. "Biography of a Bachelor Girl" is admirably cast. Edward Everett Horton appears as the comical stuffed shirt, Nolan. Edward Arnold brings all his well known charm to the role of Feydak, Austrian composer. Una Merkel, as Slade, finds time between cocktails to fall in love.

Once again Paul Muni comes to the screen with a blazing picture of real life in "Bordertown," the attraction at Pinehurst Wednesday, January 23rd, matinee and night. Not since he played the role of a convict in "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang" has Muni appeared in a picture of such dramatic importance. One of the most brilliant and colorful actors of the American stage or screen, it is in such characterizations as in "Bordertown" that Muni rises to the full height of his talents. He instills both life and fire into the character of a foreign youth who is torn by conflicting emotions in his desperate battle to win success and love against insurmountable odds. Betty Davis, who supports Muni in "Bordertown," is said to even surpass her splendid performance in "Of Human Bondage." There is an exceptionally talented supporting cast.

On Friday, January 25th, matinee and night, the popular stage and screen star, Ann Harding returns to Pinehurst in another of her delightful roles in an adaptation of the well known novel, "Enchanted April" in which Miss Harding, as the spouse of the philandering novelist, Frank Morgan, gives a delightful performance as the spiritual feminine, sensing things in advance. Miss Harding is surrounded by a cast of artists including Katharine Alexander, Reginald Owen, Jane Baxter, Ralph Forbes, Jesse Ralph, Charlie Judles and Rafaela Ottiano. As an added attraction, is the special picture, "Good Badminton" in which Mr. Willard gives a marvelous exhibition of the game Badminton which is fast becoming popular.

At Southern Pines

As gay and delightful a piece of film fare as has graced the silver screens this season is "The Runaway Queen," starring Anna Neagle, charming English star, the attraction at the Southern Pines Theatre Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, January 21, 22, 23, with a Tuesday matinee. "The Runaway Queen" is a brisk, modern comedy, which takes its theme and some of its music from a charming Oscar Straus operetta, "The Queen." It is the story of a beautiful New York department store salesgirl who inherits the toppling throne of Sicily, a mythical European kingdom. Anna Neagle is brilliant and beautiful in the title role and the dark eyed Fernand Gravelly gives a splendid account of himself as Carl.

Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer's much talked about filmization of the Talulah Bankhead stage hit, "Forsaking All Others," with the breath-taking combination of Joan Crawford, Clark Gable and Robert Montgomery in one picture, plays a return engagement at Southern Pines Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 24, 25, 26, with a Saturday matinee. Based on the successful play by Frank Cavett and Edward Roberts, it presents the eternal triangle from a fresh and highly diverting viewpoint. There is a surprise in store for the thousands who enlist themselves as ardent Joan Crawford fans, for in her latest vehicle the popular young M-G-M star is assigned a role which presents a decided departure from her usual characterizations. Cast as a young Parkavenueite who leads the procession in a mad whirl of gay living, Miss Crawford has finally been given the chance to do the real comedy characterization for which her legion of admirers have long waited. Gable, fresh from his recent triumph with Miss Crawford in "Chained" this time plays the role of a man who returns from a distant part of the world to marry JoJan, only to find that she is about to face the altar with another. To Montgomery, the rival, falls the kind of part he plays to the hilt.
