opening attraction of the season at ber 12876502, owner unknown. the Pinehurst Theatre on Monday, November 9th, at 3:00 and 8:20 p. m. "Under Your Spell" is a fast moving, colorful and interesting story, radically different from anything in which Tibbett previously has appeared. The producers have provided the noted baritone with a preponderance of modern songs, and have caused a coniedy vehicle to be written with important parts for the accomplished funsters, Gregory Ratoff and the inevitable butler, Arthur Treacher, and for the lovers of real music there is Tibbett's brilliant rendition of a scene from Gounod's "Faust" wherein he plays Mephist-opholes. "Mr. Cinderella," the attraction at Pinehurst Wednesday, Nov. 11th, matinee and night, marks the producing cinema debut of Hal E. Roach into the realm of sophisticated comedy. Holloywood proclaims this full-length Hal Roach M-G-M feature the most elaborate and outstanding production offered by his studio in more than 20 years of continuous operation. The modernized, magic Cinderella tale from the intriguing masculine side is unreeled by the most important cast of players ever assembled by the Roach Studios. Jean Arthur's captivating charm, so much in evidence as "Mr. Deeds" namorata and as the "Ex-Mrs Bradford," will sparkle anew at the Pinehurst Theatre Friday November 1st, matinee and night, when she literally "goes to town" with Joel Mc-Rea in "Adventure In Manhattan." Jean and Joel, both at the peak of their careers, promise one of the most engaging screen teams since the Gable-Colbert rumpus that happened one night.

Here's A Quality Paint At A Low Price

At Southern Pines

The Southern Pines Theatre presents that screen adaptation of the famous "Dodsworth," as its attraction for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 9-10-11 with a Tuesday matinee. A splendid cast consisting of Walter Huston, who also was the star of the stage play, Ruth Chatterton, who does the finest work of her career. Mary Astor. Paul Lukas and David Niven, leaves nothing to be desired. A quotation from Robert Garland, the famous New York critic, speaks volumes, and here it is. "Ever since I have been writing about talking pictures I've been longing to use the word 'magnificent.' But until yesterday it was to no avail. Now, however, 'Dodsworth' has come into the Rivoli and I can let the delectable designation go." A triple threat to empty seats is the contribution to the screen gridiron, "The Pigskin Parade," the attraction for Thursday and Friday, Nov. 12 and 13, with a Thursday matinee. With an aerial attack of pleasing music, a solid line of laughs and a fast-cracking comedy backfield, Director David Butler has built a foot ball picture sure to be formidable for a place on the 1936 All American boxoffice.

"Our Relations," suggested by W. W. Jacobs' internationally-known story, "The Money Box," gives Laurel and Hardy their greatest opportunity to exploit their specialized screen genius which has so highly entertained the world for the past ten years. The new picture is the attraction at Southern Pines Saturday, Nov. 14th, with a matinee at 3:00.
