Theatre

"Annie Oakley," the attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre Monday, November 25th, matinee and night, is the dramatic, romantic story of colorful Annie Oakley, legendary world's champion markswoman—the shooting star of a couple of generations ago. "Annie Oakley" stars Barbara Stanwyck in a role much different in character than any in which she has recently appeared. As a bet-setting match brings champion shot Foster and Miss Stanwyck into competition that shortly takes on a romantic love interest, the film moves into the aura of the famous Buffalo Bill Wild West Show. As the show sensationally tours the country and Europe, such characters as Sitting Bull, Rain in the Face, and Colonel Cody are brought to the fore, also the then Prince of Wales and Crown Prince, later Kaiser, Wilhelm.

Will Rogers' last—and greatest—picture, "In Old Kentucky" is the attraction at Pinehurst Wednesday, November 20th, matinee and night. Adapted from the play whose humor, sunny romance and tingling horse race drama have made it a favorite of three generations of Americans, "In Old Kentucky" stars Rogers in a role that presents his rich down-to-earth character in its most lovable light. Sam Hillman, famous humorist, and Gladys Lehman adapted the play to the screen in a modernization form, but preserved all of its drama and its rich comedy of character and incident. In the picture, Rogers enacts a shrewd and genial trainer of horses, whose homely philosophy and keen wit sets right all the troubles of the impulsive people about him. Russell Hardie and Dorothy Wilson play the romantic youngsters of "In Old Kentucky." She is the daughter of old Charles Sellen who is fueding with Charles Richman. Although his daughter fights to win Hardie for herself it is Rogers' shrewd aid that finally brings the boy to Miss Wilson. Rogers' able assistance in the picture is Bill Robinson, the tap dancing genius, who teaches the comedian enough of his foot artistry to win a handsome widow, and thus provides one of the comedy punches of the picture.

Thousands of music lovers will recall the triumph of Edward Johnson, now director of the Metropolitan Opera Company, in the role of "Peter Ibbetson" when the Metropolitan staged it as an opera a few seasons ago, with music by Deems Taylor. The screen interpretation of the famous novel is now seen in Paramount's dramatic romance, "Peter Ibbetson" starring Gary Cooper in the title role, and Ann Harding, which is the attraction at Pinehurst, November 29th, matinee and night. "Peter Ibbetson" is a blend of the real and the fantasy worlds, the story of a love that nothing could destroy. Two youngsters, playmates in childhood days, are thrown together in later years, renew their friendship and romance. Before their love can be consummated, Ibbetson is sentenced to life in prison. Through the years his sweetheart's devotion and loyalty to her loved one never wavers. She creates a dream world in which they spend their lives together, although prison walls separate them. As an added attraction is the March of Time.

At Southern Pines
A kissless bride craving affection starts the grandest fun since the walls of Jericho fell in "It Happened One Night" with the same star. Claudette Colbert as the lovelorn secretary in "She Married Her Boss," is playing a return engagement at the Southern Pines Theatre Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, November 25, 26, 27, with a Tuesday matinee. After her marriage to her employer, the battle rages with no holds barred except kissing in the clinches. And the secretary's disappointment when she discovers the romance she dreamed about was merely a dream, and how she eventually makes it a reality, create some most intensely humorous situations.

Just because music is classical it isn't necessarily good, and by the same taken all popular music is by no means bad. Those are the contentions of that most colorful of America's concert singers, Lawrence Tibbett, who returns to the talking screen in the 20th Century production, "Metropolitan," playing a return engagement at Southern Pines Thursday, Friday, Saturday, November 28, 29, 30, with a Saturday matinee. In "Metropolitan" which was personally produced by Darryl F. Zanuck, Tibbett acts the leading role in a dramatic comedy written about an opera singer's heartaches, thrills, romance, struggle and eventual triumph. The songs which he sings in the picture cover a wide range, from the classical prologue in "Pagliacci" to the ever popular Tibbett favorite, "The Road To Mandalay" Virginia

Three Girls, One Boy Win Poster Contest

Misses Trousdell, Phillips and
Prizer and Ralph Maples
Given Awards

Miss Jane Trousdell, Miss Dorothy Phillips, Miss Catherine Prizer and Ralph Maples were the respective winners of the poster contest for pupils of the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades of Southern Pines School, the judges announced this week. The winning posters have been on exhibition in the window of Hayes' Bookshop.

This contest was held in observance of National Book Week. The posters were all free-hand, done in crayon or water colors on show-cards or cut paper. Each pupil tried to express in his poster design his idea of the book which is represented.

A group of posters from the National Humane contest are now on exhibit at the school. These posters were made by grammar school pupils all over the United States in schools where art has been taught from the first grade up. They are all done in flat colors and the designs are remarkable.
