Miss Flora May McFadyen Weds
Marshall Beatty at Cameron

Ceremony Performed Thursday Afternoon in Cameron Presbyterian Church

The wedding of Miss Flora May McFadyen and Marshall Corbett Beatty of Ivanhoe was solemnized at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, December 26, in the Cameron Presbyterian Church. The impressive ring ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, the Rev. M. D. McNeill. The church was beautifully decorated in long leaf pine and southern smilax, forming an effective background for a tall white arch mounted with glowing Cathedral candles which was flanked on either side with white pedestals, mounted with seven branch candelabra bearing burning candles. Pine, tied with white tulle, marked the pews for special guests and decorated the windows.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Herbert McInnis played a program of wedding music. Miss Ruth McFadyen, sister of the bride, wearing a costume of winter green, with shoulder corsage of pink roses and George Davis of Fayetteville sang a duet, "At Dawning" and Mr. Davis sang a solo, "I Love You Truly," with Miss Gilliam of Fayetteville as accompanist. Liebestraum was played softly during the ceremony. Ushers were Capt. George Beatty of the U. S. Army, Bruce McFadyen, John D. Beatty, Henry Beatty and George Beatty, Jr.

Miss Jessie McFadyen, sister of the bride, was the bride's only attendant. She was gowned in brown crepe, shot with gold, and wore a corsage of deep, golden roses. Entering with her brother Robert McFadyen, who gave her in marriage, the bride was lovely in a tailored model of mistblue, with white satin metallic shirt, trimmed with mirror buttons, her hat and accessories of dark blue. A corsage of talisman roses and blue forget-me-nots completed the ensemble. The bridegroom, attended by his brother, Hayes Beatty as best man, met the bride at the altar. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip of unannounced destination.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mrs. N. C. McFadyen and the late N. C. McFadyen of Cameron. A graduate of Teachers' Appalachian Training School of Boone, she has taught with marked success in several North Carolina schools, and at present is a member of the Elizabethtown faculty. Mr. Beatty is a member of a prominent Bladen county family, and a successful farmer and business man of Ivanhoe. An informal reception was held at the home of Mrs. N. C. McFadyen for some 50 out-of-town guests. Misses Ruth and Jessie McFadyen, Mrs. Jewell Hemphill and Mrs. Davis of Fayetteville assisted the hostess in serving refreshments, and as the guests departed they were given a dainty block of wedding cake wrapped and tied with silver ribbon.

Odds 'n' Ends

More than 126,000,000 pounds of soil at a loss of more than $200,000,000 is removed annually by erosion.

The length of time required for these to reach merchantable size varies with the kind of tree and the use to which its wood is to be put. Posts and crossies can be grown in from 10 to 30 years. Most kinds of quick-growing trees will be large enough to add to the farm income at the age of 20 to 40 years.

There is enough land essentially ruined by erosion for agriculture to support 1,250,000 rural families if they were divided into farms of 80 acres each.

Approximately 140,722 forest fires, burning 43,889,820 acres, for an estimated loss of $60,274,960 occurred in this country in 1933.

The woods need not occupy good farm land that will grow other crops. Trees should as a rule, be located on land not suited for cultivation, such as gullied or very rocky land, swamps, steep slopes, and barren soils. Unused corners and small uncultivated spots about the farm are good places for growing trees as a crop.

Since a crop cover is important to protect soil against erosion plant the roughest land to timber; use more of the rougher land now in crop for pasture; introduce more legumes into rotation; practice strip-cropping on long slopes.

Theatre

At Pinehurst

"King of Burlesque" the attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre Wednesday, January 6th, matinee and night, title significance to the contrary, is not a glorification of burlesque shows. Rather it is a singing, dancing, musical comedy romance based on an original story by Vina Delmar, titled "The Day Never Came." It will present a long list of favorably known screen names including Warner Baxter, Alice Faye, Jack Oakie, Arline Judge, Gregory Ratoff, Nick Long, Jr., recently seen in "Broadway Melody of 1936," Mona Barrie, Claudia Coleman and Key Luke, and many others. It also returns to the screen, Dixie Dunbar. In specialty features it presents Shaw and Lee, noted vaudeville and musical comedians, the Paxton sisters, novelty dancers, and Fats Waller, champion piano player.

Sparkling with new songs from the facile pens of Mack Gordon and Harry Revel, with grand comedy furnished mainly by Joe Penner, Jack Oakie and Ned Sparks, and with something like 150 beautiful girls for background Paramount's latest musical "Collegiate," is the attraction at Pinehurst Wednesday, January 8th, matinee and night. What little time you wont spend laughing during this elaborately-appointed film you'll find yourself listening to some of the most catchy tunes of the year or feasting your eyes on the beauties of ballet and chorus. The story tells how Jack Oakie, Broadway Playboy inherits a girl's school from his aunt. His handy-man, Lynne Overman and his anti-publicity agent, Ned Sparks, get Oakie out of jail in time for the reading of the will, then start out for the newly-acquired school with him. On the road they meet Joe Penner who has a nice car, plenty of money and a bad case of amnesia. The school proves a major disappointment because of its mid-Victorian atmosphere. The boys change the seminary into a "charm school," substitute the saxophone for the zither and shorts for bloomers, and bring some lively music into the place.

A vivid, sparkling new Jean Harlow comes to the screen in "Riffraff," the attraction at Pinehurst Friday, January 10th, matinee and night. Given the most dramatic role of her career in a vital story of stormy love against a waterfront setting, Miss Harlow has adopted soft, silky brown hair in place of her famous platinum blond tresses to more aptly fit the part. It is a revelation. She has never been more lovely, for the new hair, christened "brownette," acts as a frame for her face and the real Jean Harlow is to be seen for the first time. Miss Harlow is teamed with Spencer Tracy who, as her dashing, swaggering, two-fisted lover, gives one of his finest characterizations. The story is the chronicle of a great love that survives every test. Both Miss Harlow and Tracy have taken full advantage of its pathos, its laughs, its swift flowing action, to produce a picture which stands out as entertainment above the ordinary. The cast also includes Una Merkel.

At Southern Pines

Sweeping across the screen with a power seldom equalled and never surpassed, "A Tale of Two Cities," starring Ronald Colman, will play a return engagement at the Southern Pines Theatre Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, January 6, 7, 8, with a Tuesday matinee. For a breathless ninety minutes the screen fairly throbs with scenes of romance, of adventure, of spectacular magnitude that makes this picture a towering giant of entertainment. It is a picture that every man, woman and child should see. Sardonicly humorous, carelessly brilliant, utterly at ease and finally rising to almost deific heights of sacrifice for a love that never could be realized, Colman may well count "A Tale of Two Cities" the peak of his artistic career. There are 112 speaking parts in the picture, more than half created by famous players.

Packing human interest punch, aglow with natural comedy in action, situations and dialogue, tinged with just enough drama, and sparkling with operatic and modern topical music, "I Dream Too Much," playing a return engagement at Southern Pines Thursday, Friday, Saturday, January 9, 10, 11, with a Saturday matinee, is potentially promising of being a delight. In the worth of story quality and production effects, it has class and mass appeal alike, as there continually is some thing to interest all types. It also presents a newcomer, Lily Pons, to the screen, whose vocal ability is known, but whose flair for comedy is certain to prove a pleasing surprise to picture fans. Henry Fonda is convincing as the romantic hero. Comedy, mainly contributed by Eric Blore and Mischa Auer, is unusually effective for this type of picture. An added attraction will be another edition of "The March of Time."

Big Issues Confront Congress
in Third Year of 'New Deal'

By William S. White

Washington, Jan. 1—(AP)—In the gray old capitol, obscure men work at small tasks—filling the ancient senatorial sand boxes, scrubbing up the gilded ornaments and the heavy carpets. Congress is coming back to town.

In the third year of the Roosevelt administration a preponderately Democratic house and senate return to a task complicated even beyond the extraordinary labors that depression has made seem almost ordinary. Behind the lengthy list of domestic problems that must somehow be met lies the great "must" of neutrality legislation.

The law passed last session in an effort to make certain that war abroad might not engulf this country dies soon—in February—and something must take its place. Already, sharp disagreement as to the best way to proceed has become evident and anti-war legislation may be a big feature of the session.

Investigations Aplenty

All the familiar incidents of congress at work are seen again. There will be major investigations aplenty, and the amount of oratory usually associated with a session held just in advance of a national election. Not even the customary expressions of hope for a "short and snappy" job are missing; few believe, however, that adjournment may be expected in less than five months.

Earlier hopes for a limited agenda and a quick getaway to the campaign arenas have faded perceptibly before the formidable fact that aside from neutrality and the perennial bonus issue, at least half a dozen major matters impend, along with three big investigations—into lobbying, munitions and railroad financing. Likewise adverse Supreme Court decisions on such key administration policies as AAA would result in opening the door to a session of indefinite duration. Marine subsidies, war profits elimination, amendments to the potato control law, pure food and drug act changes, revisions in social security and regular appropriations are subjects virtually certain to be taken up.

Bonus and Townsend Plan

Half Billion Pounds

North Carolina Tobacco Crop
This Year Second Heaviest in History

Tobacco sold on North Carolina markets up to November 1 reached 492,893,462 pounds, sold at an average of $20.92, as compared with 375,659,580 pounds sold to December 1 last year at $29.04 a hundred pounds, the State-Federal Crop reporting Service shows. Last season's average was $28.44. November sales were 106,674,128 pounds from the producers, averaging $20.62, as compared with 50,015,601 averaging $28.12 in November last year. The 1935 tobacco crop is probably the second heaviest bright leaf crop, the report says, due to larger acreage and yield per acre, closer planted rows, use of more fertilizer and more leaves to mature.

chamber are being cleaned and polished and the cavernous house put in shape for the fray, signs appear that it will be a session even more remarkable than the last for the activities of "pressure" factions. Bonus advocates are reaching a new high in their organization and that fight of more than a decade is expected by many to reach a showdown. Meanwhile, the Townsend pension plan leaders are preparing for a show of strength greater than ever before attempted.

There is a possibility, too, of perhaps the greatest drive of them all should the Supreme Court invalidate AAA. An adverse decision might result in the bringing forward of no less than eight possible substitutes already under discussion.

On the leaders—such men as Senators Robinson of Arkansas and Harrison of Mississippi, and Representatives Byrns of Tennessee, the house speaker, Bankhead of Alabama and O'Connor of New York—will rest an unusually heavy responsibility. Besides being generally responsible for the administration program, they will have the job of helping write a party record against the coming November national elections.
