Hotels in Readiness for A Busy Winter Season

Pine Needles and Highland Pines Inns to Operate Under New Management

With the re-opening of Pine Needles Inn on Knollwood Heights Southern Pines adds one more attractive hotel to those ready to accommodate the winter visitors this season. The Pine Needles, closed during depression years, has been completely renovated, though it is only seven years old, and the 18-hole Donald Ross golf course and grounds about the hotel newly landscaped, providing as picturesque a winter hostelry as there is to be found in the South. The Pine Needles opened last week, with Emmett E. Boone, operator of the Howell House at Westhampton Beach, Long Island, in charge. Tennis as well as golf is available here.

The Highland Pines Inn on Weymouth Heights, spic and span and ready for its opening within the next few weeks, will be under the management of Heaton I. Treadway, operator of the Red Lion Inn at Stockbridge, Mass., popular summer resort hotel, during this season. Much work has been done at this popular inn since last winter, and Mr. Treadway reports everything in readiness for a busy season. The Highland Pines is within walking distance of Southern Pines Country Club, where a long 18-hole golf course and a short nine-hole course are open to visitors throughout the winter. The inn has a fine tennis court on its own grounds.

The Mid Pines Club, in the Knollwood section, now operated as an inn with John J. Fitzgerald, former manager of the exclusive Oyster Harbors Club on Cape Cod, in charge will open on December 14th. This inn had a most successful season last winter and is a popular retreat for golfers, having its own 18-hole Donald Ross course considered by many as picturesque a lay-out as may be found in this section.

The Highland Pines Inn, Mid-Pines Club and Pine Needles Inn are the largest of the winter hotels here. The Southland Hotel is already open for guests, though dining room service will not start until December 1st when its manager, Elmer Harrington, arrives from the north. The Hollywood opened on November 20th and already has a large number of guests for the winter. This popular inn is operated by Pottle.

The Park View Hotel, near the Municipal Park, is under new management this season, Charles J. Sadler having assumed charge during the past year. The Park View is open the year 'round, as is The Belvedere, operated by Frank Welch. The Belvedere does not operate a dining room, but is adjacent to several first class restaurants.

The Highland Lodge, Mrs. M. H. Greason's popular hostelry, opened for its 18th season last month. This inn is located in the residential sec-

"What Weather?" The Answer is Simple: It's Fine the Year 'Round. The Figures:

By Charles Macauley

The age old inquiry, "What weather," meaning in general the climate, receives a most reassuring reply from the dweller in the Sandhills. The dyed-in-the-wool inhabitant sings paeans of praise for May and October, but every month is praiseworthy, and as a matter of fact there is not much variation from the averages figured from the records of the past 35 years. Month by month the average temperature is shown below:

Average	1934	1935
Jan.	44	46.1
Feb.	44.3	34.6
Mar.	53.6	50.7
April	61.3	62.5
May	70.4	69.8
June	76.9	78.6
July	78.9	79.4
Aug.	78.5	78.3
Sept.	73.3	70.2
Oct.	62.8	63.6
Nov.	52.8	53.2
Dec.	44.8	42.5

Some years the winter season will be just a little colder, or a little warmer, or the summer drops from hot to cool, once in a while we have a little snow, just enough to remind us that there is such a phenomenon in nature. There was none in 1932 or 1933, eight inches on January 13th, 1934, and none in the winter season of 1934-1935.

As for rainfall, just enough to keep the grass and the foliage of the pines and magnolias green. November saw 2.34 inches December 3.45 inches, Jan. 3.42, February 4.03, March 3.86, April 3.44 and May 4.17.

tion and near U. S. Highway No. 1, main artery of traffic through Southern Pines. The Colonial Inn opened recently for its seventh season and has its usual large number of guests. The Johnson House on Massachusetts avenue, in the residential part of town, is open under new management, G. W. Hadwin having taken charge during the past month. The Woodworth, operated by A. S. Ruggles, another year 'round inn, has started the winter season auspiciously. Proprietor J. B. Gifford of The Beverly reports a number of guests and good bookings for the winter.

In addition to the large and small hotels and inns in town there are numerous boarding houses both in the business and residential sections, information which is available at the office of the City Clerk or the Chamber of Commerce.

Shuffleboard courts are maintained in the Municipal Park, Southern Pines, for those enjoying this game. There is no charge to play.
