"Trees of Moore Co." Should Be Reprinted

I. McN. Johnson Series Worthy of Publication as Book, Says McIver

D. R. McIver of Route 2, Jonesboro, writes The Pilot:

"The late J. McN. had a long series of articles in The Pilot years ago on the trees of Moore county that should be published as a book—it is worthy of such. He gave regular and classical, or botanical names and good descriptions. The largest one named was a famous old poplar near Cameron. One writer described it as 12 feet in diameter (likely meant in circumference); another stretched the blanket in estimating it would produce a carload of lumber.

"I think Dr. M. E. Street, Jr., son of Moore county's great Dr. Street, named 200 kinds of trees and shrubs of his native Moore, and exhibited them at a fair. I hope these will be published by him. A visit to his home would show anyone quite a large, choice variety of shade trees. It is one of the great homes of the county."

WORLD'S SPEEDIEST POOL PLAYER EXHIBITS TONIGHT

Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia, one of the world's "first ten" ranking pocket billiard experts, who will appear at Straka's Recreation parlors in Southern Pines tonight, Friday at 7:30 o'clock, was born in Philadelphia in 1913. He's the youngest of the world's leading pocket billiard artists and also the speediest. His flashy, fast style electrifies all who see him in action. He is considered probably the fastest player of all time. He started playing pocket billiards at an early age and came into national prominence in 1933, winning the eastern sectional title. Thus being eligible for world's championship tournament, he provided sensation by finishing in a four-way tie for second place with Jimmy Caras, present world's champion, George Kelly and Andrew Ponzi. Frank Taberski and Ralph Greenleaf, both former world champions, were among his defeated rivals in that tournament.
