The Sandhills will be host to the South's first national golf championship this coming week, the annual tournament of the Professional Golfers Association of America. One hundred and twenty of the country's leading professionals will tee off Monday morning in the first of two 18-hole qualifying rounds, after which the tournament continues through the week, with all matches played on the famous No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country Club. The largest crowd ever to follow golf events in Pinehurst, which is saying a good deal, is expected here all week.

All preparations for the event were completed this week by Donald J. Ross and his corps of assistants. The course, with its new grass greens, was never in better condition. New parking arrangements for visitors have been laid out, and a new entrance gate erected in front of the clubhouse. A daily fee of $1.10 is to be charged from Monday through Friday. The charge on Saturday and Sunday will be $2.20. There is a season rate for all days of $4.40. Admission will also be charged to the clubhouse during the tournament, for all except members of the club and others with playing privileges there.

Annual Red Cross Roll Call Starts in County on Sunday

Southern Pines Homes Will Be Canvassed for Funds for Local and National Work

Beginning Sunday through Wednesday, canvassers will make their annual visits to the homes in Southern Pines for the American Red Cross Roll Call.

The greater part of the money raised in this drive is kept right here in Southern Pines—all but fifty cents out of every subscription over a dollar is used here to give milk to the undernourished children in the schools and elsewhere; if less than a dollar is given, fifty per cent of that subscription is kept here. This local work is vital to the community and is as extensive as the funds collected will allow. Besides the local work, the fifty cents collected for the national organization goes to all sections of the country to aid the distressed in time of disaster.

Miss Laura Kelsey is serving as Roll Call chairman this year with Miss Eleanor Barron as roll call director. Miss Barron will be in charge of the canvassers who will take active part in the campaign.

The Roll Call will be carried on throughout the county by other local groups in the various towns.

Rowe Says Dangerous Driving Must Stop

Orders Police Officers To Get After Operators of Trucks Speeding Through County

There are worse crimes than being found in possession of a pint of illicit liquor, and it's time to do something about them, Judge J. Vance Rowe of Aberdeen told police officers assembled in Recorder's Court during the trial of petty cases on Monday. A colored woman had just been brought in and arraigned on the liquor charge when Judge Rowe took occasion to issue his proclamation against what he termed one of the most serious situations in Moore county today, the fast driving of motor vehicles, particularly trucks.

With the recent fatal accident in Aberdeen fresh in his mind, he told the officers it was time to call a halt to the high rate of speed at which heavy trucks, particularly oil trucks and trailers, travel through the county. He reminded them that there is a 30 mile-an-hour speed limit on vehicles with commercial trailers, the kind of vehicle which caused the death of a young driver here recently, and that 35 miles is the limit for other trucks. "But they dash along our highway at 50, 60 and better, with no one stopping them," he said.

Officers were instructed to get out on the roads and put an end to this dangerous condition, rather than put in all their time on petty violations of minor laws.

Up in Smoke

Mrs. Hall Hid the Reverend's Salary in the Stove—Unfortunately

The Rev. L. M. Hall of the Aberdeen Methodist Church received $126 in bills to apply on his salary account last Friday. He took it home, turned it over to Mrs. Hall for safekeeping.

That evening he motored to Vass, where he is also pastor of the Vass Methodist Church. Fearing something might happen to the money, Mrs. Hall decided to hide it. She chose the oil burner, where she figured thieves would never look.

Mr. Hall arose early the next morning, lighted the oil burner. Which ended the salary and ends the story.

COUNTY QUALIFIES FOR CONTINUATION OF FEDERAL RELIEF

Commission Votes To Pay Half of Salary of Full Time Case Worker, Miss McQueen

In order that Moore county may continue to participate in the Federal relief work and enjoy the benefits thereof, the County Commissioners at their November meeting approved the paying of one-half the salary, not exceeding $50 per month, of a full-time certifying case worker, the other half of the salary to be furnished by the State. Miss Flora McQueen is in charge of this work.

It was ordered that the unpaid tax list for 1933 be turned over to the county attorney, S. R. Hoyle, for collection and foreclosure. The clerk was instructed to forward to the District Superintendent of the State Highway Commission with the board's approval a petition from neighborhood citizens for improvement of the West-End-Hoffman road between the E. C. Bliss farm and the Wilson orchard.

Miss Gordon, Chandler Address Club Women

Thirteen of 18 Clubs in County Represented at Annual Achievement Day

"The Woman's Place in the Home" was the subject of an address made by Miss Pauline E. Gordon, Home Management Specialist, of Raleigh before Moore County home demonstration club women when they met for their annual achievement day in the court house on Thursday of last week.

Miss Gordon impressed upon her hearers that in addition to feeding and clothing her family, the woman in the home should fill a larger sphere, teaching affection, hospitality, providing recreation, keeping up the home traditions of courtesy, patience, confidence and honesty, looking after the spiritual development of the children, teaching them to assume responsibilities.

R. L. Chandler of Southern Pines and district manager of the Carolina Power and Light Company, spoke on rural electrification and then informally discussed with the women the questions which they wished to ask. Both Mr. Chandler and Mrs. Gordon stressed the importance of having reliable electricians wire houses for Blights. It was said there are men going through the country soliciting work of this kind and asking for a down payment and that some of their work is not meeting requirements for safety.

In a very impressive candle-lighted ceremony, the following county officers were installed for the coming year: President, Mrs. Ben Gullege, Cameron; Vice-president, Mrs. J. M. Kelly, Vass; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Harrington, Jr., Glendon.

PEACE ONLY WHEN REALISTS ACCEPT IDEALISTIC VIEW

Rev. E. L. Barber Makes Armistice Day Plea in Talk Before Kiwanis Club

HOMAGE PAID W. H. PAGE

"We are going to have wars until realists apply to peace-making the same hard-headed methods they have applied to war making," the Rev. E. L. Barber of Aberdeen told members of the Kiwanis Club in an Armistice Day talk at their meeting held Wednesday noon in the Aberdeen Community House.

"The war system must pass through the same transition that other innovations have gone through, the struggle between the idealists and the realists. The realists scoffed at the first telegraph instrument as conceived by the idealist; at attempts to fly. But the idealists have won out, and the same idealistic efforts that gave us international communication and commerce will win through to international peace. The world is progressing with its peace program.

"There are those that feel we must fight for our world trade. But peaceful commerce, not political possession, is the secret of success in the world. Our fighting should be for peace, for the country to stay out of war; not fighting among nations for possessions as attainable by peaceful methods as by those which cost millions of lives in the World War terminated by the Armistice signed 18 years ago today."

The club paid homage at its meeting to the late Walter Hines Page, wartime ambassador to Great Britain, whose body lies in nearby Bethesda Cemetery and whose flag-draped portrait looked down upon the members from a wall of the Community House. The members stood at attention and sang the Star Spangled Banner facing the likeness of one of the war's greatest casualties.

At Wednesday's meeting the club voted to sponsor a "Go to Church Month" and President J. Fred Stimson named the following committee to plan a campaign to stimulate church attendance throughout the community during the month of Christ's nativity: W. C. McAvoy, Southern Pines, chairman; Donald Sherrard, Pinehurst, J. Vance Rowe, Aberdeen, and Charles J. McDonald of Carthage. The movement was suggested as a club project in a letter from Dr. E. Levis Prizer of Southern Pines which was read at the meeting.

Miss Eleanor Knight, 18 years old, recently of Southern Pines, passed away last week at her home in Dorchester, Mass., according to word received here this week. She attended the Southern Pines School. Her mother, Mrs. Humphrey Knight, survives.

CHAMBER GROUP VOTES APPROVAL OF CIVIC CENTER

Struthers Burt Heads Committee to Cooperate with Town Board in Acquiring Site

FAVOR YEOMAN PROPOSAL

At an enthusiastic meeting of its directors the Southern Pines Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon went on record as approving the plan for a civic center, prepared by Alfred B. Yeomans and recently submitted to the government in connection with the proposed new postoffice here, and asked its Planning Committee to cooperate with the Mayor and Board of City Commissioners in efforts to acquire the property necessary to complete development.

The plan calls for acquisition of land between the Mudgett Building on West Broad Street and the site purchased by the government for the new postoffice, and its development into a landscaped area with buildings for a public library and municipal building as well as the federal building. Mr. Yeoman's proposal was sent to the office of the Supervising Architect of the Treasury Department in Washington as a suggestion to guide the government in the architecture of the new postoffice and its location on the property, with a view to the civic center development.

Struthers Burt heads the committee of the Chamber which will cooperate with city officials in attempting to bring about the desired result, and serving with him are E. W. Reinecke and Frank Buchan.

Chamber directors also discussed Tuesday the advisability of establishing an information bureau and town history in an office in the Carolina Theatre building on East Broad street. The matter was referred to a committee comprising Nelson C. Hyde, chairman; Dr. George G. Herr and Howard F. Burns.

Charles W. Picquet was appointed President by Shields Cameron, chairman of a committee to arrange for the annual meeting and banquet of the Chamber of Commerce, to be held during January.
