Theatre

In "Ah Wilderness," the attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre Monday, December 9th, matinee and night. Wallace Beery plays one of his greatest roles as the ineffectual, alcoholic but lovable Uncle Sid, running the gamut from comedy to poignant tragedy with Aline MacMahon, who plays the spinster aunt who loves but cannot marry him.

Ginger Rogers, the titian-haired mate of Fred Astaire in "Top Hat," "Roberta" and others, achieves the goal of every Hollywood player—solo stardom in a vehicle ideally suited to her distinctive talents, "In Person" the attraction at Pinehurst Wednesday, December 11th, matinee and night. "In Person" provides Ginger with a rich light comedy-drama role and enable her to sing three original popular songs and execute several striking dances.

Radio amateur programs come in for good-natured spoofing in the screen farce, "Millions in the Air," the attraction at Pinehurst Friday, December 13th, matinee and night. Most of the action takes place in a radio studio, and the villain of the story is Ol' Debbil Gong.

If you like smart, sparkling, sophisticated, screen drama, "Splendor," at the Southern Pines Theatre Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, December 9, 10, 11, with a Tuesday matinee, will give you a grand evening's entertainment. "Splendor" tells the story behind New York's Fifth Avenue—the pretense, the struggle to keep up a front. Miriam Hopkins as a pretty Southern girl plays the lead.

Not since his "Bulldog Drummond" roles has Donald Coleman had a part so particularly suited to his talents and a story so in keeping with his flair for the suave and debonair as "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," playing a return engagement at Southern Pines Thursday, Friday, Saturday, December 12, 13, 14, with a Saturday matinee.
