Prominent Speakers For West End School

State Commander of American Legion One of Commencement Week Orators

The Class of 1935 of West End High School is singularly honored in that it will have the privilege of hearing two prominent North Carolinians during their Commencement week program. The Rev. D. E. Earnhardt, Presiding Elder of the Fayetteville District, M. E. Church South, will deliver the baccalaureate address in the school auditorium at 11:00 o'clock this Sunday morning, and Herbert E. Olive of Lexington, commander of the North Carolina Department of the American Legion, will deliver the Commencement address Tuesday, May 7, at 8 o'clock in the auditorium.

The Commencement week program was officially inaugurated last night with the music recital of the senior piano pupils of Mrs. Sam McDuffie.

Tonight at 8:00 in the High School Auditorium the primary, grammar grades and high school groups will hold a declamation and recitation contest. Medals will be awarded to the boy and the girl winning first place in each group.

On Monday, May 6 at 8:00 the Senior Class will hold its Class Day exercises. The theme of the program is to be "Quo Vadis." On Tuesday night at 8:00 the official Commencement exercises will take place, with Commander Olive addressing the graduates. Miss Josie Mae Russell will deliver the valedictory address and David McLean the salutatory address. Principal J. F. Sinclair will award the diplomas.

Wednesday night at 8:00 the West End Players, under the direction of Miss Alberta Monroe, will present the Senior Play, a three act comic-mystery "Oh, Kay," by Adam Applebud. In the cast of characters will be Annette Currie, Margaret Hoots, J. J. Hinson, John Thompson, Josie Mae Russell, Hazel Hoots, Woodrow Lawhon, Tilon Stubbs, Currie Monroe, Eva Ritter and Raymond Freeman.

THEATRE

At Pinehurst

A sterling cast, a vivid, enthralling story and fine direction have been assembled in Paramount's "Private Worlds," the attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre Monday, matinee and night, May 6th. The glamorous Claudette Colbert, winner of the Academy Award for 1934, heads the cast of "Private Worlds" in the character of a woman who seeks refuge from love in the memory of a dead sweetheart. Opposite Miss Colbert is Charles Boyer as her colleague, a man who has been taught to hate women by the willful misdeeds of his sister. Joan Bennett, Joel McCrea and Helen Vinson are in the supporting cast. "Private Worlds" was adapted from the best-selling novel by Phyllis Botteme.

As the production cycle more and more stimulates an interest in the classic, the production of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," the attraction at Pinehurst Wednesday, May 8, matinee and night, deals with one of the greatest human interest dramas of all time. In this adaptation of Victor Hugo's monumental work, the pages of the book as they trace the life of Jean Valjean are graphically re-created with all the drama, romance, tragedy, historical significance, humanness and thrill. Fredric March is at his best as the hero. Jean Valjean, the fresh honest country youth who stole a loaf of bread because he was starving. As the fanatical detective, Javert, who hounds him from pillar to post, Charles Laughton offers an entirely new and great characterization, and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, the distinguished English stage and screen star, is brilliant as the beneficent Bishop Bienvenu. The love story is provided by Cosett, Valjean's ward, played by Rochelle Hudson, and Marius, a young revolutionary, played by John Beal. "Les Miserables" is now running at the Rivoli in New York City, and New York critics went "all the way" in coining phrases and applying adjectives to the production.

"The Devil Is a Woman," the attraction at Pinehurst Friday, May 10th, matinee and night, stars Marlene Dietrich, and, as one of Von Sternberg's screen-paintings, is much above the ordinary. The locale is Spain, and the early part of the picture is given over to a panorama of a Mardi Gras Carnival, and a lavish fiesta of beautiful clothes, fascinations no woman can resist. Miss Dietrich in "The Devil is a Woman," will prove a revelation to her fans, fascinating, vivid, a Dietrich ever-to-be-remembered. Supporting Miss Dietrich are Lionel Atwill, Cesar Romero, Edward Everett Horton, Alison Skipworth and Don Alvarado.

At Southern Pines

Venturing into the domains of debatable subject matter as he did with "The House of Rothschild," Darryl F. Zanuck again essays the biographical drama with another provocative world personality in the production "Cardinal Richelieu," playing a return engagement at the Southern Pines Theatre Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, May 6, 7, 8, with a Tuesday matinee. Painting Cardinal Richelieu with sympathetic strokes, setting him amidst the intrigues of the decadent court of Louis XIII and colorfully revealing the dramatic conflicts that beset kind and prelate alike, a fine balance of appeal is achieved to please the large body of faithful adherents to the church as well as others. Aside from its historical importance, the production pictures Richelieu as a human being. George Arliss' Richelieu is polished, suave and subtle and gives that grand Thespian full sway for his exceptional talent. Edward Arnold, another topnotcher, as King Louis contributes a finely shaded, robust performance.

"Reckless," starring William Powell, Jean Harlow and Franchot Tone is playing a return engagement at Southern Pines Thursday, Friday, Saturday, May 9, 10, 11, with a Saturday matinee. Starting as a three-cornered courtship with Sports Producer Powell battling Millionaire Playboy Tone for Miss Harlow's favor, the dialogue sparkles and the action speeds along until Miss Harlow and Tone are married. This is a topically based, sophisticated, melodramatic romance mixed with comedy. Running its course, it at various periods touches upon practically every known theatrical and entertainment element including vivid spectacles. Three musical numbers are introduced, the most popular being "Reckless," by Oscar Hammerstein and Jerome Kern.
