

To Build New Wing at State Sanatorium

Plans Passed Upon for Improvements and Additions at Directors' Meeting

Plans for improvements and additions to the present State Sanatorium were passed upon at a meeting of the board of directors held at the Sanatorium on Tuesday, and plans discussed for the new State Sanatorium to be erected in the western part of the state. W. H. Dietrick of Raleigh was named architect for the new institution, and Eric G. Flanagan of Henderson for the additions to the buildings near Aberdeen.

Senator Lee Gravelly, chairman of the board, said a bungalow for doctors will be built at the present hospital, two houses would be erected for Negro attendants, a wing would be added for surgical cases, and segregation rooms would be arranged for patients who develop contagious diseases while being treated at the institution. An elevator also will be installed in the Negro building.

A committee composed of Laurie McEachern of Raeford, U. L. Spence of Carthage, and Dr. J. R. Terry of Lexington was appointed to look after this construction.

4-H CLUB MEETINGS AND CAMPS ARE CANCELLED

Upon advice of the State Board of Health, all recreational meetings sponsored by the home demonstration clubs in Moore county and all 4-H Club meetings and the club camp will be cancelled as a precautionary measure against the spread of infantile paralysis. The adult club will meet as usual, but no one under eighteen years of age will be allowed to attend, says Miss Flora McDonald, Home Agent. The head office in Raleigh is advising this action in all counties in the state where home demonstration work is being carried on.

Governor of North Carolina 1925-29

ANGUS WILTON McLEAN

State Pays Tribute to Memory of Former Governor McLean

Originator of Executive Budget Dies in Washington After Several Weeks Illness

The United States and North Carolina flags on the State Capitol flew at half mast Friday, Saturday and Sunday as tribute to former Governor Angus Wilton McLean, 65, who died in Washington Friday at 11:10 o'clock as the result of a blood clot on his left lung, and complications, after an illness of several weeks. Governor Ehringhaus, wiring sympathy, offered the rotunda of the Capitol for the body to lie in state, if it met with approval of the family. This was declined because of the service in Washington Saturday and at Lumberton at 5 o'clock Sunday.

Governor McLean, who served from 1925 to 1929 as the State's chief executive, is today given credit for putting the State's financial house in order and of bringing order out of chaos, primarily with his Executive Budget Act, which he pushed through the General Assembly. Governor Ehringhaus gave this and his other business-like acts while Governor as the principal reason for the exceedingly low interest rate secured on $3,304,000 in State bonds sold Friday, almost at the exact hour of Governor McLean's death.

Official and unofficial North Carolina have been paying tribute to his rugged honesty, business ability, integrity and usefulness to the State not only as Governor, but as citizen. He was assistant secretary of the U. S. Treasury and director of the War Finance Corporation during the stormy days of the Wilson administration. He had a vision of a stronger, saner, more stable State government and made a huge contribution toward this in his four years as Governor of the state.

ALL-STATES PICNICS ON FOURTH OF JULY POSTPONED

The picnic and program of sports planned for the Fourth of July by the All-States Association has been postponed to a date in the early Fall, it was announced this week. Due to the prevalence of infantile paralysis in the state it was deemed advisable to make this postponement, as the program was to be mainly for children.

LEAVITT OF CARTHAGE OUT FOR STATE PATROL JOB

Call has been issued to 154 young North Carolinians, from whom will be selected the 64 additions to the State Highway Patrol, to meet in Raleigh July 1 at the State Fair Grounds for a month's period of training and elimination. Dr. M. C. S. Noble, Jr., executive assistant commissioner of revenue, announces. The men, all between 21 and 30 years and 5:10 high or taller and all high school graduates, will undergo physical examinations, which will eliminate some. The balance will undergo training, taking about a dozen courses, including motorcycle mechanics, first aid, highway geography, motor vehicle and drivers' license laws, report-making, and the like, under Captain Charles D. Farmer and present patrol officers. Those who pass tests then will be put on the eligible list from which the new men will be selected. Probably 2,000 applied for the jobs open and Dr. Noble asserts that it was a hard job selecting the 154 because of the large number of good men applying. All have been investigated as to character.

Alvan E. Leavitt, Carthage, was among those called.

OLD GIN CERTIFICATES MUST BE EXCHANGED

Any one having gin certificates left over from last year can exchange them for certificates which are good for use this year. Certificates issued last year are not good for this year. These old certificates will have to be sent to Washington to be exchanged.

Every one holding any of these old certificates is urged to bring them to the County Agent's office and have them sent in for exchange in order that the new certificates will be here before ginning time. Any one having old certificate books on which the poundage is all used up need not return them.

All of the above is referring to Gin Certificates issued in 1934. The certificates to be issued on applications signed this year will not be affected in any way by the surplus producers hold from the 1934 issue. W. G. Caldwell, Assistant in Cotton Adjustment, announces.

PAVED, SCENIC HIGHWAYS

MORE than 15,000 miles of modern paved highways connect important cities and county seats in the Carolinas. Highly improved secondary roads round out a network of transportation and communication between the urban area, providing market outlets for the millions of acres devoted to agriculture, manufacturing, fishing and mining.

Hundreds of thousands of out-of-Carolina visitors travel our North-South highways each year. These travelers are seeking new scenery, new climates, new points of interest, new recreational facilities, new sites for manufacturing or agricultural enterprises.

Visitors must learn where these wonderful highways lead—of the opportunities and advantages that line these roadways. The Carolinas not only have modern paved highways but within the past few years there has been a definite trend towards beautifying highways with most helpful and restful results.
