Theatre

At Pinehurst
With the public still singing the praises of "One Night of Love," Grace Moore's sensational starring vehicle, Columbia Pictures, the producers, have incorporated the successful ingredients of this film into their latest production, "Let's Live Tonight," the attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre Monday, March 18th, matinee and night. Starring Lillian Harvey and Tullio Carminati, "Let's Live Tonight" is not essentially of the same formula as "One Night of Love," but if analyzed closely the ingredients are outstanding similar. This new film bids fair to parallel Grace Moore's picture in mood, charm, tempo and success. For the first time, Miss Harvey is given the wide scope necessary to her ability. Miss Harvey is cast as a young American girl, eager for romance, who falls in love with Tullio Carminati, a debonair man-of-the-world, who believes that "each romance, after one is twenty-one, is a repetition on a descending scale." Just how Miss Harvey circumvents this problem is depicted in what is said to be one of the most amusing and sophisticated comedy-dramas of the year. Carminati's performance is superb. He proves himself the "top" romantic screen hero, and his rendition of the song "Love Passes By" will thrill film fans.

"Mississippi," the attraction at Pinehurst Wednesday, March 20th, matinee and night, unite in name and talent array Bing Crosby's crooning, W. C. Fields' comedy and Joan Bennett's beauty, to make this production of showboat and plantation life colorful and interesting. The story, taken from Booth Tarkington's story and play, "Magnolia," has its major locale on an old South plantation and on a Mississippi River showboat. Against that background it tells the romantic tale of a young job-seeking northern crooner, built up by the showboat's Barnum-minded impresario to the status of a ruthless man-killer, and his adventures in love. Crosby, in his best manner, sings

"Down by the River," "Soon," and "It's Easy to Remember, Hard to Forget," by Rodgers and Hart, and his own applause-winning version of "Suwanee River." There is also a specialized insertion of Dixie plantation melodies and spirituals sung by a Negro chorus. W. C. Fields, as the showboat owner provides characteristic comedy, while love interest for Crosby is shared with Gail Patrick and Joan Bennett. Queenie Smith, widely publicized musical stage star and radio personality, makes her initial featured screen appearance.

Again Will Rogers delivers rib-rocking, heart-socking entertainment, loaded with laughter touched off by the comedian's inimitable brand of Americanese, officially clinches his right to the unofficial title of "The Mark Twain of the Screen." In contract with the two most recent Rogers pictures, which, because of their character, came within the "dated" classification, "Life Begins at Forty" is a story of today. It bases its entertainment largely on the theory that today's elder generation is getting more fun out of life than the youngsters. In it Rogers is cast as a country newspaper editor, commenting in a way that parallels his daily briefs, read by millions, on the fads and foibles of life. While based on the sensational book, "Life Begins at Forty," practically the only things retained are the title and some of the book's quaint philosophy. Chuckles, giggles, belly laughs and roars tumble over one another, meeting sob, throb and thrill, limned via melodrama, hokum and romance, in a production that exudes a salt-of-the-earth flavor and emerging as gorgeous entertainment.

At Southern Pines
"Ruggles of Red Gap," playing a return engagement at the Southern Pines Theatre Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, March 18, 19, 20, with a

BRYAN DRUG CO.,
Aberdeen, N. C.

Tuesday matinee, is a comedy of manners involving a newly rich Idaho couple, Charley Ruggles and Mary Boland, who become involved in a Paris poker game, and Charles Laughton, a gentlemen's gentleman from an impecunious Earl, Roland Young. The picture is a continuous howl, not only because the established comedians, Mary Boland and Charles Ruggles, and Roland Young aided by Zazu Pitts, act up to expected standard, but also because, in a surprisingly effective fashion, Charles Laughton contributes a delightfully restrained, but none the less punchful portrayal of Harry Leon Wilson's lead character.

It has been two years in the making, but if advance reports prove true, "Gold Diggers of 1935," the attraction at Southern Pines Thursday, Friday, Saturday, March 21, 22, 23, with a Saturday matinee, was well worth waiting for. First National, always famed for magnificent musical spectacles, has outdone itself in this picture which marks the advent of Busby Berkeley as the director of a complete production. Berkeley, it is claimed, has taken a funny, clever, story, gathered together a cast of film favorites that includes ten of Warner Bros. outstanding stars, and, with the assistance of more than 300 of the prettiest dancing girls in Hollywood, has assembled the whole into a tuneful comedy in which his talent for spectacular screen innovations has been given full sway.
