Y., wore a gown of corn flower chiffon with accessories to match. Her bouquet was a shower of pink roses and valley lilies. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served at Canor Place Inn.

The bride is a graduate of Indiana State Teachers' College and has been musical instructor in the Port Alleghany schools for the past six years. The groom received his education at Porter Military Academy, Charleston, S. C., and Union College at Schenectady, N. Y. They will make their home in Southern Pines.

Mrs. Florence E. Beck and Robert H. Beck of Southern Pines attended the ceremony.

BOSTON WITNESSES HEARD IN DAVIDSON WILL CASE

An Associated Press despatch from Boston, Mass., reads:

A Harvard professor and three other witnesses testified Wednesday as attorneys for the Statler interest shifted to Boston in their fight to break the will of Mrs. Elva Statler Davidson, 22-year-old heiress of the Statler millions.

H. Bradley Davidson, Jr., middle-aged society man and husband of the young bride who died under mysterious circumstances at Pinehurst, N. C., in February, was an interested spectator at the proceedings, held behind closed doors of a Boston law office.

Depositions of witnesses were taken preparatory to North Carolina litigation. Davidson, under the terms of the purported will, was bequeathed the bulk of his late wife's fortune.

Professor W. Burton Leach, of Harvard University, said to have drawn the will, testified for several hours. Other witnesses were Robin Field and his wife, Helen, of Cambridge, with whom Mrs. Davidson lived for several months prior to her marriage last January; and Dr. Richard Stetson, Boston physician who treated Mrs. Davidson.

CAROLINA TREES GROW $$$

TODAY approximately 30,000,000 board feet of timber remain on 500,000 acres in North Carolina and 1,000,000 acres in South Carolina.

Originally timber covered approximately 21,000,000 acres of the 55,000,000 acres in the Carolinas.

With this current stand of wooden wealth, vision the profit possibilities of reforestation, capable management and new capital investment placing millions of idle acres in production.

Movement of the center of the pulp industry southward—where timber growth is more rapid than in the north—is only one big reason for accelerating this timberland program on unproductive acres. There is a constant and growing demand for crates, hampers, power line poles, railway crossties, planks and piling for docks, lumber and millwork for home building, barrel staves for naval stores, et cetera.

The Carolinas already have considerable timber and offer unlimited opportunities for potential development and perpetuation of this source of wealth.
